Whereas, it was decided that the organization provides positive experiences for Black youth by enhancing their knowledge and understanding of how historical and current events will influence their future lives; and
Whereas, a youth group was formed to serve as a source of support and social interaction; and
Whereas, there is an increased awareness in civic participation, political planning, and decision making activities to ensure the Black Families Association’s input on matters impacting the “quality of life” of all people throughout the County; and
Whereas, the Black Families Association serves as a clearinghouse for general information and provides community orientation for Black residents while assisting with services of a charitable nature for the community at large; and
