Imposes restrictions on parole program for non-violent offenders who have completed the full term for their primary offense. Expands list of offenses that disqualify an inmate from this parole program. Changes standards and requirements governing parole decisions under this program. Authorizes felony charges for specified theft crimes currently chargeable only as misdemeanors, including some theft crimes where the value is between $250 and $950. Requires persons convicted of specified misdemeanors to submit to collection of DNA samples for state database. Summary of estimate by Legislative Analyst and Director of Finance of fiscal impact on state and local government: Increased state and local correctional costs likely in the tens of millions of dollars annually, primarily related to increases in penalties for certain theft-related crimes and the changes to the nonviolent offender release consideration process. Increased state and local court-related costs of around a few million dollars annually related to processing probation revocations and additional felony theft filings. Increased state and local law enforcement costs not likely to exceed a couple million dollars annually related to collecting and processing DNA samples from additional offenders.(17-0044.)

8. Proposition 21

EXPANDS LOCAL GOVERNMENTS' AUTHORITY TO ENACT RENT CONTROL ON RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY. INITIATIVE STATUTE.

Amends state law to allow local governments to establish rent control on residential properties over 15 years old. Allows rent increases on rent-controlled properties of up to 15 percent over three years from previous tenant's rent above any increase allowed by local ordinance. Exempts individuals who own no more than two homes from new rent-control policies. In accordance with California law, provides that rent-control policies may not violate landlords' right to a fair financial return on their property. Summary of estimate by Legislative Analyst and Director of Finance of fiscal impact on state and local governments: Potential reduction in state and local revenues of tens of millions of dollars per year in the long term. Depending on actions by local communities, revenue losses could be less or more.(19-0001.)

CHANGES EMPLOYMENT CLASSIFICATION RULES FOR APP-BASED TRANSPORTATION AND DELIVERY DRIVERS. INITIATIVE STATUTE.

Establishes different criteria for determining whether app-based transportation (rideshare) and delivery drivers are "employees" or "independent contractors." Independent contractors are not entitled to certain state-law protections afforded employees—including minimum wage, overtime, unemployment insurance, and workers' compensation. Instead, companies with independent-contractor drivers will be required to provide specified alternative benefits, including: minimum compensation and healthcare subsidies based on engaged driving time, vehicle insurance, safety training, and sexual harassment policies. Restricts local regulation of app-based drivers; criminalizes impersonation of such drivers; requires background checks. Summary of estimate by Legislative Analyst and Director of Finance of fiscal impact on state and local governments: Increase in state personal income tax revenue of an unknown amount.(19-0026A1)

10. Proposition 23

AUTHORIZES STATE REGULATION OF KIDNEY DIALYSIS CLINICS. ESTABLISHES MINIMUM STAFFING

AND OTHER REQUIREMENTS. INITIATIVE STATUTE.

Requires at least one licensed physician on site during treatment at outpatient kidney dialysis clinics; authorizes Department of Public Health to exempt clinics from this requirement due to shortages of qualified licensed physicians if at least one nurse practitioner or physician assistant is on site. Requires clinics to report dialysis-related infection data to state and federal governments. Requires state approval for clinics to close or reduce services. Prohibits clinics from discriminating against patients based on the source of payment for care. Summary of estimate by Legislative Analyst and Director of Finance of fiscal impact on state and local governments: Increased state and local health care costs, likely in the low tens of millions of dollars annually, resulting from increased dialysis treatment costs. (19-0025A1.)

11. Proposition 24

AMENDS CONSUMER PRIVACY LAWS. INITIATIVE STATUTE.

Permits consumers to: (1) prevent businesses from sharing personal information; (2) correct inaccurate personal information; and (3) limit businesses' use of "sensitive personal information"—such as precise geolocation; race; ethnicity; religion; genetic data; union membership; private communications; and certain sexual orientation, health, and biometric information. Changes criteria for which businesses must comply with these laws. Prohibits businesses' retention of personal information for longer than reasonably necessary. Triples maximum penalties for violations concerning consumers under age 16. Establishes California Privacy Protection Agency to enforce and implement consumer privacy laws, and impose administrative fines. Requires adoption of substantive regulations. Summary of estimate by Legislative Analyst and Director of Finance of fiscal impact on state and local governments: Increased annual state costs of roughly $10 million for a new state agency to monitor compliance and enforcement of consumer privacy laws. Increased state costs, potentially reaching the low millions of dollars annually, from increased workload to DOJ and the state courts, some or all of which would be offset by penalty revenues. Unknown impact on state and local tax revenues due to economic effects resulting from new requirements on businesses to protect consumer information. (19-0021A1.)

12. Proposition 25

REFERENDUM TO OVERTURN A 2018 LAW THAT REPLACED MONEY BAIL SYSTEM WITH A SYSTEM BASED ON PUBLIC SAFETY RISK.

If this petition is signed by the required number of registered voters and timely filed, a referendum will be placed on the next statewide ballot requiring a majority of voters to approve a 2018 state law (SB 10) before it can take effect. The 2018 law replaces the money bail system with a system for pretrial release from jail based on a determination of public safety or flight risk, and limits pretrial detention for most misdemeanors. (18-0009)

When Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr. signed SB 10 on August 28, 2018, the law was intended to take effect on January 1, 2020. The law was intended to establish a new system for determining a defendant's custody status while they await trial based on an assessment of risk to public safety and probability of missing a court date rather than their ability to pay cash bail. This bill delivered on a commitment made in August 2017 by Governor Brown, California Chief Justice Tani Cantil-Sakauye and the bill's authors, Senator Robert Hertzberg and Assemblymember Rob Bonta, to work together on reforms in the second year of the two-year legislative session. Quotations in media reports at the time included:

"This is a transformative day for our justice system. Our old system of money bail was outdated, unsafe, and unfair. It took a three-branch solution with Governor Brown, the Legislature led by Senator Hertzberg and Assemblymember Bonta, and the Judicial Council's Administrative Director Martin Hoshino working with judges in my Pretrial Detention Reform Work Group to bring about a fair and just solution for all Californians," said Chief Justice Cantil-Sakauye.

"Our path to a more just criminal justice system is not complete, but today it made a transformational shift away from valuing private wealth and toward protecting public safety. Thanks to the collaboration of the Governor, Chief Justice, and the Legislature, we are creating a system that is fairer for all Californians. Today's signing is historic, and California will continue to lead the way toward a safer and more equitable system," said Senator Hertzberg.

"Today, California takes a transformational step forward to correct a fundamental injustice. Abolishing money bail and replacing it with a risk-based system will enhance justice and safety. For too long, our system has allowed the wealthy to purchase their freedom regardless of their risk, while the poor who pose no danger languish in jail. No more. Freedom and liberty should never be pay to play," said Assemblymember Bonta.

"Wealth is not the measure of any woman or man. By eliminating cash bail, we are saying that those with the least ability to pay should not be released or incarcerated solely on the basis of their wealth or poverty. SB 10 is only one leg of the long journey toward perfecting our justice system, but it is an important one," said Assembly Speaker Anthony Rendon.

"Money bail has promoted a system of separate and unequal justice. SB 10 puts all Californians on equal footing before the law and makes public safety the only consideration in pre-trial detention. This critical reform is long overdue. I'm grateful to the author and the broad coalition of advocates who worked tirelessly to make it happen," said Senate President pro Tempore Toni Atkins.

The Public Policy Institute of California (PPIC) released a report in December 2019, Pretrial Risk Assessment in California. This report presents an overview of pretrial risk assessment in California and offers considerations for using, evaluating, and improving the effectiveness of local pretrial risk assessment systems.

- Forty-nine of California's 58 counties use pretrial risk assessment tools alongside bail. These tools rely on criminal history, demographic, and/or socioeconomic information to make "risk predictions" of whether individuals are likely to be arrested during the pretrial period or to miss their court date.
- A risk assessment tool is only one component of informed pretrial decision making. A comprehensive pretrial policy framework also includes an explanation of why a particular tool was chosen and how it should be used—as well as guidance regarding how risk assessment results should translate into decisions about release with or without supervisory conditions, or detention, in individual cases.
- Equity is an ongoing concern. Critics argue that risk assessment tools that use criminal history could propagate preexisting inequities in the criminal justice system for racial minorities and homeless, unemployed, and impoverished individuals. However, proponents maintain that these tools offer new opportunities for monitoring and evaluating accuracy—which could ultimately help mitigate inequities.

- Counties may face data challenges in testing a tool’s accuracy and equity. Local testing is critical, in part because many tools were not developed with populations that include Latinos and Asian Americans. Since the criminal history data used in these tools may be housed in different agencies and many counties may not process enough cases to properly test their tool on their own, data-sharing agreements and cross-county collaboration may be necessary.
- Transparent decision making is essential. By carefully tracking the risk predictions made by their assessment tool—as well as how these predictions are translated into release or detention decisions—counties can identify any patterns of inconsistency, inaccuracy, and inequity. To promote transparent decision making, judges and pretrial services officers should explicitly state their reasoning if they override the prescribed recommendation.

Note that there has been a significant policy shift by the Pretrial Justice Institute (PJI) regarding the use of risk assessment instruments in pretrial decision-making. Here is a link to the PJI statement:

Re: Proposition 15 – Schools & Communities First – ACTION ITEM

Recommendation

Staff does not have a recommended position on this measure. The Government Finance and Administration policy committee may recommend a position to the CSAC Executive Committee and Board of Directors of support, oppose, neutral, or it may recommend CSAC take no position.

Summary

Proposition 15, the Schools & Communities First Act, would tax most commercial and industrial property based on its fair market value, beginning in 2022-23. Because the measure would tax commercial and industrial property differently than residential and agricultural property, it's also known as "split roll." The measure is estimated to increase tax revenue from these properties by between $8 billion and $12 billion per year statewide.

The increased property tax revenue would be distributed to counties, schools, cities, and special districts, in essentially the same proportion as under current law. Before that, however, the increased revenue is required to cover costs incurred by counties to administer the program, as well as any losses to the state General Fund resulting from decreased corporate and personal income taxes.

Background*Current Law*

Article XIII of the California Constitution, originally enacted by Proposition 13 (1978), does not distinguish commercial and industrial property from residential and agricultural property. It caps the ad valorem tax rate for all property at 1 percent and limits increases to the assessed value. Each year, the property's assessed value can increase by no more than 2 percent or the rate of inflation, whichever is lower. Property is only reassessed when there is a change in ownership or new construction, at which point it is reassessed at fair market value.

Statewide, about 46 percent of property tax revenue is allocated to local agencies' counties (14 percent), cities (13 percent), and special districts (19 percent)' hile the remaining 54 percent is allocated to schools and community colleges, although the allocation varies considerably among counties.

Changes under Ballot Initiative

This proposal seeks to tax most commercial and industrial real property, including some vacant land, based on current fair-market value, eliminating the limitation on increasing assessed value by no more than 2 percent per year for those properties. The measure would not apply to residential property, property owned or occupied by small businesses with a market value of less than $3 million, or farmland (though it would apply to a farm's buildings, such as processing and refrigeration facilities).

The $3 million threshold for small businesses will be adjusted for inflation every two years by the State Board of Equalization (BOE) beginning in 2025. The BOE will be tasked with calculating the inflation adjustment on a county by county basis, taking in to consideration the average market values of each.

The first $500,000 of a business's personal property (e.g., machinery, computers, and office equipment) will be exempt from taxation, and businesses with fewer than 50 employees will be exempt from taxation on all personal property. Aircraft and vessels are not included in the personal property exemptions.

Proposition 15 would require the Legislature to establish a Task Force on Property Tax Administration, made up of a county assessor, a member of the BOE, a proponent of Proposition 15, a taxpayer representative, and a member of the Legislature. The Task Force is instructed to make recommendations to the Legislature on certain aspects of implementing which the measure leaves to the Legislature to decide.

The measure's shift to market value assessment would be phased in over three fiscal years, beginning in 2022-23. After the initial reassessment, applicable commercial and industrial real property will be regularly reassessed at intervals determined by the Legislature, but no less frequently than every three years. There is an exception to this timeline for property where a majority of square footage is occupied by small businesses with 50 or fewer employees. These properties would not shift to market value taxation until 2025-26, unless a different date is set by the Legislature.

Before allocating funds raised by this measure to local governments and schools, the proposal requires a portion of the new revenues be allocated to 1) the state General Fund to compensate for any reductions in personal income and corporate tax revenue resulting from the measure, and 2) counties to cover their costs of administering the changes. Which county costs are eligible for reimbursement will be determined by the Legislature. However, the measure does state that "such costs shall at a minimum include the costs of assessment, assessment appeals, legal counsel, tax allocation and distribution, and auditing and enforcement" and that the intent is to "provide full adequate funding to counties to cover all costs associated with implementation of the Act."

Assessment Appeals

Proposition 15 also directs the Legislature to work with county assessors to develop a process for hearing appeals resulting from the required reassessments. The measure outlines several requirements for this process. Most notably, the appeals process would not automatically accept an applicant's opinion of value on the property. Under current law, County Boards of Equalization and Assessment Appeals Boards are required to render their decision on an appeal within two years. If they do not, the new value of the property will default to whatever the applicant's opinion of value is, even if that value is unrealistically or artificially low. In addition, Proposition 15 would require the applicant to shoulder the burden of proof that their property was not properly valued, as opposed to the assessor.

Fiscal Impact

Statewide, the Legislative Analyst's Office estimates that this measure would increase annual property tax revenue by $8 billion to $12.5 billion in most years. The amount of revenue will fluctuate year to year based on the state of real estate markets at the time.

The California Assessors' Association (CAA) estimates that the cost to implement the measure would be slightly more than $1 billion during the first three years. They also estimate an approximate 12-fold increase in the number of commercial and industrial properties that counties would have to reassess annually.

Impact on Small Counties

A survey by the CAA found that many small to mid-size counties have very few commercial or industrial properties with a value greater than the $3 million threshold. Those counties are likely to receive little, if any, increased revenue from reassessments. Meanwhile, businesses in these counties would still receive the tax exemptions for personal property, and would eliminate, or significantly reduce, their property tax obligation on equipment and machinery. Without increased revenue from high value reassessments to offset these exemptions, property tax revenue is likely to decline in these counties.

Policy Considerations

Existing CSAC Policy

The California County Platform, CSAC's adopted statement of the basic policies of concern and interest to California's counties, say the following:

In order to meet each community's unique needs, counties must be given greater financial independence from the state and federal budget processes, including the authority to collect revenues at a level sufficient to provide the degree of local services the community desires. Counties will seek a level of financial independence that provides for the conduct of governmental programs and services, especially discretionary programs and services, at an adequate level.. counties advocate for aligning revenue authority with service responsibility, and also support other measures that grant counties financial independence. —Chapter 9 – Financing County Services

Proposition 15 would result in significant new revenues for most counties, schools, and other local agencies, providing a measure of financial independence from the state and allowing increased services in those communities. However, the measure is also likely to reduce revenue somewhat for some small counties. In deciding on a position, supervisors will have to weigh these impacts against each other.

Proposition 15 Title and Summary

Initiative 19-0008 (Amdt. #1)

The Attorney General of California has prepared the following title and summary of the chief purpose and points of the proposed measure:

INCREASES FUNDING FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS, COMMUNITY COLLEGES, AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT SERVICES BY CHANGING TAX ASSESSMENT OF COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL PROPERTY. INITIATIVE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

Increases funding for K-12 public schools, community colleges, and local governments by requiring that commercial and industrial real property be taxed based on current market value. Exempts from this change: residential properties; agricultural properties; and owners of commercial and industrial properties with combined value of $3 million or less.

Increased education funding will supplement existing school funding guarantees. Exempts small businesses from personal property tax; for other businesses, exempts $500,000 worth of personal property. Summary of estimate by Legislative Analyst and Director of Finance of fiscal impact on state and local governments: Net increase in annual property tax revenues of $7.5 billion to $12 billion in most years, depending on the strength of real estate markets. After backfilling state income tax losses related to the measure and paying for county administrative costs, the remaining $6.5 billion to $11.5 billion would be allocated to schools (40 percent) and other local governments (60 percent). (19-0008.)

Attachment Three

Proposition 15 Text

SECTION 1. Title

This measure shall be known as “The California Schools and Local Communities Funding Act of 2020.”

SEC. 2. Findings

- (a) California is the fifth largest economy in the world, but if we don’t invest in our future, we’ll fall behind. To grow our economy and provide a better quality of life now, and for future generations of Californians, we need to do a better job of investing in our schools, community colleges, and local communities, and do more to encourage small businesses and start-ups.
- (b) Our competitiveness begins with making children and their education a priority. Decades of cuts and underfunding have undermined California schools. A recent national study ranked the performance of California schools in the bottom half of all states. The top ranked states spend thousands of dollars more per student than California.
- (c) California’s funding shortfall has direct consequences for our kids: we’re dead last in the nation in teacher-to-student ratios, last in guidance counselor to student ratios, and last in librarian-to-student ratios.
- (d) The quality of life in our local communities is also critical to our economic future. It depends on streets that are safe and clean, emergency services we can count on, parks and recreation programs that keep our youth off the streets, and roads that are well maintained. Our cities, counties and local agencies are on the front line facing the consequences of the lack of affordable housing and increasing homelessness as well as worsening risks from wildfires and other disasters.
- (e) Property taxes on commercial and industrial properties are a principal source of funding for our schools and local communities. While virtually every other state assesses commercial and industrial property based on its fair market value, California allows commercial and industrial property taxes to go many years, even decades, without reassessment. This unusual system is prone to abusive tax avoidance schemes, diverts funds away from schools and local communities, contributes to the shortage of affordable housing, distorts business competition, and disadvantages business start-ups.
- (f) California’s under-assessment of commercial and industrial properties is a growing problem. Large investors and corporations, many of whom are from other states and countries, are using a variety of schemes to get around the law and buy and sell properties without being reassessed, costing our schools and local communities billions of dollars.
- (g) A recent study by the University of Southern California has found that under-assessed commercial and industrial property allows owners to avoid over $11 billion in local property taxes each year that should be going to support our schools and local communities.

- (h) California's unusual commercial and industrial property tax system contributes to California's affordable housing crisis. Studies by the Legislative Analyst Office and the University of California have demonstrated that California's property tax system incentivizes owners to hold idle vacant and under-utilized commercial and industrial property. A reformed system, that assesses all properties based on their fair market value, would create a powerful new incentive to build new housing.
- (i) Every commercial and industrial property owner benefits from local schools and services like public safety and infrastructure. It is unfair and anti-competitive that the property tax system forces some businesses to pay higher property taxes to support our schools and local communities while their competitors pay much lower property taxes because their properties are assessed far below their fair market value.
- (j) California's unusual property tax system not only distorts competition, it discourages business investments. Under the current system, businesses that invest in improving their properties trigger reassessment and higher property taxes. But businesses that don't invest in improving their properties continue to enjoy the low cost of under assessment.
- (k) A study done at the University of California demonstrates that reassessing commercial property will have a net positive benefit on jobs and the California economy.
- (l) If we reformed California's under-assessment problem on business properties, California would still rank among the lowest states for business property taxes in the nation because of the California Constitution's provisions related to the 1% limitation on property tax rates.
- (m) Thriving small businesses and start-ups are essential to California's economy now and for our future. The property tax on equipment and fixtures discourages new start-ups, small businesses and larger businesses from making new productive investments. By requiring under-assessed large properties to be assessed at fair market value, small businesses can be fully exempted from the property tax on equipment and fixtures and the tax can be substantially reduced for other businesses, removing this disincentive without harm to funding for our schools and local communities.
- (n) Reassessing under-assessed commercial and industrial property in California would primarily impact a small number of properties owned by the largest corporations and wealthiest investors. Almost 80% of the tax benefits of the under-assessment allowed by the current system go to just 8% of the properties.
- (o) The benefits to our schools, local communities and economy resulting from ending the under-assessment of commercial and industrial property can be achieved while protecting small businesses through exemptions and deferrals of reassessment and at the same time encouraging small businesses by creating a more level playing field and by eliminating the property tax on business equipment and fixtures.

- (p) Reforming commercial and industrial property assessments to fair market value will result in a fairer system for our schools, our local communities and our businesses. All businesses will compete on a level playing field, generating billions of dollars in additional support for our schools and local communities.

SEC. 3. Purpose and Intent.

It is the intent of the People of the State of California to do all of the following in this measure:

- (a) Preserve in every way Proposition 13's protections for homeowners and for residential rental properties. This measure only affects the assessment of taxable commercial and industrial property.
- (b) Provide for increased and stable revenues for schools, cities, counties and other local agencies by requiring under-assessed commercial and industrial properties to be assessed based on their fair market value.
- (c) Distribute the new revenues resulting from this measure to schools and local communities, not to the State.
- (d) Ensure that the portion of any new revenues going to local schools and community colleges as a result of this measure is treated as new revenues that are in addition to all other funding for schools and community colleges, including Proposition 98.
- (e) Guarantee every school district and community college will receive additional funding from this measure and that funds going to schools and community colleges are allocated in a manner that is consistent with local control funding formulas intended to advance equity.
- (f) Ensure that any new revenues going to cities, counties, and special districts as a result of this measure will be allocated in the same manner as other property tax revenues, consistent with prior ballot measures approved by voters, to improve the quality of life in local communities in all parts of California.
- (g) Make certain there is complete public transparency by requiring schools, community colleges, cities, counties, and special districts to publicly disclose the new revenues they receive and how those revenues are spent in a manner that is widely available and easily understood.
- (h) Be very clear that this measure only applies to taxable commercial and industrial real property by including provisions stating that:
 - 1) All residential property is exempt so homeowners and renters will not be affected in any way by this measure.
 - 2) This measure makes no change to existing laws affecting the taxation or preservation of agricultural land.

- (i) Make no change to Proposition 13's constitutional provisions relating to the 1% limitation on property tax rates for all taxable real property so local property taxes on commercial and industrial property will continue to be among the lowest in the country after this measure is approved by voters.
- (j) Ensure stability for owners of small business properties by providing an exclusion for small commercial and industrial real property owners. The intent of this provision is to provide an exclusion that applies only to the true owners of small businesses and that large property owners shall be prevented from using the exclusion for their own benefit.
- (k) Defer reassessments for properties in which small businesses account for 50% or more of the occupied space until the 2025-2026 lien date to provide those small business tenants additional time to choose the leasing option that works for them, recognizing that the impact of this measure will be different for each property, depending on how close the current assessment is to the fair market value and whether or not it qualifies for the small property exclusion for properties with a fair market value of $3 million or less.
- (l) Encourage new and existing businesses to make new investments by eliminating the business tangible personal property tax on equipment and fixtures for small businesses and providing a $500,000 per year exemption for all other businesses. The Legislature may not reduce this exemption, but it may increase it.
- (m) Provide greater equity in the taxation of commercial and industrial properties by assessing all of them based on their actual fair market value just like start-ups and new commercial and industrial properties that already are being assessed based on their actual fair market value. The intent is for all businesses to compete on a more level playing field and make sure all businesses are paying their share to support the schools and local communities from which they benefit.
- (n) Require the Legislature, after conferring with a Task Force on Property Tax Administration, to provide by statute for the phase-in of reassessments of under-assessed commercial and industrial real properties so that county assessors may effectively implement the new law. Such phase-in will begin with the lien date for the 2022-23 fiscal year and occur over several years. Affected owners shall only be obligated to pay the taxes based on the new assessed value beginning with the lien date for the fiscal year when the assessor has completed the reassessment.
- (o) Require the Legislature to ensure that the phase-in provisions provide affected owners of under-assessed commercial and industrial real properties reasonable time to pay any increase in their tax obligations resulting from this measure.
- (p) Provide for the recovery of actual direct administrative costs incurred by counties to effectively implement the new law.

- (q) Ensure that the General Fund and other funds of the State are held harmless by reimbursing the State for reductions in tax revenue caused by the deductibility of the property tax.
- (r) Maintain the Board of Equalization's oversight over the property tax system to assure the public that assessments of commercial and industrial real property in every county are equitable and uniform as required by this measure, and to further ensure that the Board of Equalization provides statewide assistance as necessary to support the efficient implementation of this measure within all 58 counties.

SEC. 4. Section 8.7 of Article XVI of the California Constitution is added to read:

SEC. 8.7. (a) The Local School and Community College Property Tax Fund is hereby created in the State Treasury, to be held in trust, and is continuously appropriated for the support of local education agencies as that term is defined in section 421 of the Education Code as that statute read on January 1, 2020, and for the support of community college districts. The moneys deposited in the Local School and Community College Property Tax Fund shall be held in trust for schools, and shall be distributed as follows:

- (1) Eleven percent (11%) of the moneys shall be allocated by the Board of Governors of the California Community Colleges to community college districts in proportion to the funding calculated for each district pursuant to the distribution formulas operative in statute as of January 1, 2020, or any successor statute, provided that property tax revenues calculated pursuant to section 84751 of the Education Code, or any successor statute, that exceed the total funding calculated for a district pursuant to the then-operative distribution formulas shall be subtracted from that district's proportionate share of the Local School and Community College Property Tax Fund.
- (2) Eighty-nine percent (89%) of the moneys shall be allocated by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to school districts, charter schools and county offices of education as follows:
 - (A) To school districts and charter schools, in proportion to each school district's or charter school's total funding calculated pursuant to subdivisions (a)-(i), inclusive, of section 42238.02 of the Education Code, as those provisions read on July 1, 2019. Any school district or charter school that qualifies as a "basic aid school district" or "excess tax entity" under subdivision (o) of that section shall have subtracted from its proportionate share of the Local School and Community College Property Tax Fund the amount by which the sum calculated in subdivision (j) of that section exceeds the amount calculated pursuant to subdivisions (a)-(i), inclusive, as each of those provisions read on July 1, 2019.
 - (B) To county offices of education, in proportion to each office's total funding calculated pursuant to section 2574 of the Education Code as that section read on July 1, 2019.
- (3) Notwithstanding the above, no school district or charter school shall receive from the Local School and Community College Property Tax Fund less than $100 per unit of average daily attendance, adjusted annually upward or downward by the same percentage that the Local School and Community College Property Tax Fund grew or declined from the previous year, and no community college district shall receive from the Local School and Community College

Property Tax Fund less than $100 per enrolled full time equivalent student, adjusted annually upward or downward by the same percentage that the Local School and Community College Property Tax Fund grew or declined from the previous year.

(b) Except as provided in paragraph (2) of subdivision (d) of Section 8.6 of this Article, notwithstanding any other law, the moneys deposited in the Local School and Community College Property Tax Fund shall not be subject to appropriation, reversion, or transfer by the Legislature, the Governor, the Director of Finance, or the Controller for any purpose other than those specified in this section, nor shall these revenues be loaned to the General Fund or any other fund of the State or any local government fund.

(c) Moneys allocated to local education agencies, as that term is defined in section 421 of the Education Code as that statute read on January 1, 2020, and to community college districts from the Local School and Community College Property Tax Fund shall supplement, and shall not replace, other funding for education. Funds deposited into or allocated from the Local School and Community College Property Tax Fund shall not be part of "total allocations to school districts and community college districts from General Fund proceeds of taxes appropriated pursuant to Article XIII B and allocated local proceeds of taxes" for purposes of paragraphs (2) and (3) of subdivision (b) of Section 8 of this Article or for purposes of Section 21 of this Article. Except as provided in subdivision (c) of Section 8.6 of this Article, revenues generated by Section 2.5 of Article XIII A shall not be deemed to be General Fund revenues which may be appropriated pursuant to Article XIII B for purposes of paragraph (1) of subdivision (b) of Section 8 of this Article, nor shall they be considered in the determination of per capita General Fund revenues for purposes of subdivisions (b) and (e) of Section 8 of this Article.

(d) Except as provided in subdivision (c) of Section 8.6 of this Article, revenues generated by Section 2.5 of Article XIII A shall not be deemed to be General Fund proceeds of taxes that may be appropriated pursuant to Article XIII B for purposes of Section 20 or Section 21 of this Article.

SEC. 5. Section 8.6 of Article XVI of the California Constitution is added to read:

SEC. 8.6. (a) The Legislature shall provide by statute a methodology, based on historical experience, for determining the additional revenue generated in each county each fiscal year as a result of the application of the tax rate specified in subdivision (a) of Section 1 of Article XIII A and the application of Section 2.5 of Article XIII A. The determination as to the amount of additional revenue in each county shall be transmitted to the county auditor annually for use for the calculations required by this section.

(b) After transferring the necessary funds pursuant to subdivisions (c), (d) and (e) and subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, all additional revenue resulting from the application of the tax rate specified in subdivision (a) of Section 1 of Article XIII A and the application of Section 2.5 of Article XIII A shall be allocated and transferred by the county auditor as follows:

(1) (A) First, to the Local School and Community College Property Tax Fund created pursuant to Section 8.7 of this Article, in an amount equal to the school entities' share of property taxes as determined pursuant to Chapter 6 (commencing with Section 95) of Part 0.5 of Division 1 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, as that chapter read on January 1, 2020.

(B) Prior to making the transfer pursuant to subparagraph (A) of this subdivision, the county auditor shall subtract an amount equal to the county's share of the increase in appropriations of State General Fund proceeds of taxes for the support of school districts and community college districts pursuant to Section 8 of Article XVI due to the revenue loss resulting from the exemptions provided by Section 3.1 of Article XIII, as determined by the Director of Finance. The county's share of additional State General Fund appropriations shall be transferred by the county auditor to the General Fund prior to the allocation specified in subparagraph (A) of this subdivision. The amount determined by the Director of Finance pursuant to this subparagraph shall for each fiscal year be apportioned by county in proportion to the revenue loss resulting from the exemptions provided by Section 3.1 of Article XIII.

(2) Second, among cities, counties, and special districts pursuant to Chapter 6 (commencing with Section 95) of Part 0.5 of Division 1 of the Revenue and Taxation Code, as that chapter read on January 1, 2020.

(c) The Franchise Tax Board shall determine the reduction to the General Fund and any other affected state fund of revenues derived from the taxes imposed by the Personal Income Tax Law (Part 10 (commencing with Section 17001) of Division 2 of the Revenue and Taxation Code) and the Corporation Tax Law (Part 11 (commencing with Section 23001) of Division 2 of the Revenue and Taxation Code), as those laws read on January 1, 2020, due to the deduction of any net increase in property taxes resulting from the implementation of Section 2.5 of Article XIII A and subdivision (a) of Section 3.1 of Article XIII. The amount of reduction as determined by the Franchise Tax Board shall be transferred by the county auditor to the General Fund and any other affected state fund prior to the allocation specified in subdivision (b). For purposes of making the determinations required by Section 8, 20 and 21 of this Article, the amount transferred to the General Fund pursuant to this subdivision shall be deemed to be General Fund revenues which may be appropriated pursuant to Article XIII B and General Fund proceeds of taxes appropriated pursuant to Article XIII B, and shall be included in the calculation of per capita General Fund revenues. The amount transferred pursuant to this subdivision shall for each fiscal year be apportioned among the counties in proportion to each county's contribution to the total additional revenue resulting from the application of the tax rate specified in subdivision (a) of Section 1 of Article XIII A and the application Section 2.5 of Article XIII A determined for all counties.

(d) (1) Each county or city and county shall be annually compensated for the actual direct administrative costs of implementing Section 2.5 of Article XIII A and Section 3.1 of Article XIII as identified by the board of supervisors of the county or city and county consistent with statutes identifying those costs. The Legislature shall determine by statute what constitutes actual direct administrative costs for purposes of this subdivision. Such costs shall at a minimum include the costs of assessment, assessment appeals, legal counsel, tax allocation and distribution, and auditing and enforcement of the provisions of Section 3.1 of Article XIII and Section 2.5 of Article XIII A. It is the intent of this subdivision to provide full adequate funding to counties to cover all costs associated with implementation of the Act.

(2) The Legislature shall determine by statute the initial start-up costs necessary for each county or city and county and the Board of Equalization to implement the Act and shall appropriate State General Fund monies to pay for such startup costs until sufficient funds are available to pay for all ongoing costs to implement the Act, at which time the statute shall provide for the State General Fund to be reimbursed.

(e) Each county or city and county shall annually be reimbursed for actual refunds of property taxes paid in the prior fiscal year as a result of corrections to assessments made pursuant to Section 2.5 of Article XIII A. The amount reimbursed pursuant to this subdivision shall for each fiscal year be subtracted from each county's contribution to the total additional revenue resulting from the application of Section 2.5 of Article XIII A as a result of the application of the tax rate specified in subdivision (a) of Section 1 of Article XIII A.

(f) All local education agencies, community colleges, counties, cities and counties, cities, and special districts that receive funds from the revenues generated by Section 2.5 of Article XIII A shall publicly disclose for each fiscal year, including in their annual budgets, the amount of property tax revenues they received for that fiscal year as the result of Section 2.5 of Article XIII A and how those revenues were spent. Such disclosure shall be made so that it is widely available to the public and written so as to be easily understood.

SEC. 6. Section 2.5 of Article XIII A of the California Constitution is added to read:

SEC. 2.5. (a) (1) Notwithstanding Section 2 of this Article, for the lien date for the 2022-23 fiscal year and each lien date thereafter, the "full cash value" of commercial and industrial real property that is not otherwise exempt under the Constitution is the fair market value of such real property as of that date as determined by the county assessor of the county in which such real property is located, except as provided by the Legislature pursuant to subdivision (b).

(2) Paragraph (1) of this subdivision shall not apply to residential property as defined in this section, whether it is occupied by a homeowner or a renter. Residential property as defined in this section shall be assessed as required by Section 2 of this Article. Paragraph (1) of this subdivision shall also not apply to real property used for commercial agricultural production as defined in this section. Real property used for commercial agricultural production as defined in this section shall be assessed as required by Section 2 of this Article.

(b) The Legislature shall establish a Task Force on Property Tax Administration immediately after this section is enacted, including a county assessor or designee, a Board of Equalization member or designee, a proponent of this Act or designee, a taxpayer representative, and a member of the Legislature or designee. The Task Force shall publicly convene immediately upon its creation to examine and recommend to the Legislature all statutory and regulatory changes necessary for the equitable implementation of this measure consistent with its purpose and intent. The Legislature, after conferring with the Task Force, shall provide by statute for the phase-in of the reassessment of commercial and industrial real property as required by paragraph (1) of subdivision (a). Any such phase-in shall provide for reassessment of a percentage of all commercial and industrial real properties within each county commencing with the lien date for the 2022-23 fiscal year and extending over two or more lien dates each fiscal year thereafter, in order to ensure a reasonable workload and implementation period for county assessors, including provision for processing and timing of assessment appeals. An owner shall first be obligated to pay the taxes based on the new assessed value beginning with the lien date for the fiscal year when the county assessor has completed the reassessment. The phase-in also shall provide taxpayers whose property has been reassessed a reasonable timeframe within which to pay any increase in taxes. After the initial reassessment of commercial and industrial real property pursuant to this subdivision, such commercial and industrial real property shall be periodically reassessed no less frequently than every three years as determined by the Legislature. Notwithstanding existing statutes, the Legislature shall, in consultation with county assessors, develop a process for hearing appeals resulting from the reassessment of properties pursuant to this section that is consistent with the following:

- (1) The process shall not include automatic acceptance of the applicant's opinion of values within a given time-frame.
- (2) The process shall impose on the taxpayer the burden of proof that the property was not properly valued.
- (3) The process shall require the taxpayer to provide evidence relevant to any appeal in the initial application before the local assessment appeals board.
- (4) The process shall ensure that decisions by local administrative hearing bodies such as assessment appeals boards, if subject to judicial review, are subject only to de novo judicial review on issues of law, while issues of fact, including valuation, shall be reviewed under the substantial evidence standard.

(c) For purposes of this section:

- (1) "Commercial and industrial real property" means any real property that is used as commercial or industrial property, or is vacant land not zoned for residential use and not used for commercial agricultural production. For purposes of this paragraph, vacant land shall not include real property that is used or protected for open space, a park, or the equivalent designation for land essentially free of structures, natural in character to provide opportunities for recreation and education, and intended to preserve scenic, cultural, or historic values.
- (2) "Mixed-use real property" means real property on which both residential and commercial or industrial uses are permitted.
- (3) "Real property used for commercial agricultural production" means land that is used for producing commercial agricultural commodities.
- (4)(A) "Residential property" shall include real property used as residential property, including both single-family and multi-unit structures, and the land on which those structures are constructed or placed.

(B) The Legislature shall provide by statute that any property zoned as commercial or industrial but used as long-term residential property shall be classified as residential for purposes of paragraph (2) of subdivision (a). For mixed-use real property, the Legislature shall ensure only that portion of the property that is used for commercial and industrial purposes shall be subject to reassessment as required by paragraph (1) of subdivision (a). The Legislature shall also define and provide by statute that limited commercial uses of residential property, such as home offices, home-based businesses or short-term rentals, shall be classified as residential for purposes of paragraph (2) of subdivision (a). The Legislature may provide for an exclusion from reassessment for the commercial share of mixed use property provided seventy-five percent (75%) or more of the property by square footage or value is residential.

(d) (1) Subject to paragraph (2) of this subdivision, upon reassessment pursuant to subdivisions (a) and (b), each commercial and industrial real property with a fair market value of three million dollars ($3,000,000) or less shall not be subject to reassessment pursuant to paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) and shall be assessed as required by Section 2 of this Article. The amount specified in this paragraph shall be adjusted for inflation every two years commencing January 1, 2025, as determined by the State Board of Equalization. The State Board of Equalization shall calculate the adjustment separately for each county taking into consideration differences in average commercial and industrial market values among counties.

(2) Notwithstanding paragraph (1) of this subdivision, real property that would otherwise comply with the exclusion set forth in paragraph (1) of this subdivision shall be subject to reassessment pursuant to paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) if any of the direct or indirect beneficial owners of such real property own a direct or indirect beneficial ownership interest(s) in other commercial and/or industrial real property located in the State, which such real property in the aggregate (including the subject property) has a fair market value in excess of three million dollars ($3,000,000). The amount specified in this paragraph shall be adjusted for inflation every two years commencing January 1, 2025, as determined by the State Board of Equalization.

(3) All determinations of fair market value under this subdivision shall be determined by the county assessor of the county in which the property is located, and such determinations by the county assessor shall be conclusive and subject only to judicial review for abuse of discretion.

(4) In order to be eligible for the exclusion provided by paragraph (1) of this subdivision, the owner of the real property shall make a claim and certify annually to the county assessor under penalty of perjury that the conditions required by paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subdivision for exemption from reassessment have been met and shall be subject to audit by the county or the State as to that certification. The Board of Equalization shall have the authority to conduct any audits on behalf of the State.

(5) Any real property excluded from reassessment under paragraph (1) of this subdivision shall only be excluded from reassessment so long as it meets the conditions imposed by paragraphs (1) and (2) of this subdivision. If there is any change in the direct or indirect beneficial ownership of such real property, a new claim and certification must be made to the county assessor.

(6) Any appeals by taxpayers who are found not to be excluded from reassessment pursuant to paragraph (1) of this subdivision shall be subject to the process for hearing appeals as provided in subdivision (b).

(e) (1) Provided fifty percent (50%) or more of the occupied square footage of a commercial or industrial real property is occupied by a small business as defined in paragraph (4) of this subdivision, the provisions of paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) shall not take effect prior to the lien date for the 2025-26 fiscal year; provided, however, that if the Legislature establishes by statute pursuant to subdivision (b) that a real property qualified under this paragraph shall be reassessed on a lien date subsequent to the 2025-26 fiscal year, then such property shall be reassessed commencing on that subsequent lien date.

(2) In order to be eligible for the deferral provided by paragraph (1) of this subdivision, the owner of the property shall make a claim and certify annually to the county assessor under penalty of perjury that the conditions required by paragraph (1) of this subdivision for deferral from reassessment have been met and shall be subject to audit by the county or the Board of Equalization as to that certification.

(3) Any real property for which reassessment is deferred under paragraph (1) of this subdivision shall only be eligible for deferral so long as it meets the conditions imposed by paragraph (1) of this subdivision and if there is any change in the direct or indirect beneficial ownership of such real property, a new claim and certification must be made to the county assessor. Upon termination of the deferral, the property shall be subject to paragraph (1) of subdivision (a).

(4) For purposes of this subdivision, the term small business shall include only those businesses which meet all of the following conditions:

(A) The business has fewer than 50 annual full-time equivalent employees.

(B) The business is independently owned and operated such that the business ownership interests, management and operation are not subject to control, restriction, modification or limitation by an outside source, individual or another business.

(C) The business owns real property located in California.

(f) For purposes of this section the failure in any year to claim, in a manner required by the laws in effect at the time the claim is required to be made, an exclusion or classification which reduces or defers an assessment or reassessment shall be deemed a waiver of the exclusion or classification for that year.

(g) Using the methodology prescribed by the Legislature pursuant to subdivision (a) of Section 8.6 of Article XVI, the percentage change in gross taxable assessed valuation within a city, county, or a city and county used to calculate an entity's vehicle license fee adjustment amount pursuant to Section 97.70 of the Revenue and Taxation Code shall not include the additional assessed valuation that results from the application of this section.

(h) Notwithstanding Section 16 of Article XVI or any other law, the additional assessed valuation that results from the application of this section shall not be factored into to any division of taxes or calculation of growth for treatment as tax increment and shall not be diverted in any manner whatsoever.

SEC. 7. Section 3.1 of Article XIII of the California Constitution is added to read:

SEC. 3.1. (a) (1) For each taxpayer paying the tax on tangible personal property, including business equipment and fixtures, used for business purposes, either of the following shall apply:

(A) (i) For a taxpayer that is a small business, as defined in paragraph (4) of subdivision (e) of Section 2.5 of Article XIII A, all tangible personal property owned and used for business purposes is exempt from taxation.

(ii) A taxpayer shall make a claim and certify annually to the county assessor under penalty of perjury that the condition required by this subparagraph for exemption has been met and such claim shall be subject to audit by the county or the state as to that certification.

(B) Except for a taxpayer subject to subparagraph (A) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision, an amount of up to five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) of combined tangible personal property and fixtures, per taxpayer, is exempt from taxation.

(2) Aircraft and vessels shall not be subject to this exemption.

(3) The Legislature shall not lower the exemption amounts provided by this subdivision or change their application, but may increase the exemption amount specified in subparagraph (B) of paragraph (1) of this subdivision consistent with the authority enumerated in Section 2 of this Article.

(b) The Legislature shall provide by statute that all related entities, including but not limited to any subsidiaries, holding companies, or parent corporations, are considered one "taxpayer" for the purposes of this section.

SEC. 8. Section 16 of Article XIII B of the California Constitution is added to read:

SEC. 16. (a) For purposes of this article, "proceeds of taxes" shall not include the additional revenues generated by Section 2.5 of Article XIII A.

(b) For purposes of this article, appropriations subject to limitation of each entity of government shall not include appropriations of the additional revenues collected as a result of the implementation of Section 2.5 of Article XIII A.

SEC. 9. Effective Date.

This measure shall become operative on January 1, 2022, except that subdivision (a) of Section 3.1 of Article XIII shall become operative on January 1, 2024, and subdivision (d) of Section 8.6 of Article XVI and subdivision (b) of Section 2.5 of Article XIII A shall become operative immediately upon passage of this measure.

SEC. 10. Severability

The provisions of this Act are severable. If any portion, section, subdivision, paragraph, clause, sentence, phrase, word, or application of this Act is for any reason held to be invalid by a decision of any court of competent jurisdiction, that decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Act. The People of the State of California hereby declare that they would have adopted this Act and each and every portion, section, subdivision, paragraph, clause, sentence, phrase, word, and application not declared invalid or unconstitutional without regard to whether any portion of this Act or application thereof would be subsequently declared invalid. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Section 7 of this Act is non-severable from Section 6 of this Act.

SEC. 11. Liberal Construction

This Act shall be liberally construed in order to effectuate its purposes as articulated in Section 3 of this Act.

Legislative Analyst's Office Proposition 15 Fiscal Analysis

Hon. Xavier Becerra
Attorney General
1300 I Street, 17th Floor
Sacramento, California 95814

RECEIVED

INITIATIVE COORDINATOR
ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE

Attention: Ms. Anabel Renteria
Initiative Coordinator

Dear Attorney General Becerra:

Pursuant to Elections Code Section 9005, we have reviewed the proposed constitutional initiative (A.G. File No 19-0008, Amendment No. 1) related to taxation of commercial property.

Background

Local Governments Levy Taxes on Property Owners. California local governments—cities, counties, schools, and special districts—levy property taxes on property owners based on the value of their property. Taxed properties include real property—land and buildings—and business personal property—machinery, computers, and office equipment. Property taxes raise around $65 billion annually for local governments, about $2 billion of which is attributable to business personal property. Statewide, about 60 percent of property tax revenue is allocated to cities, counties, and special districts, while the remaining 40 percent is allocated to schools and community colleges.

Counties Administer the Property Tax. County assessors determine the taxable value of property, county tax collectors bill property owners, and county auditors distribute the revenue among local governments. Statewide, county spending for property tax administration exceeds $600 million each year.

Property Taxes Are Based on a Property's Purchase Price. Each property owner's annual property tax bill is equal to the taxable value of their property multiplied by their property tax rate. Property tax rates are capped at 1 percent plus smaller voter-approved rates to finance local infrastructure. A property's taxable value generally is based on its purchase price. When a property is purchased, the county assessor assigns a value to the property—often its purchase price. Each year thereafter, the property's taxable value increases by 2 percent or the rate of inflation, whichever is lower. This process continues until the property is sold and again is taxed at its purchase price. In most years, the market value of most properties grows faster than 2 percent per year. As a result, under this system the taxable value of most properties is less than their market value.

California Taxes Individual Income and Corporate Profits. California levies a personal income tax (PIT) on the income of state residents, as well as the income of nonresidents derived from California sources. California also levies a corporation tax on the profits of corporations.

Property Owners Can Deduct Property Tax Payments From Taxable Income. State law allows property owners to deduct property tax payments from their taxable income for the purposes of calculating PIT and corporation tax payments. This reduces their tax bills.

State Constitution Governs State Spending on Schools and Community Colleges. The State Constitution requires the state to provide a minimum amount of annual funding for schools and community colleges, known as the “minimum guarantee.” The minimum guarantee tends to grow with the economy and number of students.

Proposal

Assess Commercial and Industrial Property at Market Value. The measure requires commercial and industrial properties, as well as vacant land not intended for housing, commercial agriculture, or protected open space to be taxed based on their market value, as opposed to their purchase price. A property’s market value is what it could be sold for today. The measure’s shift to market value assessment is phased in over a number of years beginning in 2022-23. For properties in which the majority of space is occupied by small businesses—defined as businesses that own California property and have 50 or fewer employees—the shift to market value taxation would not begin until 2025-26 or a later date set by the Legislature.

Properties owned by individuals or businesses whose property holdings in the state total less than $3 million (adjusted for inflation biannually beginning in 2025) are exempt from market value taxation. These properties would continue to be taxed based on purchase price. Similarly, residential properties would continue to be taxed based on purchase price.

Exempt Lower Value Business Personal Property. The measure exempts from taxation the first $500,000 in value of a business’s personal property. Additionally, the measure exempts from taxation all personal property of small businesses—as defined above.

Allocate New Revenues to Local Governments and Schools. The measure allocates most new revenue resulting from the measure to cities, counties, special districts, and schools. Before allocating funds to local governments, the measure requires a portion of the new revenues be allocated to (1) the state general fund to compensate for any reductions in PIT and corporation tax revenue resulting from the measure (as discussed below) and (2) counties to cover their costs of administering the measure. Of the remaining funds, roughly 60 percent is allocated to cities, counties, and special district, with each entity receiving an amount proportional to the share of property tax revenues in their county that they receive under existing law. The remaining roughly 40 percent would be allocated to schools and community colleges generally according to the same per-pupil formulas the state uses to distribute most other funding for these entities. This allocation would supplement the existing funds schools and community colleges receive under the state’s constitutional minimum funding requirement.

Fiscal Effect

Market Assessment Would Increase Property Tax Revenues. Upon full implementation, the measure’s shift of most commercial and industrial properties to market value assessment would increase annual property taxes paid for these properties by $8 billion to $12.5 billion in most years. The amount of revenue raised in a given year would depend heavily on the strength of the state's real estate markets in that year. As a result, this new revenue stream would fluctuate more from year to year than property tax revenues have historically.

Business Personal Property Exemption Would Decrease Property Tax Revenues. The measure's new business personal property exemptions likely would reduce property tax revenues by several hundred million dollars per year.

Allocation of Net Increase in Property Tax Revenues. On net, the measure would increase statewide property tax revenue by $7.5 billion to $12 billion annually in most years. From this revenue, the measure first allocates funding to cover:

- Decreased Income Tax Revenues. By increasing property tax payments for commercial and industrial properties, the measure would decrease taxable personal and corporate income and, in turn, decrease state PIT and corporate tax revenues. This decrease in PIT and corporate tax revenues could be as much as several hundred million dollars annually.
- Increased County Costs for Property Tax Administration. The measure creates significant new administrative responsibilities for counties, particularly county assessors. These new responsibilities could increase county property tax administration costs by hundreds of millions of dollars per year ongoing.

Of the remaining $6.5 billion to $11.5 billion, roughly 60 percent would be allocated to cities, counties, and special districts and roughly 40 percent to schools and community colleges.

Short-Term General Fund Costs. Counties likely will incur administrative costs related to the measure before new revenue is available to cover their costs. The measure requires the state to provide loans to counties to cover these initial costs—possibly in the hundreds of millions of dollars—until new revenue is available, at which time the state loans would be repaid.

Summary of Fiscal Effects.

- Net increase in annual property tax revenues of $7.5 billion to $12 billion in most years, depending on the strength of real estate markets. After backfilling state income tax losses related to the measure and paying for county administrative costs, the remaining $6.5 billion to $11.5 billion would be allocated to schools (40 percent) and other local governments (60 percent).

Sincerely,

Gabriel Petek

CALIFORNIA ASSESSORS' ASSOCIATION EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE**

CAA Opposes 2020 Split Roll Initiative

After careful consideration the California Assessors' Association must oppose The California Schools and Local Communities Funding Act of 2020 (initiative No. 19-0008-Amendment 1).

Since 2017 The California Assessors' Association (CAA) has monitored and analyzed the administrative complexities and the estimated costs of implementing two proposed initiatives commonly referred to as "split roll initiatives." These initiatives generally would require regular reassessment of Commercial and Industrial property at current market value, and would eliminate Proposition 13 protections for significant numbers of those properties. "The California Schools and Local Communities Funding Act of 2020", the most recent version of "Split Roll" has now qualified for the November 3, 2020 ballot.

The implementation costs and administrative issues raised by our analysis have only become more problematic due to pending budget cuts and hiring freezes which are being implemented by counties across the State. Current local budgetary realities will make implementation of the initiative extremely difficult.

The CAA, through our Split-Roll Ad Hoc Committee, has surveyed the various California Assessor's Offices to obtain projected costs of the substantial staff increases and technology costs necessary to implement this initiative, if it is passed by the voters. To obtain the most accurate projection of costs, the CAA commissioned an in-depth analysis of the data by Capitol Matrix Consulting. The CAA undertook this project to provide information to our members, to policy makers and to the public for use in their overall evaluation of the Split Roll initiative.

The "Policy Briefing Paper on Split Roll Initiative" prepared by the CAA and the "Split Roll Implementation – Estimated Costs to County Assessors" provided by Capitol Matrix Consulting are the result of CAA research and analysis. Both reports are attached to this statement.

CALIFORNIA ASSESSORS' ASSOCIATION

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

The major discussion points below are discussed in detail in the attached documents.

- Cost to implement is projected at $1.01 Billion during the three-year phase in period
- Implementation would require a trained workforce that is not available today and would not be available for many years.
- Exclusions with complicated rules to review and approve requiring coordination with all counties
- Disparate impacts on the States Counties and likelihood that the initiative would trigger negative roll growth in small and rural counties due to exemptions and exclusions

The Assessors' of California are committed to fair and impartial implementation of the of the Constitution and the laws of the State of California and, as always, Assessors will faithfully implement the will of the people.

However, given the immense anticipated Statewide implementation costs and complexities, the limited resources of Assessors and the disparate impacts to the various California counties we are compelled to oppose this initiative.

The California Assessors' Association advises a no vote on The California Schools and Local Communities Funding Act of 2020 (initiative No. 19-0008-Amendment 1) on the November 3, 2020 ballot.

Sincerely,

Policy Briefing Paper on Split Roll Initiative (Initiative No.19-0008-Amendment 1)

Objective

The purpose of this paper is to inform policy makers, community leaders, and the public of the significant administrative and budgetary implications of "The California Schools and Local Communities Funding Act of 2020 (Initiative).¹

The analysis is not intended to justify or refute the policy merits of a split assessment roll, but rather to analyze the potential impacts on personnel and infrastructure which a split roll would create for California County Assessors.

Executive Summary

Commonly referred to as a split roll, this initiative seeks to assess non-residential, commercial and industrial properties (excluding multi-family and agricultural land only) at market value no less than every three years for the purposes of increasing. If enacted, the assessed value of all commercial and industrial properties would increase from approximately $1.3 trillion (2018-19) to $2.5 trillion in 2022. In addition, the initiative would create multiple layers of new administrative burdens for assessors, some for the purpose of delaying or mitigating the financial impacts of a split roll on the owners of small businesses. A detailed chart is attached describing the major components of the initiative in relationship to existing law.

As county assessors are responsible for the administration of the assessment roll, the initiative similarly mandates assessors with the accurate and equitable administration of the split roll.

For assessors to implement the initiative, a number of factors will be required, including adequate funding for additional and adequate staff, a reasonable preparation and implementation period, and careful attention to laws or regulations that may be enacted to clarify how a split roll could be administered.

Without an unprecedented increase in resources, including new technology, valuation accuracy and customer service levels for all taxpayers, principally homeowners, will decline dramatically.

The California Assessors' Association (CAA) commissioned a non-partisan and independent analysis by Capitol Matrix, which is available upon request. According to Capitol Matrix's analysis, the estimated cost to implement the initiative over the course of the proposed three-year phase-in, is just over $1 billion statewide ($360 million a year). Projected cost increases do not

What are the Impacts of a Split Roll on the Administration of the Property Tax System?

Without sufficient resources—including substantial increases in appraisal staffing, training, and technology—implementation during the first five to ten years of a Split Roll system could have a devastating impact on the operations of California assessors and their ability to deliver quality customer service to taxpayers. A change in the law of such magnitude poses significant administrative problems for assessors and their local government partners in property tax administration, in addition to enormous start-up expenditures. There will also be additional compliance costs for taxpayers.

Statewide, based upon the “BOE 2016-17 Budget Workload Report”, there are 642,502 commercial and industrial properties that would require periodic reassessment. Currently, Santa Clara County reassesses approximately 2,000 commercial and industrial properties annually, for changes of ownership or new construction. Under a split roll, that number would increase an estimated 12-fold. It is expected that similar increases would result in all counties.

A split roll would also trigger significant downstream impacts for Tax Collectors, Clerks of the Assessment Appeals Board, and County Counsels. Homeowners would probably experience declines in service levels, as assessors reallocate staff resources to focus on new commercial valuation and assessment appeal responsibilities triggered by a split roll.

Projected Costs to Administer Split Roll

The California Assessors’ Association retained the services of Capitol Matrix Consulting to independently review the results of two comprehensive surveys of California assessors. The first survey exclusively focused on the cost to reassess all commercial and industrial property to market value. The second survey focused exclusively on the cost to administer new administrative requirements specific to the split roll. The counties that participated represented about three quarters of total commercial parcels and 83 percent of the commercial assessed value in California. The detailed surveys sought information on the costs of administering a property tax system requiring annual reassessment of commercial properties to market value.

Predicated upon the reassessment of one-third of all commercial properties annually, the Capitol Matrix’s analysis projects one-time costs of $24 million, and ongoing annual increases of between $356 million and $446 million, which equates over a billion dollars in assessor only costs during the first three years. However, it is anticipated costs will be significantly higher due to the practical expectation that most commercial property owners will file assessment appeals requiring revaluation more than once every three years. In addition, the cost estimate does not account for an increase in staff salary expenses necessary to recruit and retain hundreds of new senior appraisers.

Projected costs do not include other costs which would be incurred by related agencies who will experience similar increases in workload. Capitol Matrix’s estimates apply only to county assessors. In Santa Clara County, it was estimated that the financial impact of a split roll on the County Finance Agency, County Counsel, and Clerk of the Assessment Appeals Board, would increase by 36 percent. The Santa Clara County Counsel, for example, stated that the County would need to add at least four trial attorneys, and two Assessment Appeals Board counsel lawyers and support staff dedicated to property tax assessment appeals.

In Santa Clara County, the Assessor, County Executive, Finance Director (Tax Collector, Controller, etc.), County Counsel and the Clerk of the AAB issued a detailed memo in 2019, outlining the dire impacts on county administration, concluding that the Board of Supervisors should oppose the split roll initiative.

Major Staff Challenges to Administering Split Roll Tax Increase

According to Capitol Matrix, hundreds of new positions would need to be created statewide to manage the increase in workload. Practical administrative challenges would make it all but impossible to annually reassess to market value the overwhelming number of commercial properties without significant and sustained investment in the county appraisal workforce. The most significant impact would be the enormous amount of new staffing and training necessary to develop an appraisal workforce that is proficient in property appraisal. Training new appraisers and auditors to assess complex commercial and business properties typically requires up to five years of on the job experience.

According to California Employment Occupational Department, the number of openings for appraisers is just 130 jobs per year, statewide. The number of new positions needed by county assessors would simply overwhelm the system. It would take many years for counties to fill these positions.

To properly defend assessed values created by the increase in assessment appeals, assessors would be competing against a large demand from the private sector appellants. For example, Calaveras County's attempt to recruit a single, advanced level appraiser capable of appraising complex income properties has resulted in no qualified candidates.

Assessment Appeals will increase dramatically

Capitol Matrix also stated in their first report, "Beyond the need for additional appraisal staff, counties would need to create new or expanded assessment appeals boards, along with staff to manage the significant increase in cases. The number and complexity of appeals submitted will likely result in a major backlog requiring multiple years to resolve."

Catch-22: Small and Rural Counties

Many assessors in small and rural California counties are predicting that a split roll will trigger, paradoxically, a potential net decline in assessed added value. They anticipate very few commercial properties will be subject to split roll valuation, negating the promised increase in property taxes. A survey of assessors representing small to mid-sized counties² indicate that less than 10 percent of the commercial properties will be subject to split roll re-assessment as most properties do not have a market value in excess of the $3 million exclusion. For example, Plumas County has 2,000 commercial parcels, just 16 currently have assessed value in excess of $2.5 million. Of those, three are subject to welfare exemptions, three are already valued annually and four are subject to annual Prop 8 review, as their assessed values remain below their inflation adjusted purchase price. Most of the remaining properties have transferred recently, or are otherwise close to their market values. Commercial properties that do exceed $3 million are not anticipated to increase significantly beyond the $3 million exclusion.

² Fifteen Counties from the Central and Sacramento Valleys, the foothills, Sierra Nevada Mountains, Warner Mountains and the North Coast participated. There are 30 counties with Assessed Values less than $26 Billion in Assessed Value

In contrast, most of the businesses in small counties, such as farms and small independent businesses, have assessed values below the $500,000 threshold necessary for the assessment of business property. Many of these businesses will be able to take advantage of opportunities in the split roll initiative to eliminate or reduce their property tax obligation on equipment and machinery. The Plumas Assessor estimates an assessment reduction in excess of $90 million. Cumulatively, the loss in assessed value will exceed the gain from the split roll assessment of commercial properties. Eighty-seven percent of small counties reported that the value exemption on business equipment would not be offset by properties with market values in excess of $3 million.

Property tax revenue is anticipated to decline in many small counties, without the means to recover costs to administer a split roll. Small counties project workload increases ranging from 20% to 50%. Reimbursements for increased administrative costs are predicated upon assessment roll growth.

County Supervisors in many small counties are not expected to fund the positions necessary to implement the split roll due to actual loss in property tax revenue. Counties would be reluctant to borrow money from the state for implementation without new revenue to repay the loans.

The Split Roll Initiative did not consider that the funding of additional property tax administrators would actually result in a net loss for many small counties.

Conclusion:

County assessors are essential to the successful implementation of a new split roll system in California. Success depends on the proper financial resources for assessors to complete their constitutionally mandated responsibilities, including but not limited to:

- Adequate funding for a significant increase in workload and staff. Analysis suggests a one-time cost of $24 million and ongoing annual cost increases of between $356 million and $446 million.
- Adequate multi-year phase in period.
- Financial support for recruitment, hiring and training qualified appraisal staff and support professionals, including funds for competitive compensation for senior appraisers.
- Commensurate increase in training programs, including new resources to the Board of Equalization for certified training programs.
- Continuous and open dialogue with policymakers to expeditiously codify laws that provide assessors with tools to effectively implement a split roll.
- Robust access to market data for commercial and industrial properties.

Statewide Split Roll Costs to Assessors

Summary

This report presents our analysis and statewide cost estimates associated with the our previous analysis of of a survey conducted by the California Assessors Association and an update based on our review of their second survey. The previous analysis focused on the direct costs to perform appraisals, while this second analysis and survey focuses on the administrative costs of implementing the provisions of “The California Schools and Local Communities Funding Act of 2020” (“Initiative”). These costs - which are related to hiring, training, and setting up new systems to track properties and handle exemption requests - are in addition to those identified in the initial survey, which focused on the direct “front-line” expenditures for assessment and appeals. Our key findings are:

- Taking into account both (1) our updated estimate of assessment and appeals costs identified in the first survey, and (2) the administrative costs identified in the second survey, we estimate that combined costs to implement the Initiative would be $1.2 billion over the first three fiscal years following voter approval. This consists of:
 - $360 million per year in ongoing costs - representing a roughly 50-percent increase in the statewide combined annual budget totals for county assessor’s offices in California.
 - $74 million in one-time costs for IT, training and other start up activities.
- As a point of comparison regarding annual costs, our firm had previously developed an in-depth estimate of costs to San Bernardino County of administering the split roll. Applying the San Bernardino result to all 58 counties would imply a cost increase of $686 million in 2022-23 (and more if salary increases are included). All counties are unique; thus, extrapolation of one-county’s experience statewide may result in an over- or underestimate of statewide costs. Notwithstanding this limitation, the results from the in-depth San Bernardino County estimate may suggest that when a specific implementation plan is modeled and all overhead and salary-related considerations are accounted for, statewide costs could exceed those identified in our two surveys
- Numerous issues arose during our review and follow-up interviews regarding the second survey. These included challenges relating to hiring and training staff in a short period of time, tracking combined property holdings and employees across the state, and dealing with appeals and refunds.

Statewide Split Roll Costs to Assessors

Introduction

Capitol Matrix Consulting has been commissioned by the California Assessors Association (CAA) to develop an estimate of the statewide costs to county assessors of implementing the “split roll” as proposed by “The California Schools and Local Communities Funding Act of 2020” (Initiative 19-0008, Amendment 1).¹ The Act would amend Proposition 13 by creating a different basis for property taxation for certain commercial and industrial (C&I) properties.

Currently (under Proposition 13), real property (land and buildings) is assessed based on its market value (in most cases, the purchase price), as adjusted for inflation, limited to 2 percent per year. The property is reassessed at market value only when subsequently transferred², although additions to the property are assessed at the market value (i.e. construction).³ As a result, many have an assessed value many years out of date.

Proposal

The California Schools and Local Communities Funding Act of 2020 would require C&I properties, including vacant land, to be taxed based on their assessed “full cash value,” i.e., their market value. The measure exempts vacant land intended for residential or agricultural use and properties assessed at a market value of less than $3,000,000. However the exemption would not apply to properties in any specific county if the owner’s total C&I properties statewide were valued at greater than $3,000,000⁴. The measure also delays the taxation of the portion of a C&I property occupied by certain small businesses until 2025-26, and it provides an exemption for personal property (e.g. machinery,

Phase-In Language

Section 2.5 of Article XIII A of the California Constitution (b):

(b) The Legislature shall establish a Task Force on Property Tax Administration immediately after this section is enacted...after conferring with the Task Force, shall provide by statute for the phase-in of the reassessment of commercial and industrial real property...Any such phase-in shall provide for reassessment of a percentage of all commercial and industrial real properties within each county commencing with the lien date for the 2022-23 fiscal year and extending over two or more lien dates each fiscal year thereafter, in order to ensure a reasonable workload and implementation period for county assessors, including provision for processing and timing of assessment appeals... After the initial reassessment...such commercial and industrial real property shall be periodically reassessed no less frequently than every three years as determined by the Legislature.

¹ The proponents have already qualified an earlier version of this proposal for the November 2020 ballot. The version currently qualified for the ballot was drafted in 2017 and it includes implementation deadlines that are no longer feasible. While we have had no direct communication with the proponents, it is generally understood that they will qualify the alternative version and withdraw the version currently qualified. Given this understanding, the committee has asked us to analyze the updated, but not yet qualified version of the proposal.

² For purposes of reassessment, a transfer may include a sale, but may also include a gift, inheritance or other conveyance of ownership, with or without compensation.

³ The California Revenue and Tax Code contains a special look-through rule: If the ownership interest in a legal entity that owns California real estate is transferred, the transfer of the business interest is treated as a change in ownership of the property if (1) there is a change in control of the entity (more than 50 percent of the voting stock of a corporation or more than 50 percent of the ownership interest of a partnership or LLC); or (2) When more than 50 percent of the interests of the original business owners (measured cumulatively) are transferred.

⁴ There is currently no statewide data base that assessors could use to determine the assessed value of properties in counties other than their own. As noted below, some assessors assume that a statewide data base consisting of data provided by each of the 58 county assessors will be developed as a resource for them to access in determining whether an owner is qualified for this exemption. However, the measure contains no requirement for the state to create such a data base.

computers, other equipment) for these small businesses. Other qualifying business entities would receive an exemption for first $500,000 of qualifying personal property aggregated statewide.

The measure directs the Legislature to confer with county assessors, then provide for the phase-in of the reassessment of C&I property that starts with the lien date of January 1, 2022 for the fiscal year 2022-23 and extends over two more fiscal years, after which each property affected would be reassessed no less frequently than every three years (see the nearby text box for the specific phase-in language).

We note that the measure provides that some of the additional property tax revenues would be used to reimburse counties for their costs to implement it. Thus, some or all of the county costs identified below might be offset by revenues, although the exact amount of any offset will depend on cost-reimbursement regulations not yet drafted. It will therefore be important for the counties to work with the state on the development of such regulations.

CMC Estimate of Assessment and Appeals Costs for a Generic Split Roll Proposal

Capitol Matrix Consulting was commissioned by the CAA to review the results of a survey of its members conducted in 2015 (when the concept of a split roll initiative was under active consideration by the proponents). The survey sought information on the budget costs of administering a property tax system requiring annual reassessment of commercial and industrial (C&I) properties at market value (a “split roll” system), with no phase-in. We estimated that county assessors’ would face one-time costs of $24 million and ongoing annual cost increases of between $356 million and $446 million in the first 5 to 10 years following implementation of market-based annual reassessments of all C&I properties.

We were also asked to evaluate the fiscal impacts of the previous version of the current initiative - submitted in January 2018 - which permitted the Legislature to authorize a phase-in of a split roll system, and required reassessment of each property no less than every three years thereafter. We indicated that, relative to our estimates for a split roll requiring annual reassessment, the 2018 initiative could be somewhat less expensive to administer; however we did not believe its provisions allowing for a phase-in and multiple year assessment cycle would translate into a proportionate cost reduction for several reasons.

We noted, for example, that the Legislature would be under enormous pressure to maximize revenues by, for example, requiring initial appraisals to focus on long-held, high-value properties for which reassessment would yield the largest revenue increases. These businesses would require the most complex and time-consuming appraisals. Once receiving the reassessment, these same businesses would also have the largest incentive to appeal, and the appeals would likely be lengthy and complex. The result would be a buildup of a major appeals backlog that would require considerable time and staffing to resolve. In addition, businesses will seek annual re-appraisals during periods in which the economy is declining. Given these factors, assessors would likely be required to appraise far more than one-third of the C&I properties each year.

We concluded that, under the best of circumstances, we would expect county assessors’ annual administrative costs under the 2018 version of the current initiative to be in the low hundreds of millions of dollars per year for an extended period following implementation of the program. Taking into account growth in county wages, benefits, and pension costs since 2018, we believe ongoing assessment and appeals costs resulting from the 2018 measure would be over $300 million per year in today’s dollars.

The 2020 Survey is designed to measure administrative costs in The California Schools and Local Communities Funding Act of 2020 that were not explicitly covered in the first survey. The 2020 survey specifically addresses costs in four areas:

Statewide Split Roll Costs to Assessors

- C&I property identification. This includes costs associated with updating systems to improve identification of commercial and industrial properties. Specific examples include updating existing systems to identify and track mixed-use properties and agricultural properties (which are exempt from reassessment). This category also includes costs for additional staff to manage appeals related to property classifications.
- Exclusions, exemptions, and deferrals. This includes costs associated with processing, verifying, and tracking property holdings, and handling appeals associated with the less-than $3 million exemption claims, and the deferral of reassessment for properties with small business occupants.
- Business personal property. This includes costs associated with processing and auditing the business personal property exemption for small businesses, and exempting the first $500,000 for others that qualify.
- Other administration. This includes costs for public service personnel to respond to taxpayer inquiries; human resources for activities related to hiring and retaining split roll appraisers and associated staff; additional office space; information technology upgrades and software programs; and county counsel/city attorney support of assessor's appeals caseloads and compliance with new legislation.

Twenty counties responded fully or partially to the second survey. The responding counties represent about three quarters of total C&I parcels and 83 percent of the C&I assessed value in California.⁵ We received responses from four counties in the Bay Area; five counties in Southern California (including coastal counties and the inland empire); three counties in the Central Coast; eight counties in the Central Valley; and one northern California rural county. Aside from geographic variation, the sample included rural and urban counties and counties with a variety of types of C&I properties, in terms of size and complexity.

Most of the counties provided responses to all of the survey's categories. However, a few provided us with combined data for the full cost of implementing the split roll, without the breakout needed to distinguish between appraisal and appeal costs (covered in the first survey) and administrative costs (covered in the second survey). These responses were helpful in terms of identifying overall county costs (discussed below). However, we were not able to use them for the purpose of developing specific estimates of administrative costs that are separate from the assessment- and appeals-related costs identified in the first survey.

Our Process. For the remaining counties, we compiled the responses into summary tables which showed, for each county, total costs in each of the four categories noted above. To facilitate meaningful comparisons between varying sized counties, we converted the data to a per C&I-parcel basis. We then developed summary data, including the mean and median responses, along with estimates of variation around the central responses. We then conducted follow-up interviews with about two-thirds of the respondents, focusing on the assumptions and methodologies used to arrive at the estimates, and on areas where a particular county's response was significantly higher or lower than average (on a per-parcel basis).

During our review and interview process, we encountered several anomalies that required revisions to the initial survey responses. One of the main issues was a misunderstanding about what should be included in the C&I property identification category. Several counties included appraiser costs in this category that should have been attributed to the first survey. After adjusting for these and related issues, we arrived at estimates of administrative costs that were non-duplicative with those identified in the first survey. After summing up the revised responses from the surveyed counties, we expanded our results to cover the counties not included in the survey to arrive at a statewide total. The expansion factor was the average of ⁵ Responding counties include Alameda, Los Angeles, Madera, Modoc, Monterey, Orange, Placer, Riverside, Sacramento, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Francisco, San Luis Obispo, Santa Clara, Stanislaus, Tehama, Ventura, Yolo, and Yuba.

Results. We estimate that the California Schools and Local Communities Funding Act of 2020 would result in $50 million in one-time and $60 million in ongoing costs statewide in the four cost areas identified in the second survey. Figure 1 shows that most of the one-time costs are related to “other administration,” mainly for IT systems enhancements. Figure 2 indicates that nearly one-half of the ongoing costs are related to addressing exclusions, exemptions, and deferrals included in the initiative, with smaller amounts for “other administration” (mostly IT costs), C&I property identification, and administering the business/personal property provisions.

Combined Costs To County Assessors

As noted above, our estimate (based on the first survey) of ongoing assessment and appeals costs for implementing the current initiative would be at least $300 million per year. We also noted one-time costs of $24 million. When combined with the results of the second survey, the full costs to county assessor’s offices of implementing the California Schools and Local Communities Funding Act of 2020 would be one-time costs of $74 million and ongoing costs of at least $360 million annually. The ongoing amount implies annual budget increases between just-under 50 percent for county assessors’ offices. They do not include significant costs for other county agencies, including auditors, controllers, and county counsel.

Figure 3

Combined County Assessor Costs For Administering “The California Schools and Local Communities Funding Act of 2020

Type of Cost	Annual Amount
One Time	$74 Million
Ongoing	$360 Million

Our combined survey-based results are similar to the results we received from the counties that provided combined costs in the second survey for assessment, appeals, and administration. They are also consistent with public data showing estimated impacts of the split roll on assessor budgets for a few of the larger California counties. They are, however, lower than the more detailed estimates we developed for San Bernardino County, discussed below.

Comparative Estimate - San Bernardino Projections

Because the estimate we prepared for the CAA relies on surveys of several counties, we could not review the detailed estimates prepared internally by many counties. It is therefore helpful to compare it with a detailed estimate that we conducted for the San Bernardino Assessor Recorder Clerk’s Office (ARC). The ARC estimate was based on a workload and cost methodology developed in conjunction with ARC staff. It assumed an even, three-year phase-in and modeled a specific set of implementation details that ARC projected would be needed to fully implement the initiative in San Bernardino County. Specifically, the methodology consisted of the following:

- ARC staff divided the county’s C&I properties subject to reassessment into 3 categories, reflecting the complexity of assessment.
- For each of these categories, ARC management surveyed staff to develop workload standards in terms of the amount of appraiser, clerical and first-line supervisor time needed to complete each appraisal, in each category. The estimate also assumes a 25-percent increase in efficiency over the three-year phase-in provided in the initiative.

Statewide Split Roll Costs to Assessors

- The resulting hours per C&I property allowed us to compute the total numbers of additional first-line staff needed each year, and the costs of the salaries and benefits for the additional staff.
- The overhead costs for these additional staff was based on the ARC's annual overhead study, adjusted to account for fixed versus variable costs.
- Special items of expense not accounted for in the overhead study were then added based on input from ARC budget staff.
- Finally, ARC advised that its appraiser pay scale is substantially below what surrounding counties pay. Given the need that the initiative would create for additional appraisers statewide and the expected competition for trained appraisers to work in the private sector, ARC estimated that it would have to provide a 20-percent pay raise to existing and new appraiser staff, which the estimate accounts for separately. While many assessors we interviewed agreed that some salary adjustment might well be necessary to recruit so many new appraisers in such a tight market, none actually included such costs in their responses to either survey.

Figure 4 displays our estimate of the cost to the ARC to implement the 2020 version of a split roll. It shows that, with the proposed salary increase, the ARC budget would more than double by 2022-23 and without it, the budget would still increase by 94 percent that same year.

San Bernardino costs in millions	$1	$21	$26	$25
Percent increase - with salary increase	3%	89%	104%	96%
Percent increase - without salary increase	3%	80%	94%	87%
Implied statewide costs - with salary increase	$21.9	$649.7	$759.2	$700.8

San Bernardino County ARC Costs To Implement Split Roll

We estimate that the combined annual budgets of all 58 California county assessors is approximately $730 million per year. Applying the percentage budget increases for San Bernardino to this total yields a range of the estimated statewide assessors' costs to implement a split roll from $686 million (without a salary increase) to $760 million in 2022-23 (with salary increases).

Caveats to the Estimates

The estimate based on the CAA survey encompasses a wide range of counties, large and small, urban and rural, north and south, coastal and inland. However, it lacks a specific implementation plan and does not include the budgeting and administrative detail available to us in estimating the ARC costs in San Bernardino. On the other hand, the estimate based on our San Bernardino study, while detailed and comprehensive, relies on data and assumptions for a single county. Each estimate is thus subject to potential error. However, they are close enough in magnitude to suggest with some confidence that the costs statewide should fall somewhere in the range of $430 million to $760 million per year during the first three years of implementation, probably declining somewhat thereafter. However, we also note the following caveats to this estimate:

Statewide Split Roll Costs to Assessors

Overhead. The estimate based on the CAA survey did not systematically account for overhead costs. Some of the counties surveyed identified some specific costs such as IT and work space, while some did not and when queried, acknowledged that as an oversight. None of the counties surveyed explicitly addressed costs such as additional management and support (e.g., personnel, accounting, training, etc.). These oversights may be enough to explain much of the difference between the two estimates.

No- and Low-Cost Outliers. One of the counties surveyed identified costs near the average, but asserted that it could implement split roll at little or no additional costs by resorting to computer-assisted appraisals that would not be property specific. The assessors we surveyed all agreed, however, that the use of mass appraisals would result in under-valuing properties and would probably violate California's Constitution. The associated property tax revenue losses could easily be much larger than any assessment cost-savings. Moreover, some owners would still appeal such assessments and developing a defensible, specific appraisal for the appeals process could result in net higher costs in the long run.

One of the counties we surveyed was a medium-sized county with a unique history during the 2008 recession, in which it performed Proposition 8 reappraisals on virtually all of its C&I properties. From that time, the county has automated annual collection of detailed information from all of its C&I properties, sufficient in the assessor's view to perform a valid, detailed assessment for every C&I property in the county without the need to hire any additional appraisers. This one county was unique and can not be used as a model for the rest of the state.

County Variability. Each county is unique. We found substantial variations among the counties we surveyed with regard to the degree of automation and the mix of types of C&I properties. In addition, geography differences could drive implementation cost differences, such as longer distances between offices and the properties to be assessed⁶.

Another important difference could be the ability of county governments to fund the costs of reassessments in advance. While the initiative allows counties to recoup their costs of assessments from the additional property tax revenues they collect, this requires counties to provide funding up front. While many counties would see a positive return from up-front funding in the form of higher property tax revenues, some may not, or may not have the ability to finance the first few years even if they expect up-front funding to yield a net gain at some point in the future. We also note that the measure's methodology for funding property tax administrators, such as assessors, is predicated upon the initiative generating a net revenue increase in revenue. As noted below, several small and rural counties have reported that the initiatives' exemption for businesses' personal property will result in a net negative change in assessed value and therefore these counties may not see any benefit in advance funding their assessors.

Outstanding Issues

Non-property Specific Appraisals and Refunds. Our interviews found a range of opinions regarding the degree to which assessors would, at least initially, rely on non-property specific appraisal techniques. While reliance on such appraisals would drive costs down initially, it could result in higher costs over time due to the need to bring individualized appraisals to appeals boards. Counties resorting to these could have unfunded liabilities against future property tax revenues, especially if appeals become backlogged over multiple years. The measure provides no mechanism for setting aside revenues to cover refunds. We recommend that the state develop a mechanism for handling refunds.

Impact of Business Personal Property Exemption. Some smaller counties reported that the revenue loss from $500,000 exemption for personal property would be larger than the revenue gain from the reassessment of real property to market value for certain C&I parcels. The measure provides a mechanism to reimburse the state General Fund for reduced personal income tax revenues resulting from businesses writing off the higher property tax costs that would, in most cases, result from reassessments. We recommend that CAA work with the state to develop a similar offset, using state General Fund revenues, to cover any net loss of property tax revenues in smaller counties due to the personal property exemptions.

⁶ We note, for example, that San Bernardino is geographically the largest county in the US.

Statewide Spilt Roll Costs to Assessors

Cost Reimbursement. As noted above, the measure allows counties to withhold some portion of any net additional revenues resulting from the measure to cover their costs of implementation. These costs would include the county assessor costs estimated in this analysis and also costs to other elements of county government, not included in our estimate (e.g., county counsel, appeals boards, auditor and treasurers, etc.). Clearly, other jurisdictions inside each county and the state will have a vested interest in minimizing the amount of additional property tax revenues that go to cover county implementation costs⁷. We therefore recommend that CAA work with the County Supervisors Association of California (CSAC) and the state to ensure that any guidelines for reimbursement of county implementation costs are comprehensive, accurate and fair.

Re: California Bail System and Proposed Reforms

The California Legislature is undertaking an effort to reform California's money bail system. With legislation introduced in each house, Senate Bill 10, by Senator Bob Hertzberg and Assembly Bill 42 by Assemblymember Rob Bonta, the goal of both bills is to reform the current money bail system and replace it with a pretrial process (see attached analyses for details on legislation).

The right to bail is in California's Constitution in Article 1, Section 12 where it states:

A person shall be released on bail by sufficient sureties, except for:

- (a) Capital crimes when the facts are evident or the presumption great;
- (b) Felony offenses involving acts of violence on another person, or felony sexual assault offenses on another person, when the facts are evident or the presumption great and the court finds based upon clear and convincing evidence that there is a substantial likelihood the person's release would result in great bodily harm to others; or
- (c) Felony offenses when the facts are evident or the presumption great and the court finds based on clear and convincing evidence that the person has threatened another with great bodily harm and that there is a substantial likelihood that the person would carry out the threat if released.

Excessive bail may not be required. In fixing the amount of bail, the court shall take into consideration the seriousness of the offense charged, the previous criminal record of the defendant, and the probability of his or her appearing at the trial or hearing of the case.

A person may be released on his or her own recognizance in the court's discretion.

Currently in California after an individual is booked into jail, the defendant who is awaiting trial may be held in jail or released by law enforcement or the courts. Defendants who post bail offer a financial guarantee to courts that they will appear for mandated hearings.

Various counties have implemented comprehensive pretrial and custody alternatives to address the large number of individuals being held pretrial in county jails. In Santa Cruz County, they have reported saving $2 million by increasing their pretrial services (see attached report). According to the Santa Cruz County 2016 Probation, Adult Division Annual Report, based on monthly statistics released from the Santa Cruz County Sheriff's Office, the pretrial detainees accounted for about 60% of the total detention facilities population in 2015, and decreased slightly to 59% in 2016, below the state average of 63 percent. The average daily population under pretrial supervision in the community has continued to increase over the last several years; and Santa Cruz anticipates the number to increase exponentially if bail reform continues on its current trajectory. Pretrial assessments provide a guide for balancing an individual's overall risk to fail to appear, with risk to reoffend while in the community when making release decisions, as opposed to a money based system of posting bond based on current charges.

In 2016, 88.2% of the individuals released to pretrial supervision appeared for court, which is comparable to the previous year. Following a 47% increase in the number of individuals released to pretrial supervision from 241 to 355. Similar to the previous year, more than 75% of defendants released to pretrial supervision pre-arraignment in 2016 appeared for court (43 of 57). In addition, in 2016 93% of defendants released to pretrial supervision completed their period of pretrial supervision with no new offenses.

In conclusion, advocates of the current system argue that the use of bail is a constitutional and effective means of ensuring court appearances, with the added benefit of operating at no cost to the taxpayers. Proponents of reforming the current system argue that release decisions should be based solely on a defendant's risk of failing to appear in court and their risk of reoffending if released while awaiting trial.

(c) Felony offenses when the facts are evident or the presumption great and the court finds based on clear and convincing evidence that the person has threatened another with great bodily harm and that there is a substantial likelihood that the person would carry out the threat if released.

Bail Reform Legislation
Attachment Three
Assembly Bill 42 by Assembly Member Bonta

Date of Hearing: April 18, 2017
Counsel: Sandra Uribe

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC SAFETY
Reginald Byron Jones-Sawyer, Sr., Chair

AB 42 (Bonta) – As Amended March 27, 2017

SUMMARY: Revises the pretrial release system by limiting pretrial detention to specified persons, eliminating the use of bail schedules, and establishing pretrial services agencies tasked with conducting risk assessments on arrested person and preparing reports with recommendations for conditions of release. Specifically, this bill:

- 1) Contains legislative findings and declarations regarding money bail and pretrial release.
- 2) States legislative intent to safely reduce the number of pretrial detainees.
- 3) Repeals Penal Code sections 815a, 1269b, 1270, 1270.1, 1270.2, 1275, 1288, 1289, 1318, and 1319.
- 4) Specifies times for an arrested person to be taken before a magistrate when the arrest date occurs on a Wednesday that is a court holiday.
- 5) States that specified persons may approve and accept an order authorizing pretrial release or admitting to bail, issue and sign an order for the release of a detainee, and set a time and place for the person's appearance before the court.
- 6) Requires each county to establish a pretrial services agency that will be responsible for gathering information about newly arrested persons, conducting pretrial risk assessments, preparing individually tailored recommendations to the court, and providing pretrial services and supervision to persons on pretrial release.
- 7) Requires the pretrial services agency to conduct a pretrial risk assessment of a detainee upon booking into jail, except for those charged with violent felonies, and to prepare a pretrial services report with recommendations for release.
- 8) Prohibits use of pretrial service reports for any purpose other than for decisions on pretrial release. Copies of the report shall be provided to the court, the prosecutor, defense counsel, or the arrested person if not represented by counsel.
- 9) Establishes the following pre-arraignment classifications for release:
 - a) Prohibits pre-arraignment release of a person charged with a serious felony, a violent felony, felony witness intimidation, spousal rape, domestic violence, stalking, violation of protective orders, or any felony while the person was on pretrial release for a separate offense;

- b) Requires the release of persons charged with all other felonies, either with no conditions of release or with the least restrictive conditions deemed necessary; and
 - c) Requires the pretrial release of a person who is arrested and booked for a misdemeanor, rather than cited and released, except if the person is charged with a misdemeanor while on pretrial release. Release is subject to signing a release agreement and no release conditions may be imposed.
- 10) Establishes the following pre-arraignment procedures for release:
- a) The pretrial services agency shall immediately transmit the pretrial services report with recommendations to the court, except as specified;
 - b) The court shall issue an oral or written order for release, either with or without conditions and subject to a release agreement, no later than unspecified hours after receipt of the risk assessment and pretrial services report have been received; and
 - c) The court will release a detainee, regardless of whether the pretrial services report is available. The court can release the detainee with or without conditions of release.
- 11) Provides that, when a person is released before arraignment, either the defendant or the prosecutor may file a motion to amend the release order alleging changed circumstances and requesting different or additional conditions of release at the time of arraignment.
- 12) Authorizes court commissioners to order the pre-arraignment, pre-trial release of arrested persons.
- 13) Allows an officer arresting a person for a bailable felony offense, or for a misdemeanor violation of a domestic-violence restraining order, to file a declaration alleging that he or she has reasonable cause to believe that pre-arraignment pre-trial release with no conditions of release would be insufficient to either ensure the defendant's appearance in court or the safety of the victim and/or his or her family.
- 14) Establishes the following rules for pretrial release at arraignment and for detention hearings:
- a) Requires the court, in making a decision for pretrial release at arraignment or at a detention hearing, to consider the protection of the public, the seriousness of the charged offense, the defendant's prior criminal record, the probability of appearing in court, and the presumption of innocence; but public safety and that of the victim, along with probability of appearance shall be the primary considerations;
 - b) States that, in considering the seriousness of the offense, the factors to be considered are the alleged injury to the victim, alleged threats to the victim or a witness, and alleged use of a firearm or other deadly weapon;
 - c) Imposes upon the court the duty to determine what condition or conditions of release will ensure public safety, the defendant's appearance in court, and facilitate pretrial release. Upon a finding at a detention hearing that no such conditions will reasonably ensure this, the court's order must provide findings of fact and a statement of reasons;

- d) Requires the court to consider the pretrial agency's risk assessment, report, and recommendations of release, except as specified. If the release decision is inconsistent with the recommendations of the pretrial services agency, the court's order must include a statement of reasons; and
- e) Requires the court to make a pretrial release or detention decision without undue delay, as specified.

15) Establishes the following protocol for pre-trial release at arraignment:

- a) All persons who have not been released before arraignment and who have not been ordered detained will be released using the least restrictive conditions necessary to ensure appearance and public safety;
- b) First, the court shall consider the pretrial services report and any relevant information provided by the prosecutor and the defendant and order release without conditions, subject to the signing of a release agreement. The reason for the decision shall be stated on the record;
- c) If the court determines that pretrial release without conditions will not reasonably assure the person's appearance in court, the safety of the victim, or the public safety, the court shall order pretrial release subject to a release agreement with the least restrictive nonmonetary conditions determined reasonable to ensure court appearance and safety. A statement of reasons for the determination is required; and
- d) If the court determines that the person cannot be released with non-monetary conditions alone, then the court is authorized to set monetary bail, as specified, or a combination of monetary bail and other conditions to assure the defendant's appearance. The court must state its reasons for the determination.

16) Requires the court to set money bail be set at the least restrictive amount necessary to assure the defendant's appearance and to consider the defendant's present ability to pay without substantial hardship, as specified.

17) Prohibits the judge from setting bail in an amount which results in pretrial detention because of inability to pay.

18) States that if the pretrial services report with conditions for release is unavailable, then the court will release the person on the least restrictive conditions necessary to ensure appearance and public safety.

19) Provides that for defendants charged with violent felonies, the risk assessment and report with recommendations will only be prepared if the defendant requests them.

20) Provides that a defendant for who conditions of release have been imposed and who, five days after such imposition continues to be detained because of an inability to meet the conditions of release, is entitled to an automatic review of the conditions, unless he or she waives such review.

- 21) Allows the prosecutor to file a motion for pretrial detention at any time alleging any of the following:
 - a) The person is charged with a capital crime and the facts are evident or the presumption great;
 - b) The person is charged with a violent felony or a felony sexual assault and the facts are evident or presumption great, there is no condition or combination thereof that would reasonably assure the safety of others, and, there is a substantial likelihood that release would result in great bodily harm to others; or when,
 - c) The person is charged with a felony and the facts are evident or presumption great, the defendant has threatened another with great bodily harm, there is no condition or combination thereof that would reasonably assure the safety of person threatened, and there is substantial likelihood that the person would carry out the threat if released.
- 22) Requires the court, upon the filing of a motion for pretrial detention, to hold a hearing within 48 hours, as specified, unless the defendant waives a hearing.
- 23) Prohibits the court from considering the results of a pretrial risk assessment at a detention hearing.
- 24) Allows the court to order pretrial detention of the defendant only if the court makes all of the findings above, which are consistent with the California Constitution. The standard of proof is clear and convincing evidence.
- 25) Provides that if the person is ordered detained, then the court's order must include findings of fact and a statement of reasons.
- 26) Provides that if the court does not order pretrial detention after a hearing on a motion to detain, then pretrial services shall conduct a risk assessment and issue a report with recommendations for conditions of release, and the court shall order the person released either with or without conditions.
- 27) Provides that when money bail is set, a defendant may execute an unsecured appearance bond, as specified, which may be required to be signed by uncompensated third parties, or may execute a secured bond.
- 28) Defines "unsecured appearance bond" as "an order to release a person upon his or her promise to appear in court and his or her unsecured promise to pay an amount of money, specified by the court, if he or she fails to appear as promised."
- 29) Allows the court to modify a pretrial release order upon a change in circumstances, to change the conditions of release, including the amount of any money bail. A request for modification may be brought by the prosecutor or the defendant.

- 30) Provides that if a person violates the terms and conditions of pretrial release, he or she may be held in contempt of court upon motion of the prosecutor.
- 31) Prohibits a finding that the person is in contempt of court unless the court finds that: (1) there is probable cause to believe the defendant committed a crime while on pretrial release, or there is evidence that the person violated a term of release, and (2) there are no conditions of release to reasonably ensure the defendant will not flee or pose a danger to society, or the defendant is unlikely to abide by any condition of release.
- 32) Requires pretrial services agencies to make every effort to assist pretrial defendant in complying with conditions of release, and must at a minimum, notify defendants of court dates. The agency may also assist defendants in obtaining community services.
- 33) Permits the court to order a pretrial services agency to supervise and monitor the compliance of released defendants.
- 34) Authorizes an unnamed agency to oversee pretrial services agencies, to select a statewide pretrial assessment tool, to develop guidelines, and to provide training and assistance on pretrial release to judges, prosecutors, defense counsel, pretrial services agencies, jail staff, and law enforcement.
- 35) Provides guidelines for the pretrial risk assessment tool which shall be selected by the unnamed agency and for existing pretrial risk assessment tools that comply with these guidelines and that had been in use by counties prior to the effective date of this bill.
- 36) Requires the Board of State and Community Corrections (BSCC), in consultation with the unnamed agency, to develop a plan that establishes statewide requirements for counties related to annual reporting of pretrial release and detention data which must include the percentage of individuals released on pretrial, the percentage of those who fail to appear, those who commit new crimes while on pretrial release, and the rate of judicial concurrence with recommended conditions of release. This data must be disaggregated by race or ethnicity and gender.
- 37) Requires the unspecified agency to use the data reported by counties to monitor the effectiveness of the county's pretrial release policies, standards, and procedures to ensure compliance with state law.
- 38) Requires each county to make publicly available its risk assessment tool guidelines, factors, weights, studies, data upon which validation studies rely, and information about how a risk assessment tool was re-normed.
- 39) Makes conforming changes to other Penal Code provisions.

EXISTING LAW:

- 1) Prohibits excessive bail. (U.S. Const., 8th Amend. & Cal. Const., art. I, sec. 12.)

- 2) States that a person shall be granted release on bail except for the following crimes when the facts are evident or the presumption great:
 - a) Capital crimes;
 - b) Felonies involving violence or sexual assault if the court finds by clear and convincing evidence that there is a substantial likelihood the person's release would result in great bodily harm to others; and,
 - c) Felonies where the court finds by clear and convincing evidence that the person has threatened another with great bodily harm and that there is a substantial likelihood that the person would carry out the threat if released. (Cal. Const., art. I, sec. 12.)
- 3) Lists several factors that the court must consider in setting, reducing, or denying bail: the protection of the public; the seriousness of the charged offense; the defendant's prior criminal record; and, the probability of his or her appearing at trial or hearing of the case. Public safety is the primary consideration. (Pen. Code, § 1275, subd. (a).)
- 4) States that in considering the seriousness of the offense charged, the judge or magistrate shall include consideration of the alleged injury to the victim, and alleged threats to the victim or a witness to the crime charged, the alleged use of a firearm or other deadly weapon in the commission of the crime charged, and the alleged use or possession of controlled substances by the defendant. (Pen. Code, § 1275, subd. (a).)
- 5) Requires the court to consider the safety of the victim and the victim's family in setting bail and release conditions for a defendant. (Cal. Const., art. I, sec. 28, subd. (b)(3).)
- 6) Requires the superior court judges in each county to prepare, adopt, and annually revise a uniform, countywide bail schedule. (Pen. Code, § 1269b, subd. (c).)
- 7) Requires the countywide bail schedule to contain a list of the offenses and the amounts of bail applicable for each. If the schedule does not list all offenses specifically, then the bail schedule shall contain a general clause for designated amounts of bail for the offenses not specifically listed. (Pen. Code, § 1269b, subd. (f).)
- 8) Provides that at the time of issuing an arrest warrant, the magistrate shall fix the amount of bail which, in the magistrate's judgment, will be reasonable and sufficient for the defendant to appear, if the offense is bailable. (Pen. Code, § 815a.)
- 9) Provides that an arrested person must be taken before the magistrate with 48 hours of arrest, excluding Sundays and holidays. (Pen. Code, 825, subd. (a).)
- 10) Authorizes the officer in charge of a jail, or the clerk of the superior court to approve and accept bail in the amount fixed by the arrest warrant, the bail schedule, or an order admitting to bail in case or surety bond, and to issue and sign an order for the release of the arrested person, and to set a time and place for the person's appearance in court. (Pen. Code, 1269b, subd. (a).)

- 11) Authorizes a court to release a person who has been arrested for, or charged with, any offense other than a capital offense, on his or her own recognizance (OR). (Pen. Code, § 1270.)

- 13) Specifies conditions for a defendant's release on his or her own recognizance (OR). (Pen. Code, § 1318.)
- 14) Authorizes a court, with the concurrence of the board of supervisors, to employ an investigative staff for the purpose of recommending whether a defendant should be released on OR. (Pen. Code, § 1318.1, subd. (a).)
- 15) States that whenever a court has employed investigative staff for the purpose of recommending whether a defendant should be released on OR, an investigative report shall be prepared in all cases involved in a violent felony listed in Penal Code Section 667.5(c), or a felony violation of driving under the influence and causing bodily injury to another person, recommending whether the defendant should be released on OR. The report shall include all of the following:
 - a) Written verification of any outstanding warrants against the defendant;
 - b) Written verification of any prior incidents where the defendant has failed to make a court appearance;
 - c) Written verification of the criminal record of the defendant; and,
 - d) Written verification of the residence of the defendant during the past year. (Pen. Code, § 1318.1(b).)
- 16) Provides that a defendant released on bail for a felony who willfully fails to appear in court, as specified, is guilty of a crime. (Pen. Code, § 1320.5.)
- 17) Specifies that if an on-bail defendant fails to appear for any scheduled court appearance, the bail is forfeited unless the clerk of the court fails to give proper notice to the surety or depositor within 30 days, or the defendant is brought before the court within 180 days. (Pen. Code, § 1305, subds. (a) & (b).)

FISCAL EFFECT: Unknown

COMMENTS:

- 1) Author's Statement: According to the author, “Money bail reform by other states, combined with national and California-specific research on the issue, supports a pretrial system that is not regressive and further strengthens public safety. I am proud to author AB 42 to create a more effective and just replacement for our money bail system, which is broken, discriminatory, and punishes poor people simply for being poor. It’s a system that links freedom with personal wealth and ignores public safety and flight risk.

“With AB 42, and mirror legislation in the Senate, we are developing a system that is a smarter, safer option for thousands of people being held in jail pretrial on nonviolent or misdemeanor charges. A system of pretrial assessment and services will allow our overflowing county jails to target their limited space on those people who are truly a threat to the public or a flight risk for the courts. Overcrowded jails are in no one’s best interest, and the time to act is now.

“Last year, my office conducted a public forum in Oakland examining money bail. I had the chance to see the faces and hear the stories of innocent people who have been severely harmed by the money bail system. People can easily lose their jobs, their homes, and in some cases their kids if they are thrown in jail and can’t afford to pay for their freedom. Beyond the financial burden, people who are locked up while they await trial are more likely to accept a plea deal for a crime they didn’t even commit, just to regain their freedom. There is a better way.

“Defendants who are properly evaluated by the courts and released, with or without conditions, back to their families can keep their jobs and continue providing for their children and loved ones while they await trial. Research from reforms in other states and the District of Columbia have shown that something as simple as a phone call or text message can help make sure a defendant shows up for court. As California voters have shown over the last several election cycles, they want evidence-based solutions that ensure public safety, that give judges greater discretion to make informed decisions, and that use scarce public funds responsibly.”

- 2) Background: In California, bail is a constitutional right except when the defendant is charged with: (1) a capital crime; (2) a felony involving violence or sex and the court finds that the person’s release would result in great bodily harm to another; or (3) when the defendant has threatened another and the court finds it likely that the defendant might carry out that threat. The constitution also allows for an arrestee to be released upon a written promise to appear, known as release on own recognizance. The constitution prohibits excessive bail. (Cal. Const. art. I, § 12.)

Courts require many defendants to deposit monetary bail in order to be released from custody. Bail is intended to act as a financial guarantee to the court that the defendant will appear for all required court hearings. An arrestee may post bail with his or her own cash, or may post bail using a bail bond.

Currently, each county sets a bail schedule based exclusively on the charged offense. The bail schedule is used by the arresting officer to allow an arrestee to post bail before his or her court appearance. Once a defendant is brought before the court, there must be an individualized determination of the appropriate amount of bail.

Another function of the bail system is protection of the community. Arguably, the current bail system does not actually address community safety concerns because there is no assessment of risk, at least when bail is posted before the arrestee appears before the court.

- 3) Challenges Presented by Money Bail System: There are a number of challenges that the bail system faces. A growing number of people acknowledge that the bail system has a negative impact on communities of color and those who come from the lower end of the socio-economic spectrum. In short, those who have money have the ability to confront their criminal charges while free from confinement in county jail. Those who are too poor to post bail are forced to remain incarcerated, and are more likely to plead guilty in order to get out of custody. Prior to the initial court appearance, the determination as to who remains detained while awaiting resolution of criminal charges is made based on money, and not whether the person is a present danger to the community or whether he or she will return to court.

The ability to be out of custody while facing criminal charges carries a number of inherent advantages. A defendant who is released on bail is able to carry on with his or her life while awaiting the disposition of the criminal case. For instance, criminal defendants who are out on bail are not only able to maintain employment but they are also encouraged to do so.

The current system results in California jails being crowded with individuals who are occupying jail beds while they are facing criminal charges. Due to overcrowding, jails are often forced to release inmates who have already been convicted and sentenced and should be serving their criminal sentences.

- 4) Public Policy Institute of California Report on Jail Capacity and Pretrial Inmates: In 2015, the Public Policy Institute of California (PPIC) issued a report on pretrial release and jail overcrowding. The report noted that as of September 2014, 62% of jail beds were filled with inmates awaiting either trial or sentencing. The report stated that California uses pretrial detention more than the rest of the country. However, the state's high rates of pretrial detention have not been associated with lower rates of failures to appear or lower levels of felony rearrests. In fact, California has had higher rates of both failures to appear and rearrests for non-violent felonies. (Pretrial Detention and Jail Capacity in California, S. Tafoya, July 2015, http://www.ppic.org/main/publication_quick.asp?i=1154.)

“Given that the legal rationale for pretrial detention is to ensure court appearances and preserve public safety, the data presented here indicate that California may not be getting a good return on the high levels of pretrial detention it has maintained. California's pretrial practices are associated with lower rates of rearrests for violent felonies, but this result may have been achieved at the cost of detaining many defendants who might have safely been released under some form of pretrial supervision. Moreover, as critics of the bail system have long argued, releasing defendants based on their ability to post bail is both inequitable and unnecessarily risky: defendants with financial resources can purchase release even if there is a high risk that they will engage in pretrial misconduct, while low-risk defendants who are poor may be needlessly held in jail.” (Id.)

The report found that “pretrial services programs—if properly implemented and embraced by the courts, probation, and the jails—could address jail overcrowding and improve the efficiency, equitability, and transparency of pretrial release decision making.” (Id.)

- 5) Pretrial Services: According to the California Association of Pretrial Services Website, pretrial services agencies are important because they improve the court's release and detention decision-making process. They also protect public safety by ensuring that only those defendants who can safely be released are released. Use of pretrial services agencies also increases the use of non-financial release alternatives, which reduces the percentage of pretrial detainees in the jail. Finally, pretrial services agencies can save taxpayer dollars by reducing the costs of jailing pretrial defendants (<http://pretrialservicesca.org/about>)

Services provided by pretrial services can include: jail screening and interviewing of all arrestees; investigation of the arrestee's ties to the community, past record, potential dangerousness to the community, past history of failures to appear, and the seriousness of the current criminal charges; preparation of a written report to the court and the presiding magistrate, summarizing the defendant's ties to the community and a recommendation for or against release; case monitoring of conditions of release and court date notification system for defendants; supervised release for selected defendants; social services referrals for defendants; and follow-up services to locate defendants who have failed to appear and return them to the court system without the unnecessary costs of an arrest. (<http://pretrialservicesca.org/about>)

This bill would require every county to establish a pretrial services agency. The agencies would be tasked with conducting risk assessments on arrested persons, preparing pretrial services reports with recommendation for release. The agencies would also be required to assist pretrial defendants in complying with conditions of release, and must at a minimum, notify defendants of court dates.

This committee has been unable to determine how many out of the 58 counties have pretrial services agencies. Would each county be able to establish the required pretrial services agency by the effective date? Should the effective date of this legislation be delayed to ensure counties can effectively comply with the mandates imposed, particularly since this is such a broad and sweeping change in pretrial practice?

- 6) Preventative Detention: This bill prohibits preventative detention except in limited circumstances delineated by the California Constitution, namely (1) if the person is charged with a capital crime; or (2) the person is charged with either a violent felony or a felony sex assault, there is no condition or combination thereof that would reasonably assure the safety of others, and, there is a substantial likelihood that release would result in great bodily harm to others; or (3) when the person is charged with a felony and the defendant has threatened another person with great bodily harm, and there is substantial likelihood that the person would carry out the threat if released.

Other than those three narrow categories, all other defendants must be released at arraignment using the least restrictive means of release, either with no release conditions, non-financial conditions of release, or on money bail, with or without other condition, as a last resort. Additionally, if the court chooses money bail, the bail must be set at the least amount needed to ensure the defendant's appearance in court, and in an amount that the defendant can afford to pay without borrowing money, obtaining a loan, or paying for a bond. The bail amount cannot cause hardship to the defendant. The court is prohibited from setting bail in an amount which results in a defendant's pretrial detention because of inability to pay.

Arguably there are some offenders who do not fall into these narrow categories allowing detention under the California Constitution, but who could nevertheless pose a threat to public safety or a flight risk because of the severity of charges and potential length of incarceration they face. In such cases, the two considerations for the court in setting money bail could potentially create a conflict. There may be situations where the court believes public safety or flight risk requires setting a significant amount of bail; and yet, the court must also comply with the mandates that the bail be set in amount that will not cause hardship and will not result in detention.

7) Arguments in Support:

- a) According to the American Civil Liberties Union of California, a Co-sponsor of this bill, “Groups as diverse as the U.S. Department of Justice, the Council of Chief Justices, the American Bar Association, the Movement for Black Lives, the Cato Institute, and Right on Crime have spoken out against discriminatory bail practices across the country. Here in California, in her last two State of the Judiciary addresses, Chief Justice Tani Cant-Sakauye has identified the need for pretrial reform in our state; and a bipartisan coalition of legislators, communities, families, organizations, professors, attorneys, political organizations, judges, and local officials have joined the movement for reform. The time is ripe for change.

“Here in California, about 63% of people in jail in California on any given day (or 46,000 people) are either awaiting trial or sentencing, at a high financial and social cost to taxpayers. Many Californians cannot afford to post bail and so must either stay in jail or pay substantial nonrefundable fees to a bail bond company. These fees are not refunded – even if the court finds that a person is innocent or was wrongfully arrested.

“California’s current bail system is likewise punishing whole families and communities. Over-policing of communities of color results in more arrests, exacting a disproportionate price from these communities. Whole families suffer, as they take on long-term debt to purchase the safety and freedom of a loved one, and women are hit the hardest. According to an Ella Baker Center survey, 83% of family members who take on court-related costs on behalf of loved ones are women.

“Successful models for reform can be found in California and other states. For example, in Kentucky, about 70% of pretrial defendants are released (68% on non-financial releases), 89% make all future court appearances, and 92% are not re-arrested while on pretrial release. Santa Clara County has implemented a successful pretrial services model and has saved $33 million in six months by keeping 1,400 defendants out of jail. Like with these systems, under the California Bail Reform Act, judges will have access to helpful tools and resources to assist them in their pretrial decision-making. These resources help to protect public safety while reducing the number of people kept in jail after arrest. It is time for California to implement these proven and cost-effective systems across the state.”

- b) According to the Ella Baker Center for Human Rights, a Co-sponsor of this bill, “In California, nearly 2/3 of the people sitting in jail are either awaiting trial or sentencing, at a significant cost to the state and vulnerable families. The State spends $5 million per day to lock up people who are waiting to go to court—totaling more than $1.8 billion annually. Families are forced to make the difficult decision between covering their basic needs like housing and paying the bail bonds agency. Families that cannot afford the 10% fee often go on payment plans that perpetuate the cycle of poverty. When a person remains in jail because they cannot afford bail, others may need to fill the financial gap he or she leaves behind, forcing family members to drop out of school to get a job, or quitting a job to take care of children that are left behind.

“Further, people forced to stay in jail because they cannot afford bail face a number of additional obstacles. Many people take coercive plea deals in order to avoid waiting for trial so they can get back to their lives and familial obligations. Research has shown that compared to people who are released prior to trial, those held for their entire pretrial detention have a greater likelihood of being sentenced to jail. Studies have also shown a strong correlation between length of detention and recidivism. Compared to people who were held no more than 24 hours, those held for 8 to 14 days were 51% more likely to go back to jail for another crime. Pre-trial detention as a result of inability to pay bail can also result in loss of employment, housing, child custody rights, etc. Black men are not only less likely to be released on their own recognizance, their bail amounts are also 35% higher on average than white men. Most alarmingly, nearly 80% of all jail deaths in California occur among people who are detained pre-trial.

“People of color are already over-represented in the criminal justice system and current pre-trial detention practices exacerbate these disparities. The current system of bail was designed to most severely impact those who can least afford it. AB 42 provides California with the opportunity to decriminalize poverty, reduce racial disparities, and enhances public safety outcomes.”

8) Arguments in Opposition:

- a) According to the California District Attorneys Association, “California’s current pretrial release procedures help to ensure that dangerous defendants are not released to commit new crimes and harm victims and witnesses before trial. Under these procedures, the court already has wide discretion to release a defendant on his or her own recognizance, or to reduce bail for defendants that do not pose such risks. Whatever the deficiencies in the current system, it hardly seems prudent to start from scratch. ...

“There are also tremendous logistical problems with the proposed pretrial release scheme. Under the bill, when Friday is a court holiday, a Wednesday arrestee must be charged by Thursday. So, when someone is arrested on Wednesday at 11:00 p/m/. the police must complete reports, present them to the district attorney on Thursday, and expect the district attorney to make a careful charging decision in time for an afternoon court arraignment. This compressed timeline will undoubtedly result in the release of dangerous individuals.

“Even when given a full two days before arraignment, AB 42 makes it extremely onerous to achieve pretrial detention for dangerous defendants. The district attorney must file a written motion at arraignment, containing myriad required allegation, and be expected to prove those allegations in a contested hearing – all of this within 48 hours of the arrest. The existing bail schedule system allows judges to exercise discretion to raise or lower bail for violent felons, in a sensible period of time.”

- b) According to the Golden State Bail Agents Association, “This bill will cost taxpayers more than $3.8 billion per year. The current bail system operates at no cost to taxpayers. On the other hand, the costs of the pretrial system proposed in this bill this will be enormous. According to the California Attorney General's Office, there were 1,086,889 adults arrested in California in 2015. This bill mandates that each county create a pretrial services agency that will have enough staff and other resources to evaluate and prepare a timely pretrial risk assessment report for every defendant arrested, with certain exceptions. The cost of evaluating and preparing a timely pretrial risk assessment report for each of these defendants will be unaffordable. ...

"This bill will cause the incarceration of more pretrial defendants because it eliminates the bail schedule. Most counties do not have pretrial services agencies in place and the bail schedule is the only mechanism for recently arrested defendants to get released from jail before their arraignment. Therefore, defendants that could have bailed out of custody under the bail schedule will sit in jail for 48 hours or longer awaiting arraignment.

"This bill is unconstitutional. This bill violates the defendant's rights to bail by sufficient sureties which is guaranteed by the California Constitution. Bail by sufficient sureties means the defendant must have the option to secure release through a bail bond posted by a commercial surety. Several other jurisdictions have considered identical phrasing in their state constitutions and have reached the same conclusion. This bill will force defendants that could afford bail to sit in jail or to agree to onerous pretrial release conditions to get released.

"Eliminating bail as a meaningful option, as this bill does, and substituting an invasive pretrial program which includes conditions like mandatory drug testing, GPS monitoring and onerous reporting requirements, would raise serious constitutional concerns, which are exacerbated if violations of pretrial conditions would create additional criminal exposure for the accused. The Ninth Circuit has held that, in some circumstances, such pretrial release conditions are unconstitutional. In United States v. Scott, 450 F.3d 863, 874 (9th Cir. 2005), the defendant agreed to submit to home searches and drug testing in order to obtain pretrial release. But when law enforcement conducted a home search and a drug test of the defendant, the Ninth Circuit suppressed the results because these searches could not pass Fourth Amendment muster 'under any of the three [relevant] approaches: consent, special needs [,] or totality of the circumstances.' Id. As an individual merely accused of a crime and presumed innocent, the defendant maintained Fourth Amendment rights that the government could not violate. Even the defendant's consent to the conditions of pretrial release could not render those conditions constitutionally legitimate because the government cannot impose 'unconstitutional conditions' in exchange for government benefits. Id. at 866 (citing Dolan v. City of Tigard, 512 U.S. 374 (1994))."

- c) According to the Peace Officers Research Association of California, "The elimination of bond schedules and the imposition of required risk assessment will delay the process of release for all defendants. Also, by creating a statewide pretrial supervision program, this bill actually requires that no defendant will be required to pay for pretrial monitoring and services. This means that the third party benefit provided to a defendant at no cost to the state or a county government will now have to be borne by county governments.

"Lastly, the study we looked at had FTA's [failure to appear] going up to 70%, which makes sense. Why would anyone actually appear if they have a higher likelihood of going to jail?”

9) Related Legislation:

- a) AB 789 (Rubio) allows a court to approve, without a hearing, own recognizance (OR) release under a court-operated or court-approved pretrial release program for arrestees of specified offenses with three or more prior failures to appear. AB 789 is pending hearing in the Assembly Appropriations Committee.
- b) SB 10 (Hertzberg) is identical to this bill. SB 10 is pending hearing in the Senate Appropriations Committee.

10) Prior Legislation:

- a) AB 805 (Jones-Sawyer), Chapter 17, Statutes of 2013, provides that in setting bail, a judge or magistrate may consider factors such as the report prepared by investigative staff for the purpose of recommending whether a defendant should be released on his/her own recognizance.
- b) AB 2388 (Hagman) of the 2013-2014 Legislative Session, required the Judicial Council to prepare, adopt, and annually revise an advisory statewide bail schedule for all bailable felony offenses and for all misdemeanor and infraction offenses, except Vehicle Code infractions, that counties could reference when setting a countywide bail schedule. AB 2388 was held on the Appropriations suspense file.
- c) SB 210 (Hancock), of the 2013-2014 Legislative Session, would have revised the criteria for determining eligibility for pretrial release from custody. SB 210 was ordered to the Assembly Inactive File.
- d) SB 210 (Hancock), of the 2011-12 Legislative Session, required a court to determine, with public safety as the primary consideration, whether a defendant charged with a jail felony is eligible for release on his or her own recognizance (OR). SB 210 failed passage on the Assembly Floor.
- e) SB 1180 (Hancock) of the 2011-12 Legislative Session, was substantially similar to SB 210. SB 1180 was ordered to the Senate Inactive File.

PURPOSE

The purpose of this bill is to reduce the amount of people held in pretrial detention because of the inability to afford money bail and to require each county to establish a pretrial services agency that meets certain specifications.

Existing law declares that a person shall be released on bail by sufficient sureties, except for:

- Capital crimes when the facts are evident or the presumption great;
- Felony offenses involving acts of violence on another person, or felony sexual assault offenses on another person, when the facts are evident or the presumption great and the court finds based upon clear and convincing evidence that there is a substantial likelihood the person's release would result in great bodily harm to others; or
- Felony offenses when the facts are evident or the presumption great and the court finds based on clear and convincing evidence that the person has threatened another with great bodily harm and that there is a substantial likelihood that the person would carry out the threat if released. (Cal. Const., art. I, section 12.)

Existing law prohibits excessive bail. (Id.)

Existing law states that in setting, reducing, or denying bail, the judge or magistrate shall take into consideration the protection of the public, the seriousness of the offense charged, the previous criminal record of the defendant, and the probability of his or her appearing at trial or hearing of the case. The public safety shall be the primary consideration. (Pen. Code § 1275, subd. (a).)

Existing law provides that in considering the seriousness of the offense charged, the judge or magistrate shall include consideration of the alleged injury to the victim, and alleged threats to the victim or a witness to the crime charged, the alleged use of a firearm or other deadly weapon in the commission of the crime charged, and the alleged use or possession of controlled substances by the defendant. (Id.)

This bill repeals Penal Code section 1275.

Existing law authorizes a court, with the concurrence of the board of supervisors, to employ an investigative staff for the purpose of recommending whether a defendant should be released on his or her own recognize. (Pen. Code § 1318.1, subd. (a).)

Existing law provides that at the time of issuing a warrant of arrest, the magistrate shall fix the amount of bail which in his judgment will be reasonable and sufficient for the appearance of the defendant following his arrest, if the offense is bailable. (Pen. Code § 815a.)

This bill repeals Penal Code section 1318.1.

Existing law provides that that an arrested defendant must be taken before the magistrate within 48 hours after arrest, excluding Sundays and holiday. (Pen. Code § 825, subd. (a).)

This bill specifies that if the arrest occurs on a Wednesday if the Wednesday is a court holiday, the defendant shall be taken before the magistrate no later than Friday, and if the Friday is a court holiday, the defendant shall be taken before the magistrate no later than Thursday.

Existing law authorizes the officer in charge of a jail or the clerk of the superior court to approve and accept bail in the amount fixed by the arrest warrant, schedule of bail, or an order admitting to bail in cash or surety bond and to issue and sign an order for the release of the arrested person and to set a time and place for the appearance of the arrested person in court. (Pen. Code § 1269b, subd. (a).)

This bill instead provides that the officer in charge of the jail or the clerk of the superior court may approve and accept an order authorizing pretrial release or admitting to bail and to issue and sign an order for the release of the arrested person and to set a time and place for the appearance of the arrested person in court.

Existing law states that it is the duty of the superior court judges in each county to prepare, adopt, and annually revise a uniform countywide schedule of bail for all bailable felony offenses and for all misdemeanor and infraction offenses except Vehicle Code infractions. The penalty schedule for infraction violations of the Vehicle Code shall be established by the Judicial Council. (Pen. Code § 1269b, subd. (c).)

Existing law requires the countywide bail schedule to contain a list of the offenses and the amounts of bail applicable for each as the judges determine to be appropriate. If the schedule does not list all offenses specifically, it shall contain a general clause for designated amounts of bail as the judges of the county determine to be appropriate for all the offenses not specifically listed in the schedule. A copy of the countywide bail schedule shall be sent to the officer in charge of the county jail, to the officer in charge of each city jail within the county, to each superior court judge and commissioner in the county, and to the Judicial Council. (Pen. Code § 1269b, subd. (f).)

This bill repeals Penal Code section 1269b.

This bill provides that a person who is arrested and booked into jail for an enumerated violent felony shall not be considered for release until the person appears before a judge or magistrate for a hearing and states that a pretrial services report shall not be prepared unless the defendant requests a pretrial risk assessment and report.

This bill provides that for the following specified offenses, a pretrial services agency shall conduct a risk assessment on a person arrested and booked into jail but the person shall not be considered for release until he or she appears before a judge or magistrate for a hearing:

- A serious felony as defined, except for first degree burglary;
- Intimidating a witness under certain circumstances, spousal rape, domestic violence, or stalking;
- Domestic violence battery;
- Violation of a court order, if the person is alleged to have made threats to kill or harm, engaged in violence against, or gone to the residence or workplace of, the protected party; or
- Any felony committed while the person is on pretrial release for a separate offense.

This bill requires, except for when a person is arrested for specified crimes, a pretrial services agency to immediately upon booking conduct a pretrial risk assessment on the arrested person and prepare a pretrial services report with recommendations for conditions of release.

This bill provides that a person who is arrested and booked for a misdemeanor, who is not first cited and released with a signed promise to appear in court, shall be released by the pretrial services agency subject to signing a release agreement without further conditions.

This bill requires the pretrial services agency to transmit the report with recommendations for conditions of release to the court and requires the court to issue an oral or written order to release the person, with or without release conditions, subject to the person signing a specified release agreement.

This bill states that if the pretrial services report is not available, the court shall release the person subject to a release agreement without further conditions or subject to conditions.

This bill provides that the fact that the court has not received the pretrial services report shall not preclude pretrial release.

This bill authorizes the court in which the charge is pending, upon petition by either party that there has been a change in circumstances, to amend the release order to impose different or additional conditions of release at the time of arraignment.

This bill authorizes court commissioners to order the pretrial release of arrested persons prior to arraignment.

Existing law authorizes a court to release a person who has been arrested for, or charged with any offense other than a capital offense, on his or her own recognizance. (Pen. Code § 1270.)

Existing law requires a person arrested for a misdemeanor to be released on his or own recognizance unless the court makes a finding on the record that there is no condition or combination of conditions that would reasonably ensure public safety and the appearance of the defendant as required, an own recognizance release will compromise public safety or will not reasonably ensure the appearance of the defendant. Public safety shall be the primary consideration. If the court makes one of those findings, the court shall then set monetary bail and specify the conditions, if any, under which the defendant shall be released. (Id.)

This bill repeals Penal Code section 1270.

Existing law authorizes a court to release a person on bail in an amount that is more or less than the amount contained in the bail schedule, or release the person on his or her own recognizance after conducting a hearing in open court. If bail is set in an amount that is different from that contained in the bail schedule, the judge or magistrate shall state the reasons for that decision on the record. (Pen. Code § 1270.1.)

This bill repeals Penal Code section 1270.1.

Existing law requires an automatic review, not more than five days from the original order fixing the bail amount, when a person is detained in custody on a criminal charge for want of bail. The defendant may waive this review. (Pen. Code § 1270.2.)

This bill repeals Penal Code section 1270.2.

Existing law states that in setting, reducing, or denying bail, a judge or magistrate shall take into consideration the protection of the public, the seriousness of the offense charged, the previous criminal record of the defendant, and the probability of his or her appearing at trial or at a hearing of the case. The public safety shall be the primary consideration. (Pen. Code § 1275.)

This bill repeals Penal Code section 1275 and instead creates a pretrial release hearing where a judge or magistrate, in making a determination to release an individual, shall consider the protection of the public, the seriousness of the offense charged, the previous criminal record of the defendant, the probability of his or her appearing at trial or at a hearing of the case, and the presumption of innocence. The public safety, the safety of the victim, and the probability of the accused appearing in court as required shall be the primary considerations.

This bill states that in considering the seriousness of the offense charged, the court shall include consideration of the alleged injury to the victim, alleged threats to the victim or a witness to the crime charged, and the alleged use of a firearm or other deadly weapon in the commission of the crime charged.

This bill states that it shall be the duty of the court to determine what condition or conditions will ensure the safety of the community, secure the defendant's appearance at trial or at a hearing of the case, and facilitate pretrial release. If, after a hearing, the court finds that no conditions will reasonably assure the defendant's appearance in court or at a hearing of the court and protect public safety, the court shall issue an order explaining what condition or conditions it considered and why those conditions were inadequate.

This bill provides that in making a pretrial release decision, the court shall consider the pretrial services agency's risk assessment and recommendations on conditions of release. If the court's release decision is not consistent with the pretrial services agency's assessment and recommendations, the court shall include in its order for release a statement of the reasons.

This bill specifies that for persons who had a hearing after the district attorney filed a motion for pretrial detention, the court shall not consider the pretrial services agency's risk assessment and shall instead determine whether the person meets one of the following descriptions in order to keep detained:

- The person is charged with a capital crime;
- The person is charged with a felony involving violence or sexual assault and the person's release would likely result in great bodily harm to another person or persons;
- The person is charged with a felony offense and the person threatened another with great bodily harm and it is likely that the person would carry out the threat if released.

This bill provides that, if a person is in custody at the time of his or her arraignment, the judge or magistrate shall consider the pretrial services report and any relevant information provided by the prosecuting attorney or the defendant and order the pretrial release of the person without further conditions, subject to the person signing a release agreement. The reason for this decision shall be stated in the record.

This bill states that if a judge or magistrate determines that pretrial release, without conditions, will not reasonably assure the appearance of the person in court, the safety of the victim, or public safety, the judge or magistrate shall order pretrial release subject to a release agreement with the least restrictive further nonmonetary conditions that the judge or magistrate determines will reasonably assure the appearance of the person as required, the safety of the victim, and public safety. The court shall include in its release order a statement of the reasons for its determination.

This bill specifies that a court is not required to specify the reasons for ordering the defendant be provided the following services upon release: a reminder notification to come to court or assistance with transportation to and from court.

This bill authorizes the court to set monetary bail at the least restrictive level necessary or a combination of monetary bail and other conditions, to assure the appearance of the defendant in court and requires the court include in the release order a statement of the reasons for its determination.

This bill requires the court, in setting monetary bail, to conduct an inquiry into a person's ability to pay and to make a finding that the defendant has the present ability to pay the monetary bail set without substantial hardship.

This bill provides that a defendant for whom conditions of release are imposed and who, five days after the imposition of the conditions, continues to be detained as a result of an inability to meet the conditions of release, shall be entitled to an automatic review of the conditions by the court. The defendant may waive this review.

This bill authorizes a district attorney to file a motion seeking the pretrial detention of a person in certain circumstances, including when a person has been charged with a capital crime, a felony involving violence or sexual assault and the person's release would likely result in great bodily harm to another person or persons, or a felony offense and the person threatened another with great bodily harm and it is likely that the person would carry out the threat if released.

This bill provides that if a district attorney files a pretrial detention motion, a hearing shall be held within 48 hours to determine whether to release the person pending trial, unless the person waives the hearing.

This bill specifies that a person may be detained pretrial after a detention hearing if the court makes the following findings, which are consistent with the California Constitution:

- The defendant has been charged with a capital crime and the facts are evident or the presumption great;
- The defendant has been charged with a felony offense involving an act of violence on another person, or a felony sexual assault offense on another person, the facts are evident or the presumption great, and the court finds based upon clear and convincing evidence that there is a substantial likelihood the person's release would result in great bodily harm to another person or persons; or,
- The defendant has been charged with a felony offense, the facts are evident or the presumption great, and the court finds based on clear and convincing evidence that the person has threatened another with great bodily harm in the charged case and that there is a substantial likelihood that the person would carry out the threat if released.

This bill authorizes a defendant to execute an unsecured appearance bond, which may be required to be signed by uncompensated third parties, or a secured bond in the amount specified by the court.

This bill defines an "unsecured appearance bond" to mean an order to release a person upon his or her promise to appear in court and his or her unsecured promise to pay an amount of money, specified by the court, if he or she fails to appear as promised.

This bill authorizes a court, after a defendant has been released from custody, amend the release order to change the conditions of release, including any monetary bail, upon a change in circumstances.

This bill provides that a defendant who has violated the terms or conditions of release may be held in contempt upon a motion of the prosecuting attorney if the court finds:

- There is probable cause that the defendant has committed a crime while on pretrial release or there is evidence that the defendant has violated any condition of release; and,
- There is no condition or combination of conditions of release that would reasonably assure that the defendant will not flee or pose a danger to any other person or the community or the defendant is unlikely to abide by any condition or combination of conditions of release.

This bill requires each county to establish a pretrial services agency that would be responsible for gathering information about newly arrested persons, conducting pretrial risk assessments, preparing individually tailored recommendations to the court, and providing pretrial services and supervision to persons on pretrial release.

This bill authorizes an unnamed agency to oversee pretrial services agencies and to provide training and assistance on pretrial release to judges, prosecutors, defense attorneys, jail staff, law enforcement agencies, and pretrial services agencies.

This bill provides guidelines for the pretrial risk assessment tool which shall be selected by the unnamed agency or for existing pretrial risk assessment tools that are in compliance with these guidelines and that had been used by counties prior to the effective date of this bill.

This bill requires the Board of State and Community Corrections (BSCC), in consultation with the unnamed agency, to develop a plan that establishes statewide requirements for counties related to annual reporting of pretrial release and detention information, which includes at minimum information about the percentage of individuals released on pretrial, the percentage of those who fail to appear, those who commit new crimes while on pretrial release, and the rate of judicial concurrence with recommended conditions of release.

This bill requires each county to make publicly available its risk assessment tool guidelines, factors, weights, studies, data upon which validation studies rely, and information about how a risk assessment tool was reformed.

This bill states that it is the intent of the Legislature in enacting this act to safely reduce the number of people detained pretrial, while addressing racial and economic disparities in the pretrial system, and to ensure that people are not held in pretrial detention simply because of their inability to afford money bail.

This bill makes other conforming changes.

COMMENTS

1. Need for This Bill

According to the author of this bill:

In California, the median bail amount is $50,000 – five times higher than the national median. On any given day, approximately 60% of people in jail in California are either awaiting trial or sentencing. Many of those in California’s jails are there for no reason other than the fact that they are unable to afford money bail.

Unnecessary pretrial detention compromises defendants’ ability to defend themselves against their accusers and threatens the integrity of the criminal system. Detained defendants are 25% more likely than similarly situated released defendants to plead guilty to a crime. The incentive to get out of pretrial detention is so strong that people even plead guilty to crimes they did not commit. Studies have likewise shown that, holding all other factors constant, individuals who are detained prior to trial suffer from greater conviction rates and more severe sentencing than those who are released prior to trial.

High bail amounts and pretrial detention also disproportionately impact people of color. Studies have shown that bail amounts are 35% higher and 19% higher for African American men and Hispanic men, respectively, than for white men. Among defendants for whom monetary bail is set, Black and Hispanic defendants are twice as likely to be detained pretrial than white defendants. The disparity in drug offenses is even more stark, with the likelihood of detention for Black and Hispanic defendants being 96% and 150% higher respectively, than the odds of detention for white defendants.

In addition to penalizing pretrial defendants, our current money bail system burdens California families as well. Even a short period of pretrial detention can result in loss of employment, housing, and public benefits for the detained person – costs that then must be borne by family members already struggling to make ends meet. Family members who are able to scrape together enough money to pay a non-refundable fee to a for-profit bail company to secure a loved-one’s release from jail often end up with long-term debt to the bail company, even when their loved one is innocent of any wrongdoing and is never convicted of a crime. These costs hit women the hardest, with 83% of court-related costs on behalf of a loved one being taken on by women.

SB 10 seeks to remedy California’s failing pretrial system by reducing reliance on money bail, supporting pretrial defendants with pretrial services, focusing detention resources on those who pose a risk of danger, reducing racial disparities, and ensuring that people are not left in jail simply because they cannot afford to pay for their release. Under SB 10, courts will evaluate whether an individual can be safely released from jail pending trial, and if so under what set of conditions to assure that the person will come to court as required and avoid committing crimes.

SB 10 draws from successful models around the country and in California. For example, Kentucky utilizes a risk-assessment system and no longer relies on commercial bail and releases 70% of its pretrial defendants (68% on non-financial releases). In Kentucky, 89% of released defendants make all future court appearances, and 92% are not re-arrested while on pretrial release. Santa Clara County has implemented a successful pretrial services model and has saved $33 million in six months by keeping 1,400 defendants out of jail.

2. Bail Generally

Existing law provides a process whereby the court may set a bail amount for a criminal defendant. (Penal Code Section 1269b.) Additionally, Section 12 of Article 1 of the California Constitution provides, with limited exceptions, that a criminal defendant has a right to bail and what conditions shall be taken into consideration in setting bail. A defendant may post bail by depositing cash or an equivalent form of currency, provide a security in real property, or undertake bail using a bail bond.

The bail bond is the most likely means by which a person posts bail and is essentially a private-party contract that provides the court with a guarantee that the defendant will appear for a hearing or trial. A defendant pays a licensed bail agent a percentage of the total amount of bail ordered as a non-refundable fee – often an amount in the range of 10%. The bail agent will contract with a surety company to issue a bail bond – essentially, an insurance policy. The bond is issued providing that if the defendant fails to appear, the county will receive the full amount of bail set by the court. The bond is provided to the court and, if accepted, the defendant is released. As designed, the bail system often allows the court to rely on the private sector to ensure appearances and provide a means for the county to be made whole in the event that a person fails to appear.

While the main purpose of a bail bond is to provide some assurance that a defendant will return to court to resolve the pending charges, courts also consider the danger a released defendant will pose to the public or specific persons. Bail is set through a bail schedule that lists preset amounts of bail for various crimes. A committee of judges in each county promulgates the bail schedule for that county. (Pen. Code § 1269b, subd. (c).) A defendant or the prosecution can move the judge presiding over a particular case to raise or lower the amount of bail, or the defendant can request release on his or her own recognizance. (Pen. Code § 1275.) Additional statutory rules apply if the defendant is charged with a serious felony or domestic violence. (Pen. Code § 1270.1.)

The existing bail system has come under scrutiny because of claims that it does not promote public safety and it unfairly penalizes defendants who are poor while allowing defendants who have means to buy their way out of jail. (California's Bail System Punishes the Poor, and It's Time for the Government to Do Something About It, Skelton, Los Angeles Times (Jan. 16, 2017) <<http://www.latimes.com/politics/la-pol-sac-skelton-california-bail-system-20170116-story.html>> [as of Mar. 18, 2017].) Lawsuits have been filed across the country, including the cities of Sacramento and San Francisco, under the theory that the current bail system unfairly discriminates against the poor in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment's Equal Protection Clause. (See <<http://equaljusticeunderlaw.org/wp/current-cases/ending-the-american-money-bail-system/>> [as of Mar. 28, 2018].)

The Legislature has responded to the push for bail reform with bills that would implement major changes to the system, such as this bill and AB 42 (Bonta). The Judiciary has separately set up a working group to study current pretrial detention practices and provide recommendations for potential reforms. (Chief Justice Appoints Working Group to Recommend Changes in Pretrial Detention (Oct. 28, 2016) <<http://newsroom.courts.ca.gov/news/chief-justice-appoints-working-group-to-recommend-changes-in-pre-trial-detention>> [as of Mar. 18, 2017].)

3. Alternative to Bail: Own Recognizance Release

In cases where the defendant is likely to return to court and where the safety of the public or specific persons will not be put at risk, a court can release someone on his or her own recognizance (OR). This includes both felonies and misdemeanors. An OR release is essentially release without payment of bail pending trial or other resolution of a criminal case.

In order to be released on OR,

[T]he defendant signs a release agreement promising to appear at all required court hearings in lieu of posting bail. Before granting an OR release, the judge must evaluate the defendant's flight risk by considering the defendant's ties to the community, whether the defendant has a past record of failures to appear in court, and the possible sentence the defendant faces if convicted. The judge must also evaluate risk to public safety by considering any threats that have been made by the defendant, as well as any record of violent acts.

In counties with active pretrial programs, the judge may consider pretrial reports and recommendations based on interviews and evaluations that assess the defendant's public safety and flight risk. For example, in Marin County, the county probation department contracts with an independent agency that provides pretrial services. Using an evidence-based pretrial risk-assessment tool, agency staff evaluates eligible defendants along three dimensions: criminal history, employment and residential stability, and drug use. Following a verification process and an evaluation of danger to self or others, the agency prepares a recommendation along with a report. After approval by the probation department, the report is submitted to the court. In addition to supplying the court with recommendations and reports, these programs may also offer a range of conditional release options. These release options may include release on electronic monitoring, release with alcohol monitoring, or release to home detention. If pretrial release is not granted and bail is fixed by the court, realignment legislation also permits the sheriff to authorize the pretrial release of inmates. Under the legislation, a county board of supervisors must first designate the sheriff as the county's correctional administrator and may then authorize the correctional administrator to place pretrial jail inmates who do not pose a significant threat to public safety in an electronic monitoring program when specified conditions are met.

In some instances, an unsentenced jail inmate who has not posted bail may be released due to jail overcrowding. At implementation of realignment, 17 counties were operating under court orders that limit the number of inmates they can hold at one or more of their county facilities. Statewide, in the year before realignment, the average annual jail population was 71,060, and releases due to lack of capacity numbered 6,800 per month for unsentenced inmates and 3,900 per month for sentenced offenders.

(Tafoya, Assessing the Impact of Bail on California's Jail Population, Public Policy Institute of California (June 2013), p. 8 (citations omitted).) If a judge determines that a person should not be released on OR, then the judge can set bail with the bail schedule as a guide.

This bill repeals the current section in the Penal Code authorizing OR release and instead implement a new pretrial release procedure that would allow most people to be released, either with or without conditions, or with money bail if the court determines that it is necessary.

4. Ongoing Concerns over County Jail Populations

The most recently available data from the BSCC shows that the majority of jail inmates are unsentenced, roughly 62 percent of the population. Data shows that California relies more heavily on pretrial detention than the rest of the United States. (Sonya Tafoya, Pretrial Detention and Jail Capacity in California, Public Policy Institute of California (July 2015) <http://www.ppic.org/main/publication_quick.asp?i=1154> [as of March 15, 2017].) This dynamic strains the capacity of county jails making it necessary to release sentenced inmates, while people who have not been found guilty of any crimes wait in jail because they have not been released on OR and cannot afford to post bail.

This bill would help relieve jail overcrowding by limiting the persons who could be detained pretrial to offenders who have committed certain violent crimes.

5. The Effect of this Legislation

This bill makes several changes to the pretrial release procedures in current law.

Existing law requires each county to establish a countywide bail schedule which is used by the jails upon arrest and by the courts during arraignment to determine the amount of bail in each case. This bill does away with the countywide bail schedules and instead provides that upon arrest and booking into a county jail, the pretrial services agency shall conduct a pretrial assessment on the person and prepare a report that contains recommendations for whether the person should be released without conditions or with the least restrictive condition or conditions. In most cases involving a misdemeanor, the arrested person must be released by pretrial services upon signing a release agreement. In most felony cases, pretrial services will transmit the pretrial services report to an on-call judge, magistrate, or commissioner who will then review the pretrial services report and order that the person be released either without conditions, or with the least restrictive conditions. If a person is arrested for certain specified felonies or misdemeanors involving violence, the person cannot be released until his or her arraignment.

Existing law requires a person to be arraigned on their case within 48 hours, unless the person is arrested on Wednesday night and Friday is holiday which means that a person can remain in jail prior to arraignment for 4 days. This bill requires, if a person is arrested on a Wednesday night and that following Friday is a court holiday, the person to be arraigned on Thursday.

Existing law authorizes a judge to set bail at arraignment or separate bail hearing using the countywide bail schedule as a guide, with the ability to set bail at a higher or lower amount. The judge may also deny bail in certain situations or set bail in an amount that is restrictively high that would result in a defendant remaining in custody. The judge may also use his or her discretion to release a person on OR in any case not involving a capital crime.

As stated above, this bill gets rid of the county bail schedules and instead requires release at arraignment unless a pretrial detention motion is filed by the district attorney. At arraignment, the court is first required to consider releasing the person without any conditions, and if the court determines that releasing the person without conditions will not reasonably assure that the person will come back to court as required and assure that the defendant will not commit new crimes, the court can place nonmonetary conditions on the defendant. These conditions must be the least restrictive and the person cannot be required to pay for any conditions. Only if the court finds that the person cannot be released with nonmonetary conditions in such a way that will reasonably assure that the person will come back to court as required, can the court consider money bail. If the court imposes money bail, it must make a determination that the person has the present ability to pay and that the amount of bail ordered does not cause substantial hardship on the defendant, as defined. This bill authorizes the use of an unsecured bond or a secured bond to make bail.

This bill also provides that a person who is released pretrial may have the order modified by motion of the district attorney or defense based on a change in circumstances. Also, if a defendant has been ordered released but is still in custody after five days due to a condition of release that the defendant cannot meet, the defendant is entitled to automatic review of the order.

This bill only authorizes the pretrial detention of a person if the court finds that the person falls into one of the following categories, which is consistent with the California Constitution provisions on bail:

- The defendant has been charged with a capital crime and the facts are evident or the presumption great;
- The defendant has been charged with a felony offense involving an act of violence on another person, or a felony sexual assault offense on another person, the facts are evident or the presumption great, and the court finds based upon clear and convincing evidence that there is a substantial likelihood the person's release would result in great bodily harm to another person or persons; or,

- The defendant has been charged with a felony offense, the facts are evident or the presumption great, and the court finds based on clear and convincing evidence that the person has threatened another with great bodily harm in the charged case and that there is a substantial likelihood that the person would carry out the threat if released.

Existing law does not require counties to use a pretrial risk assessment tool and does not provide any statewide standards for pretrial assessment tools used by counties. This bill requires an agency, to be later determined, to pick a pretrial assessment tool for counties to use that meet certain specifications that are designed to avoid bias in release decisions. Counties that are already using pretrial assessment tools may continue to use them as long as they meet the required specifications. This bill requires counties to annually report to the state pretrial release and detention information, which includes at minimum information about the percentage of individuals released on pretrial, the percentage of those who fail to appear, those who commit new crimes while on pretrial release, and the rate of judicial concurrence with recommended conditions of release.

This bill requires each county to develop a pretrial services agency that meets the following specifications:

- Uses methods that research has proven to be effective in reducing unnecessary detention and to employ the least restrictive interventions and practices;
- Ensures that services provided are culturally and linguistically competent;
- Ensures that all policies and practices are developed and applied to reduce or eliminate bias based on race, ethnicity, national origin, immigration status, gender, religion, and sexual orientation; and,
- Assists pretrial defendants with complying with their conditions of release and to address noncompliance with pretrial services requirements administratively.

Under existing law, if a person is released on OR and he or she violates the terms of release or is arrested on a new charge, the person's release may be revoked and the court may either set money bail, re-release the person with new conditions or hold the person in contempt. Under the provisions of this bill, if a person is believed to be in violation of a condition of release the court may modify the release order to add conditions. In order to hold a person in contempt, the court must hold a hearing to determine whether there is probable cause that the person has committed a crime while on pretrial release or that the person has violated a condition of release and the court must determine that there is no condition or combination of conditions of release that would reasonably assure that the defendant will not flee or pose a danger to any person in the community, or that the person is unlikely to abide by any conditions of release.

6. Arguments in Support

According to Ella Baker Center for Human Rights, a co-sponsor of this bill:

This bill seeks to significantly reduce the reliance on the money bail system that punishes poverty. In its place, the bill establishes a robust pre-trial services program and the usage of a validated risk-assessment tool to determine the safe release of people, pending the resolution of their cases. It is a common sense, practical approach to enhancing public safety in California and is in line with a growing momentum of jurisdictions across the country to reduce the impact of the predatory money bail system.

In California, nearly 2/3 of the people sitting in jail are either awaiting trial or sentencing, at a significant cost to the state and vulnerable families. The State spends $5 million per day to lock up people who are waiting to go to court—totaling more than $1.8 billion annually. Families are forced to make the difficult decision between covering their basic needs like housing and paying the bail bonds agency. Families that cannot afford the 10% fee often go on payment plans that perpetuate the cycle of poverty. When a person remains in jail because they cannot afford bail, others may need to fill the financial gap he or she leaves behind, forcing family members to drop out of school to get a job, or quitting a job to take care of children that are left behind.

Further, people forced to stay in jail because they cannot afford bail face a number of additional obstacles. Many people take coercive plea deals in order to avoid waiting for trial so they can get back to their lives and familial obligations. Research has shown that compared to people who are released prior to trial, those held for their entire pretrial detention have a greater likelihood of being sentenced to jail. Studies have also shown a strong correlation between length of detention and recidivism. Compared to people who were held no more than 24 hours, those held for 8 to 14 days were 51% more likely to go back to jail for another crime. Pre-trial detention as a result of inability to pay bail can also result in loss of employment, housing, child custody rights, etc. Black men are not only less likely to be released on their own recognizance, their bail amounts are also 35% higher on average than white men. Most alarmingly, nearly 80% of all jail deaths in California occur among people who are detained pre-trial.

People of color are already over-represented in the criminal justice system and current pre-trial detention practices exacerbate these disparities. The current system of bail was designed to most severely impact those who can least afford it. SB 10 provides California with the opportunity to decriminalize poverty, reduce racial disparities, and enhances public safety outcomes.

7. Arguments in Opposition

According to the Golden State Bail Agents Association:

This bill would require the court to release a defendant being held for a misdemeanor offense on his or her own recognizance unless the court makes an additional finding on the record that there is no condition or combination of conditions that would reasonably ensure public safety and the appearance of the defendant if the defendant is released on his or her own recognizance.

SB 10 would endanger public safety by forcing the release of these high risk misdemeanor defendants without bail. Bail is an important public safety tool because it is paid for by the defendants family and close friends who cosign the bail agreement vouch for the defendant. These cosigners now have a financial incentive to make sure defendant attends all of his or her court dates. It is only going to court that defendant can be compelled to attend drunk driving and domestic violence intervention programs that can make a positive difference in a defendant's life and end the cycle of domestic abuse or drunk driving.

According to the Los Angeles Police Protective League:

California Chief Justice Cantil-Sakauye has formed the Pretrial Detention Reform Work Group to address the bail issues from a global perspective. Our understanding is that the Work Group's recommendations will be provided to Chief Justice Cantil-Sakauye in December 2017.

In order to assure that any Legislative action is made with full knowledge of the Judicial Council's Pretrial Detention Reform Work Group's recommendation we believe that Senate Bill 10 should be deferred until after those recommendations are available.

Letter to Governor Brown and the Legislature on Bail and Pre-Trial Services

Who Are We, What Do We Do?

- California bail agents have over 300,000 defendants out on bail at any one time.
- Those defendants have over 600,000 friends and family members that are legally involved, in addition to the licensed sureties, in the process to monitor, support and insure that the defendants go to court.
- If they don't go to court, these individuals all play a role in the process of returning the defendants to court or custody or otherwise pay a bond forfeiture

Evidence-Based Practices/“Scientific” Justice System

A philosophy shift from punishment to rehabilitation

“Using stuff that works?”

Will never replace human judgment, will only complement and inform it

Current National Picture

- 1567, First National Lottery in England—ten schillings
 - Prevented arrest and excused crimes for anything but murder, felonies, piracy, or treason

Current National Picture

- Bond schedules—reduce or eliminate
 - Use computer risk-assessments to help judges sort people
 - More recognizance bonds
 - Reducing/eliminating the use of financial bonds and surety bail agents
 - Using supervision in place of financial conditions
 - Adopting the New Jersey or Washington, D.C. model

Current National Picture

- Increased use of risk assessments, which if used properly, may assist judges in being better informed prior to making a decision on bail
- Most jurisdictions have not taken the step of eliminating all financial conditions or surety bonds but rather create alternatives or supplements to financial conditions
- Kentucky still has financial bail—just no surety bonds—majority of people who were released from jail posted cash up until a couple of years ago—now the number is about 1/3 of all defendants posting a financial bail bond

Cost Indicators for Local Officials

- Judicial costs—having bail setting hearings rather than letting the schedule do most of it, obtaining data, conducting risk assessments, increases in bench warrants
- Jail costs—will they increase or decrease?
- Costs of supervision and monitoring—local governments or the State will pick up the tab
- Law enforcement—failure to appear warrants will rise under the current concept of bail reform
- New Jersey Counties sued the State due to the costs of bail reform

Assumptions in “Pretrial Justice”

- 70% of people in jail nationally are there “pretrial” and are “innocent,” “have been convicted of no crime,” and “cannot afford their bail” —example, Connecticut: 78% had three or more prior convictions, and 60% had 1 or more prior felony convictions
- ABC has identified at least ten administrative or other legal reasons other than “affordability” of bail that keep people in jail
- Only a real localized jail study at the file level can isolate the magnitude of the problem and what factors, financial or not, drive it

Assumptions in “Pretrial Justice”

The following is a snapshot of 10,545 pretrial inmates in the LA County Jail and who are eligible for bail:

- 3,501 already sentenced for another crime – NO BAIL
- 2,066 with outstanding warrants – NO BAIL
- 2,014 with “no bail” designations – NO BAIL
- 1,229 with assaultive crimes – NO BAIL
- 386 who are classified as high security – NO BAIL

TOTAL ELIGIBLE FOR BAIL

(or 12% ... NOT 70%)

ABC Has Proposed Solutions

- Charge stacking
- Non-monetary holds in low level cases
- Better review procedures to make sure review process from a bond schedule or initial setting is expedited—City of Riverside
- California Penal Code needs improvement on due process
- Public-private partnerships—state pay or state contracted surety bail as an insurance product—lift the indigent up, not drag everyone else down
- Bail schedule consistency, transparency and other reforms

Problems With No Money System

- It is easy to say we don't want a "wealth-based" bail system
 - Ability to pay is one of a basket of factors, and is a consideration as to whether bail is excessive
 - The cost of bail is marginal compared to all of the other costs that offenders will be expected to pay
 - Typically, third-parties are providing a surety (financial guarantee) to the Courts and the defendant at their own expense—you would be cutting off a private benefit provided to a defendant and the Courts
 - Protects community's associational and familial rights

Problems With No Money System

- Financial conditions should have a role in the system—this option should fit within the framework and not be excluded simply because the proponents of some risk instruments designed them to eliminate financial conditions
 - Eliminating financial conditions means preventative detention will be used—clear and convincing evidence, court time, due process, heightened speedy trial requirements—New Jersey
 - Preventative detention in the federal system keeps 64% of all defendants arrested detained with no bail
 - D.C. incarcerates 15-20% of all arrestees with no bail pending trial—what is California’s number? New York’s is around 10%.

Problems With No Money System

- Too costly to go to a system with no financial conditions
- D.C. $65.2 million to handle pretrial services supervision and evaluation in a city population of 660,000
- California's population is 58 times larger—on per capita basis that is a $3.8 billion price tag for California to implement such a system
- New Jersey--$100 million first year, total annual economic cost to the state of New Jersey of $510 million

Effectiveness of Surety Bonds

“Compared to release on recognizance, defendants on financial release were more likely to make all scheduled court appearances.”

Bail Systems—Get Local

- Do not reform California’s bail system based on national talking points—California’s system is truly unique
 - Get to file-level data and analyze it
 - Example—in one county jail in California 30% of all defendants awaiting trial are facing homicide charges
 - Costs at the local level must be considered—the D.C. system may be a fine system, but is it more “fair”?
 - One Judge: “They have a lot of nice bells and whistles down there that would be nice to have, but which we cannot afford.”

Cost of Supervision and Monitoring

- It is not free—someone must pay
- Monthly tabs in many jurisdictions can be as high as $500 (Antonio Green case)
- Even a $100 a month tab will add up to $1,000 over 10 months—that is a financial condition of bail, to be borne by a county government or a defendant
- Continuous payments can ensnare defendants—miss a payment, what happens? Re-arrest?
- Who will pay for the indigent? Someone must pay

Costs of Supervision and Monitoring

“You go to the National Association of Pretrial Services Conference, or the American Parole and Probation Association, and in the vendor room is all this technology for tracking.”

*“They portray it as a great technology, and they tell all these county folks, “This doesn’t cost you anything; the defendant pays for it all!”

Cherisse Fanno Burdeen
Executive Director
Pretrial Justice Institute

Senate Bill 10/Assembly Bill 42

- Each county will be required to create a county pretrial program to: (1) assess all defendants' risk within _____ ; (2) supervise defendants; (3) provide and monitor non-monetary conditions of bail (ankle monitors, etc.); (4) provide transportation to court for defendants.
- Costs will be borne by county governments—they can file a claim to be reimbursed later—Commission on State Mandates
- No bail schedules—all bails will have to be set in open court and evidence presented in all cases—judges will blanket defendants with conditions that counties will pay for

Senate Bill 10/Assembly Bill 42

- Fugitive recovery borne by local governments
 - Right to a bail a person can afford—contrast, current law, right to a bail that is in excess
 - No one who bails today can get out of jail until a county program assessed them—this will keep everyone in jail longer at the front end
 - Constitutional questions—victims constitutional rights in bail context presuppose current system
 - Creation of _____ state agency to oversee and regulate work of each county program

Senate Bill 10/Assembly Bill 42

- “Ongoing reimbursable state-mandated costs in the hundreds of millions of dollars for each county to establish and administer the pretrial services agencies.”
 - “Ongoing annual costs in the tens to hundreds of millions of dollars for court appointed counsel.”
 - “Ongoing costs in the tens of millions of dollars for the unnamed agency to comply with the provisions of this bill, which include one-time costs for the development of the risk assessment by an unspecified date, and ongoing annual costs to provide monitoring and assistance to pretrial services agencies.”

Senate Bill 10/Assembly Bill 42

- “Unknown but significant savings to counties for reduced incarceration costs.”
- Savings are unlikely to overwhelm the costs
- In New Jersey, one county reduced year over year jail population by 20% but still could not say they achieved any savings
- Risk-based system—SB 10/AB 42 lack the hammer of expanded preventative detention, which has been a key part of the reforms proposed and adopted in other states (NJ, NM)

Senate Bill 10/Assembly Bill 42

- Eliminates local control—pretrial services was created to address this very problem of lack of access to bail and allow local governments to manage their jail populations by giving judges other alternatives
- Local governments can carefully weigh the costs and benefits (Santa Clara example)
- Under this legislation, local government programs will be regulated by the state and forced to comply with a host of state regulatory mandates in addition to bearing the costs

Contra Costa

To: Board of Supervisors
From: LEGISLATION COMMITTEE
Date: July 28, 2020

Subject: Microenterprise Home Kitchen Operations

RECOMMENDATION(S):

CONSIDER adopting the recommendation from the Legislation Committee (Mitchoff/Burgis) to not have Contra Costa County opt into a Microenterprise Home Kitchens Operations program and to not allow Microenterprise Home Kitchen Operations to be established in Contra Costa County.

FISCAL IMPACT:

No fiscal impact to the County at this time. If the Board of Supervisors were to adopt an ordinance or resolution to permit microenterprise home kitchen operations in Contra Costa County, the Environmental Health Department would need to develop and charge permit fees to support a Microenterprise Home Kitchen Operations program in Contra Costa County.

BACKGROUND:

At its July 13, 2020 meeting, the Legislation Committee received the following report on Microenterprise Home Kitchen Operations (MEHKO's) from the Director of Environmental Health, Jocelyn Stortz, and considered this matter before acting to support staff's recommendation that Contra Costa County not adopt an ordinance to permit the establishment of MEHKO's in Contra Costa County.

BACKGROUND: (CONT'D)

Prior to 2012, the California Retail Food Code (CRFC), required all food sold to consumers to be made at an inspected commercial kitchen. With the passage of the California Homemade Food Act known as “cottage food operations” (CFO) in 2013, certain low risk (i.e. shelf-stable, non-perishable) food products such as bread, fruit jams, and dried fruit could be made in private home kitchens and be sold to consumers under limited conditions.

On September 18, 2018, then Governor Brown signed Assembly Bill 626 (AB 626), making an amendment to the California Retail Food Code: Microenterprise Home Kitchen Operations which established “microenterprise home kitchen operation” (MEHKO) as a new category of retail food facility. MEHKOs are restaurants in a private residence operated by the resident and are allowed to produce a very broad variety of complex food products that the CFO permit does not allow.

Assembly Bill 626 and 377 (Eduardo Garcia)

https://leginfo.legislature.ca.gov/faces/billNavClient.xhtml?bill_id=201720180AB626
https://leginfo.legislature.ca.gov/faces/billTextClient.xhtml?bill_id=201920200AB377

Assembly Bill 626 was signed into law by Governor Brown on September 18, 2018 and became effective on January 1, 2019. This bill, known as the Homemade Food Act, allows for home cooks to sell potentially hazardous foods to the public.

The intent of the bill was to provide economic opportunities for those who were limited by the cost and other barriers to starting a food business. Under it, residents of single family homes can operate what are referred to as microenterprise home kitchen operations, which can earn up to $50,000 in revenue per year by cooking meals or items at their homes’ kitchens. Meal sales are capped at 30 meals per day, or 60 meals per week. So-called homecooks must obtain California food handler card certification, which can be obtained through completing online training and passing a test. Kitchens must pass an on-site inspection in order to be permitted. Under AB 626, prepared food can be picked up or sent out, as well as consumed at the home.

Although the bill passed the California state legislature and was signed by the Governor, it is up to each county in California to adopt the law. The county or city can choose to “opt-in” by ordinance or resolution to allow Microenterprise Home Kitchen Operations (MEHKOs) in their jurisdiction¹. Riverside County was the first county to opt-in to AB 626. Solano County has opted in, and San Mateo County has a 2-year pilot project.

Subsequent to the passage of AB 626, a clean-up bill (Assembly Bill 377) was signed into law by Governor Newsom. This bill became effective on October 7, 2019.

This clean-up bill includes and clarifies the following:

1. Prohibits a MEHKO from producing, manufacturing, processing, freezing, or packaging milk or milk products, including, but not limited to, cheese and ice cream;
2. Modifies the conditions for a city, county, or city and county to permit MEHKO within its jurisdiction. The County is the only entity allowed to opt in by ordinance or resolution, except if a city has their own environmental health enforcement agency (e.g., City of Berkeley);
3. Modifies the inspections and food safety standards applicable to MEHKO;
4. Prohibits an internet food service intermediary or a MEHKO from using the word ‘catering’ or any variation of that word in a listing or advertisement of a

- microenterprise home kitchen operation's offer of food for sale;
5. Requires MHKO to include specific information, including its permit number, in its advertising; and
 6. Prohibits third party delivery service from delivering food produced by a MEHKO, except to an individual who has a physical or mental condition that is a disability which limits the individual's ability to access the food without the assistance of a third-party delivery service.

Concerns of Staff:

1. Several of the exceptions for a MEHKO in Section 114367.1 of the Health and Safety Code undermine established food safety practices and engineering controls that mitigate cross contamination, which is identified by Center for Disease Control (CDC) to be a contributing factor that lead to food borne illness outbreaks. These exceptions include:

- Dedicated handwash sink in the food preparation area;
- Dedicated sinks, warewashing machines, and manual/machine sanitation;
- Prohibition on the presence of persons unnecessary to the food facility operation in the food preparation, food storage, or warewashing area;
- Limitations on employee consumption of food drink or tobacco outside of designated areas;
- Limitations on consumer access to the food facility through food preparation areas;
- Providing display guard, cover and container requirements;
- Providing clean drinking cups and tableware for second portions and beverage refills;
- Requirements that food facility premises be free of litter; and
- Limitations on the presence and handling of animals.

2. Inspection requirements in Section 114367.3 of the Health and Safety Code limit health and safety routine inspections to once a year and complaint/emergency inspections as they come up. All inspections must be scheduled with the owner.

The benefit of conducting unscheduled inspections is that the Registered Environmental Health Specialist (REHS) can observe normal behavior in how the food facility is maintained and their food handling practices. Scheduling an inspection may change the behavior and food handling practices of the food employees.

By conducting an unscheduled inspection, the REHS gets a snapshot in time which represents normal business operations. This gives the REHS the information needed to educate the operator on proper food handling practices and ultimately stop a health hazard from occurring.

3. Lack of dedicated hand wash sink

- Per the CDC, "a large percentage of foodborne disease outbreaks are spread by contaminated hands." California Retail Food Code (CRFC) requires providing handwashing facilities exclusively for handwashing in food preparation areas.

Handwashing facilities shall be sufficient in number and conveniently located so as to be accessible at all times for use by food employees.

- With the handwashing facility only in the bathroom, those preparing food may not be able to access it if the bathroom is occupied. And, if the previous user of the toilet did not wash their hands, the food employee could have their hands contaminated when they touched the doorknob of the restroom.
- Not providing a dedicated handwash station in the food preparation area may prevent those preparing food from washing their hands as often as needed. The kitchen & sink may be stacked with equipment/utensils/food that there isn't room to encourage proper hand hygiene.

Environmental Health's concerns with the exceptions availed by the bill would be mitigated by the home cook working out of a permitted production kitchen which would exclude unnecessary personnel and animals, have the required equipment, and maintain necessary sanitation, etc., which would make food processing and handling safer.

1. AB 377, Chapter 536, Section 114367 states "The governing body of a city, county, or city and county that is designated as the enforcement agency, as defined in Section 113773, may authorize, by ordinance or resolution, within its jurisdiction the permitting of microenterprise home kitchen operations in accordance with this chapter. If a governing body of a city, county, or city and county authorizes the permitting of microenterprise home kitchen operations, the authorization shall apply to all areas within its jurisdiction, including being applicable to all cities within a county that authorizes microenterprise home kitchen operations, regardless of whether each city located within the jurisdiction of the county separately authorizes them.

CONSEQUENCE OF NEGATIVE ACTION: If the Board of Supervisors does not adopt this recommendation to not permit MEHKO's in Contra Costa County, the matter would be referred back to the Legislation Committee for reconsideration of the recommendation.

has met the provisions for transition from project to the merit system in accordance with PMR Section 1603.1 - Transfer of Project Positions. Section 1603.1 of the Personnel Management Regulations states that when the Board of Supervisors establishes as regular service a program initially established by the Board for a specific limited period as part of an approved project, employees who have served in Project positions for at least one (1) year shall be included in the merit system if the Director of Human Resources recommends such inclusion, the Board of Supervisor approves the classification and its addition to the merit system, and the employees were originally appointed to the project position(s) from an eligible list on an open competitive basis. The incumbent of position #14610 was appointed from an eligible list on an open competitive basis and has served more than one (1) year in that classification, having been appointed on April 1, 2016.

In addition, the Communicable Disease division recently had a Staff Nurse-Per Diem employee vacate their position – this employee had been working 12 hours per week. Rather than backfill the vacated Per Diem position, the department is instead requesting to increase the hours of position #14610 from 12/40 to 20/40, and position #9965 from 20/40 to 24/40; which will allow these two permanent positions to absorb the duties previously performed by the Staff Nurse-Per Diem.

RECOMMENDATION(S):

APPROVE and AUTHORIZE the Conservation and Development Director, or designee, to execute a subcontract agreement with the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) to accept funding in the amount not to exceed $861,810 from the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC), through ABAG, to support marketing, education, and outreach for energy efficiency programs for the period of January 1, 2020 through December 31, 2022.

FISCAL IMPACT:

There will be no impact to the General Fund. The CPUC funding is expected to cover all costs incurred to support the BayREN program.

BACKGROUND:

In July 2012, the County entered into a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) establishing the Bay Area Regional Energy Network (BayREN), a collaborative partnership among the nine Bay Area counties (Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, Napa, San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Solano, and Sonoma Counties) and led by the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG), for the purpose of facilitating the implementation of energy efficiency programs throughout the Bay Area. BACKGROUND: (CONT'D)

In late 2012, the CPUC approved BayREN as a pilot program (effective January 1, 2013) to implement Energy Efficiency (EE) Programs for the purpose of filling gaps in EE Program activities not being offered by the Investor Owned Utility's (IOUs, such as PG&E) or Community Choice Aggregators (CCAs, such as MCE).

Since 2013, all BayREN counties have been receiving CPUC funding each calendar year to provide marketing, education and outreach for various EE Programs offered through BayREN. On May 31, 2018, the CPUC approved, among other things, the BayREN business plan that increased the annual BayREN budget by approximately $5.8 Million and allocating a similar amount of funding each year thereafter through calendar year 2025 (Decision 18-05-041).

The business plan allowed BayREN to design and implement EE Programs for residential and commercial buildings, as well as activities related to energy code compliance. The residential and commercial programs offer free technical services and financial incentives (rebates) if owners/contractors make specific energy efficiency improvements to existing single-family, multi-family or commercial buildings. Also included is a green labeling program that provides incentives to homeowners and participating contractors to offer a home energy score to interested single-family homeowners. The Building Codes and Standards subprogram provides, among other things, various resources to support local government officials with building energy code compliance and enforcement. Continued implementation and expansion of these energy efficiency programs are consistent with the County's Climate Action Plan adopted in 2015.

The proposed subcontract agreement between ABAG and Contra Costa County will allow the County continued access to CPUC funding allocated to ABAG to implement BayREN subprograms throughout Contra Costa County. The amount specified in the agreement is not to exceed $861,810 and will cover the period of January 1, 2020 through December 31, 2022. These funds are to cover County costs associated with promoting the program for both incorporated and unincorporated areas of the County. Technical services and rebates offered by BayREN for these activities are directly administered by ABAG and are funded separately under the overall BayREN budget approved by the CPUC.

Under the subcontract, the County must indemnify the other counties and ABAG for claims alleging intellectual property infringement related to materials the County prepares under the Agreement. The County also must indemnify ABAG, the CPUC, and Pacific Gas and Electric (PG&E) from any third-party claims or liabilities that arise from the County's performance of its obligations under the subcontract.

CONSEQUENCE OF NEGATIVE ACTION:

The County will not receive funding to participate in BayREN activities or provide the associated energy efficiency program services to local residents and property owners. The County would also not have funding to support the energy efficiency activities specified in the County's Climate Action Plan.

49	Describe any service contract options for the items included in your proposal.	Staples offers a number of lease/service agreement options to meet Sourcewell Members' unique product and/or service needs. These lease options may include the following products and/or services and may require additional signed agreements between Staples and the requesting Sourcewell Member: Coffee: We provide the coffee brewer, installation; maintenance and service through the term of the lease as long as the minimum spend requirements are met for coffee products. Minimum spend requirements vary by type of brewer. Water: Program offered is a lease agreement – the customer pays established fees per month and Staples installs, maintains and services the filtration unit. 50	Describe any performance standards or guarantees that apply to your services (back-orders, retired products, substitutions, order delays or problems, metrics, etc.).	Delivering your order complete, correct, undamaged and on-time is as important to us as it is to you. Our Supply Chain Quality Assurance team partners cross-functionally within the Staples organization to drive an outstanding customer experience. This means we strive for orders to be picked complete and correct, delivered on-time to the correct location, without damages or defects, every day. The Staples' Supply Chain Quality Program includes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Quality Assurance Supervisors and Leads located in each of our fulfillment centers to drive process improvements • A central Supply Chain Quality Assurance team that develops tools and processes to help local Quality Assurance teams identify and address defects within the order fulfillment process • Conducting weekly interactive and cross-functional collaboration forums to share best demonstrated practices and trends within the business • Tracking key metrics on a daily, weekly and monthly basis THE PROOF IS IN THE NUMBERS We track a variety of metrics to measure quality and service throughout our fulfillment and delivery operations. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Fill Rate – Calculated as the percentage of in-stock items shipped from your primary fulfillment center. Our fill rate for 2018 was 97.1%. • Missing & Wrong Rate – Calculated as the percentage of total orders with an error. We count each issue within one order as separate errors. Our missing and wrong rate for 2018 was 0.37%. • Returns Rate – Calculated as the percentage of returns placed. When returns occur, we have processes in place to credit you quickly. Our returns rate for 2018 was 1.45%. • Delivered by Date Confirmed – Calculated as the percent of fulfilled shipments (excluding dropship) where all cartons were delivered on or before the date promised at order confirmation. Our delivered by date confirmed rate for 2018 was 92%. If quality levels fall below expectations, we use a combination of root cause analysis and process improvement techniques to identify and resolve the problem. Our continuous improvement processes have resulted in year-over-year quality level improvement. BACKORDERS Staples goes to great lengths to stock the right assortment of products to meet our customers' needs. We use sophisticated inventory models to ensure that items are stocked in the right fulfillment centers and in the right quantities. We continuously gather customer input to determine which products to include in future stocking models, including the slower moving but necessary ones. Staples' fulfillment logic can source an item from the next closest fulfillment center or a wholesaler when an item is temporarily out of stock. This platform technology allows Staples to fulfill a high percentage of orders immediately. Orders filled by wholesalers are married up with your Staples orders for seamless, on-time delivery. During the implementation process, Staples can work with participating Members to eliminate wholesale items from your core list to offer the best selection of items at the optimal price. Users on StaplesAdvantage.com can also confirm that an item will be delivered the next business day by viewing the Expected Delivery Date notification which automatically displays per item during check out. The checkout page displays a banner when there's an out of stock item. This provides the end user with the opportunity to choose a replacement the item, if preferred. When backorder situations occur, customers receive an email notification alerting them of the delay and of the expected delivery date.

Line Item	Question	Response *
51	What are your payment terms (e.g., net 10, net 30)?	Staples' standard payment terms are Net 30 days. Each participating Member will remit all invoice payments, including all taxes on its product purchases to Staples in thirty (30) calendar days from receipt of invoice, unless otherwise agreed to in writing by Staples and Member. In the event a participating Member fails to comply in any material respect with the foregoing payment terms, Staples may, at its sole discretion and in addition to any other right or remedy available under applicable law or in equity, immediately suspend all deliveries to such Member's location(s) by written notice to such participating Member and to Sourcwell.

52	Do you provide leasing or financing options, especially those options that schools and governmental entities may need to use in order to make certain acquisitions?	Staples is flexible and utilizes multiple third-party leasing sources for eligible Staples customers. Participating Members may have an existing relationship with their own choice of leasing providers, and we may work with that provider if mutually agreed to. Leasing terms and conditions vary by lease provider and the requirements of the acquisition and are determined as the solution is developed and the leasing source is finalized. Our broad range of leasing options is flexible so that you can tailor the length, acquisition type and amount of your payments to meet your business' needs. Lease options include capital or operating lease options, giving you end of term options to keep (own), upgrade or return assets. Leases may allow for certain soft expenses like service, software and accessories to be include in the monthly payments for an asset acquired under lease. Staples can work with your organization to help finalize the option that best suits your needs.
53	Briefly describe your proposed order process. Include enough detail to support your ability to report quarterly sales to Sourcewell as described in the Contract template. For example, indicate whether your dealer network is included in your response and whether each dealer (or some other entity) will process the Sourcewell Members' purchase orders.	Staples operates as a reseller/distributor and does not have a dealer network. Our key business goals center on helping our customers simplify the ordering process, eliminating hidden costs in the procurement process and enhancing delivery accuracy. We offer a variety of ordering methods to achieve these goals: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Online via StaplesAdvantage.com • Mobile App • Electronic Data Interchange (EDI) • Third-party interface • Buy Online, Pick Up in Store • Telephone (toll-free number) ORDER FULFILLMENT PROCESS 1) Order Placement – Once Staples receive the participating Member's order, it is entered into our order management system. Our system manages customer requirements and validates each order as it is placed. 2) Order Sourcing & Routing – Once in our system, the order goes through a standardized process that determines how to fill the order. The system chooses the best location to source the item, either from the primary or secondary fulfillment center or from a wholesaler — whichever will provide the shortest delivery time for the customer. 3) Box Creation – Next, the warehouse management system creates the optimal box size for each order. Our system analyzes the dimension and weight of each product to ensure their order is protected against damages without excess packaging material. Each carton receives a unique barcode to track it throughout the order cycle in our package tracking system. 4) Order Picking & Quality Control – Fulfillment associates pick orders, inspect for quality and pack orders for shipment. Methods for picking orders include pick-to-light, robotic picking and system-generated tasks to pick everything from a full pallet of paper to an individual toner cartridge. Sophisticated conveyor systems direct cartons through the required pick zones, through Quality Control for final inspection and then finally onto the correct truck for delivery. We perform regular analysis to ensure every order is a complete order — delivered the next business day, without substitutions or damaged, wrong or missing items. 5) Delivery – Once the source for an order is determined, our order management system determines the best method for delivery. Package tracking information uploads into our system once the fulfillment center processes the order for shipping. This tracking system reduces delays, errors and provides visibility to Customer Service Representatives and delivery associates. Customers can check the status of their orders through package tracking on our e-commerce site without contacting customer service. QUARTERLY REPORTING TO SOURCEWELL Staples understands this requirement and has the ability to provide quarterly reporting as requested. However, further discussion is requested on the distribution methods for reporting due to the size and scope of the metrics and transactions to be included.
54	Do you accept the P-card procurement and payment process? If so, is there any additional cost to Sourcewell Members for using this process?	Yes. Procurement Cards (P-Cards) represented by one of the major credit cards (Visa, MasterCard, American Express and Discover) may be used at the time of purchase. However, P-cards may not be used to pay invoices.

Table 11: Pricing and Delivery

Provide detailed pricing information in the questions that follow below. Keep in mind that reasonable price and product adjustments can be made during the term of an awarded Contract as described in the RFP, the template Contract, and the Sourcwell Price and Product Change Request Form.

Line Item	Question	Response *

Provide detailed pricing data (including standard or list pricing and the Sourcwell discounted price) on all of the items that you want Sourcwell to consider as part of your RFP response. Staples will work with Sourcewell and affected Members to identify alternative products to mitigate the impact of the foregoing where possible. Updated Items. For purposes of contract management, Staples may provide to Sourcewell an updated report no more than once a calendar quarter, which shall identify the SKU numbers and prices for the new items that Staples and Sourcewell have added, as well as SKU numbers for items that have been removed from the from the Core List. 57	Describe any quantity or volume discounts or rebate programs that you offer.	Our proposal reflects updated attributes related to pricing, rebates and incentives based on our experience with Sourcewell participating Members' behaviors and desires, as well as market conditions. Staples may offer additional pricing discounts and/or incentives to an individual participating Member based upon commitments and variables that may include, but not limited to, Member size and scope, geography, purchase volume, guarantees, logistical expenses, manufacturer support, specific product usage and other contractual terms/requirements. Members receiving custom pricing or incentives may be required to sign a Participation Agreement with Staples.
58	Propose a method of facilitating "sourced" products or related services, which may be referred to as "open market" items or "nonstandard options". For example, you may supply such items "at cost" or "at cost plus a percentage," or you may supply a quote for each such request.	Staples customers frequently request we source goods and services on their behalf that could be non-stock or custom in nature and are within the scope of our sourcing and distribution capabilities. Staples will also facilitate access to these "Sourced Goods" and services to Sourcewell and its participating Members. Despite having hundreds of thousands of items available through our e-commerce site, Staples customers often have unique product sourcing needs that range from forklifts to industry-specific proprietary items. To fulfill these unique requests for our customers, Staples maintains a highly specialized non-stock procurement team available to assist our customers with these unique requests. Users can submit special order requests directly through our e-commerce site or through your Staples Account Manager. The non-stock procurement team works diligently to fulfill your product needs quickly and at the lowest possible cost. The prices for Sourced Goods shall be those prices that appear on the ordering platform at time of order, or as otherwise established between Staples and the applicable participating Member at the time the order is placed. Sourced Goods may include additional delivery or handling charges that would be the responsibility of the ordering Member.
59	Identify any element of the total cost of acquisition that is NOT included in the pricing submitted with your response. This includes all additional charges associated with a purchase that are not directly identified as freight or shipping charges. For example, list costs for items like pre-delivery inspection, installation, set up, mandatory training, or initial inspection. Identify any parties that impose such costs and their relationship to the Proposer.	There may be additional services available which are associated with certain products, including, but not limited to: furniture, facilities, technology, or water/coffee dispensers, etc. which at the option of the Member may be purchased or leased at the time of order/agreement. The costs for such services shall be paid to Staples by the Sourcewell Member. Additionally, there may be some items, typically furniture, where there may be an additional fee charge by the manufacturers that will be passed along to the ordering participating Member.
60	If freight, delivery, or shipping is an additional cost to the Sourcewell Member, describe in detail the complete freight, shipping, and delivery program.	Staples does not apply additional charges or fees for standard delivery. However, there are some special exceptions where a delivery or special handling fee may apply. Surcharges are calculated on a per-order basis. Freight will be listed as a line item charge for all Staples Promotional Products orders.

Import/Export. If Staples agrees to export Products from the U.S. to Buyer's locations outside the U.S. (including but not limited to Mexico, Canada and all U.S. Possessions and Territories) (for these purposes referred to as "Other Locations"), the following applies: (a) Staples will not be the Importer of Record for any Products shipping to Other Locations. Buyer or Buyer's agent shall nominate a customs clearing agent to act on its behalf and to facilitate the import customs clearance process. Buyer shall be responsible for obtaining any documentation, such as special permit(s) or license(s) that may be required to import Products; (b) Buyer shall be responsible for payment of any customs clearance and duties and taxes and the full freight cost of the shipment; (c) Staples will not provide Certificates of Origin (C/O) or Free Trade Agreement certificates; (d) Staples will not export the following Products: ORM-D (Other Regulated Materials-Domestic); consumables; and/or Products prohibited from export by Staples' vendors; (e) Staples will not export Products to Other Locations in the event any export restriction applies; and (f) Staples will not accept returns from Other Locations unless agreed in writing.

62 Describe any unique distribution and/or delivery methods or options offered in your proposal.

Staples delivers an average of 675,000 cartons per day. Our delivery experience, combined with our advanced distribution network, makes us the industry leader. We recently increased the square footage across our 24 strategically located fulfillment centers, ensuring we have more product in stock for next-business-day deliveries. Staples uses a combination of our own fleet, national delivery services, Staples-exclusive carriers and third-party couriers to ensure the fastest, most efficient delivery options for our customers. Our third-party couriers undergo a rigorous evaluation process and we require them to meet our customers' service level agreements. Staples couriers are selected based on the caliber of their management and delivery drivers, their equipment and, more specifically, their ability to provide timely and excellent customer service.

PREMIUM DELIVERY OPTIONS

As part of each participating Member's account setup, we may meet to discuss the individual needs and develop delivery protocols that make it easy to do business with Staples. Our normal delivery hours are 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. local time, Monday through Friday. Requests for premium delivery service are vetted by our internal transportation team prior to approval. Examples of delivery service exceptions we have approved in the past include:

- Specific delivery windows (before noon, after 10:00 a.m., etc.)
- Desktop delivery (desk to desk)
- Inside delivery (specific floor)
- Mailroom delivery (by floor)
- Delivery to copy areas (where we leave a fixed number of cases of paper per mailroom, in some cases, stocking the shelves)
- Loading boxes through an X-ray machine prior to making delivery

Additional costs may apply for premium services and is customized based on each participating Member's specific requirements.

SAME-DAY DELIVERIES

Same-business-day delivery can be investigated as a possibility by contacting Staples Customer Service. To ensure all appropriate process checks are completed, we recommend a cut-off time of 11:30 a.m. local time. To account for added transportation costs and courier fees incurred on our end, we do require a separate charge for same-business-day requests.

Our industry-leading network of U.S. stores gives participating Members easy same-day purchasing solutions. Your employees can make in-store purchases and receive your customer pricing for both office supplies and a full range of print and marketing solutions. Or, use our Buy Online, Pick Up in Store option, and your items will be available for pickup in less than one hour.

There are some exceptions to same-day delivery service. The delivery location must be within 50 miles of a Staples fulfillment center. Further, the fulfillment center must have the capacity to handle the request that day. In addition, the following items cannot be delivered same day:

- Furniture
- HAZMAT items (this includes items that contain Lithium batteries)
- Liquid
- Food and beverage items
- Custom items
- Drop ship or special-order items
- Orders containing more than six SKUs

BUY ONLINE, PICK UP IN STORE

Participating Members can purchase a wide variety of items on StaplesAdvantage.com and pick their items up in one hour or less at any of our U.S. retail stores. This allows your users to buy within your established purchasing program, with your contract rules and pricing, for same-day purchases. Users can even filter by Pick Up in Store to make those emergency purchases quicker.

PRINT TO STORE

Participating Members can also use Staples' Print to Store option to print directly from their computer to any Staples retail location for pickup. From black & white or color printing to binding and booklet options, Print to Store offers more than 2,000 finishing configurations for your employees' printing needs. Print to Store bills directly to your Staples account, ensuring compliance and more robust tracking while providing easy, on-the-go printing services for your remote and traveling employees.

Participating Members can upload and reconfigure their documents, save their files for future reordering and proof all orders online before submitting. At any time, they can submit their orders right from their desktop to Staples, with delivery to any Staples retail location.

STAPLES PROMOTIONAL PRODUCTS

Staples Promotional Products has a 500,000 square foot contract decoration and distribution center in Orange City, IA. This facility does embroidery, screen print, laser engraving, digital heat transfer, and more. We have pick-to-voice technology and use a pack-right shipping system to cut boxes to the order size. Our facility is centrally located for distribution throughout the U.S. We also use FedEx as our preferred shipper but can utilize any major carrier service. As of 2019, it's also moved to achieve zero waste to landfill status.

Additionally, Staples provides a wide variety of products and services, including many that are customized and therefore, based on customers' specifications. As a result, while pricing may vary, Staples feels that its proposal provides competitive pricing and exceptionally strong value-added attributes.

Table 13: Audit and Administrative Fee

64	Specifically describe any self-audit process or program that you plan to employ to verify compliance with your proposed Contract with Sourcewell. This process includes ensuring that Sourcewell Members obtain the proper pricing, that the Vendor reports all sales under the Contract each quarter, and that the Vendor remits the proper administrative fee to Sourcewell.	At Staples, we take our national contract obligations seriously. We have a long history of providing accurate pricing and conducting compliance audits with Sourcewell and its participating Members. To maintain contract compliance, we continually verify our pricing data and hold ourselves accountable to the highest internal pricing standards. As such, we have multiple processes in place to ensure pricing accuracy and consistency. For example, national contract pricing is managed and maintained by a single, knowledgeable and experienced pricing team. This ensures that all pricing is consistent with the contract terms and requirements. We also review pricing on a regular basis and compare it to the contract pricing requirements. This further guarantees that your participating Members receive pricing that is consistent. Staples may also work with manufacturers to frequently spot-check and audit pricing and discounts that are applied to customer orders. Additional audits and periodic pricing checks may be conducted randomly throughout the term of the contract to add an extra level of protection and audit control as deemed necessary to maintain our pricing integrity.
65	Identify a proposed administrative fee that you will pay to Sourcewell for facilitating, managing, and promoting the Sourcewell Contract in the event that you are awarded a Contract. This fee is typically calculated as a percentage of Vendor's sales under the Contract or as a per-unit fee; it is not a line-item addition to the Member's cost of goods. (See the RFP and template Contract for additional details.)	Unless otherwise mutually agreed to in writing by Sourcewell and Staples, and except as stated below, Staples will pay Sourcewell an administrative fee of one and half percent (1.5%) of the Members' aggregate Net Sales during each calendar quarter, which have been timely paid, to be paid within forty five (45) days after the end of each calendar quarter. An exception to the above 1.5% admin fee would be that Staples will pay Sourcewell one half of one percent (0.5%) administrative fee for participating Members' aggregate Net Sales under the managed print services ("MPS") program of the Contract and one quarter of one percent (0.25%) on technology product Net Sales. Net Sales. Net Sales will be defined as the gross sales price of the applicable products sold pursuant to this Contract, less shipping costs (including freight charges and insurance), taxes, duties, any rebates actually paid, discounts and allowances actually taken, rejections and returns to the extent credit is given or paid, and also excluding purchases made via staples.com, or any Staples retail channel.

Table 15: Industry Specific Questions

Line Item	Question	Response *
79	If you are awarded a contract, provide a few examples of internal metrics that will be tracked to measure whether you are having success with the contract.	Some internal metrics used to measure success with the contract include number of participating Members under the contract, geographic distribution of participating Members, sales and number of orders by participating Member and year over year sales growth. Additionally, success metrics can be mutually established and measured in scheduled business reviews between Staples and Sourcewell. Having serviced Sourcewell participating Members for many years, we know that we need to continually raise the bar in our national contract performance. As a current Sourcewell awarded supplier, we commit to increasing our overall value with the built-in flexibility to accommodate the evolving needs of your participating Members.

80	If you are a dealer, distributor, or reseller, describe your capabilities for verification of product authenticity, quality control, and documentation of custody in your supply chain.	Staples is committed to providing high quality products that last, leading to fewer returns, fewer reorders and less frustration for our customers. To uphold this commitment, we capture reporting and regularly audit the quality of the products we source from suppliers, as well as from Staples-exclusive products. Staples' strict product sourcing process assures that products offered are genuine by sourcing products only from OEMs and authorized resellers to mitigate the risk of cloned, fake or counterfeit products that could potentially put Sourcewell Members at risk. ANNUAL VENDOR REVIEWS We only source from the most trusted and reputable suppliers in our industry, including leading wholesalers and brands such as 3M, HP, Avery and HON. We conduct annual vendor contract reviews to measure our suppliers' quality performance. We evaluate the number of returns placed on their products as well as general customer satisfaction survey feedback. At 1.45%, our low product-return rate is a testament to our relentless focus on quality. PAPER & WOOD-BASED PRODUCT SOURCING POLICY We also actively work with our key paper suppliers to ensure transparency into their sourcing and production methods with respect to environmental and social responsibility. The majority of our paper suppliers have achieved chain of custody certification with one or more programs, including the Forest Stewardship Council (FSC) and Sustainable Forestry Initiative (SFI). Approximately 90% of the paper products we sell by weight in the U.S. are manufactured and/or distributed by vendors with FSC chain of custody certification, including brands like Domtar, International Paper, Georgia Pacific, Kimberly Clark, 3M, Esselte, Fellowes, Marcal and others. Our Paper and Wood Based Product Sourcing Policy forms the foundation of our commitment to ensure the paper products we sell are sourced in an environmentally and socially responsible manner. It also defines our expectations for suppliers of paper-based products. The policy focuses on four key areas: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Protecting forest resources and communities by seeking to source certified products • Reducing demand for virgin wood fiber • Sourcing from suppliers committed to environmental excellence • Promoting responsibly sourced paper and wood products to our customers PROGRAMS & PARTNERSHIPS We collaborate with a few key non-profits to help us improve paper and wood product sustainability. This includes partnerships with the Rainforest Alliance on the Appalachian Woodlands Alliance and various projects with the Forest Products Working Group (FPWG), an initiative of GreenBlue. PRODUCT BRANDS EXCLUSIVE TO STAPLES QUALITY ASSURANCE Product brands exclusive to Staples are subject to a comprehensive Quality Assurance program that includes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Product Design – Product brands exclusive to Staples are designed to meet or exceed national brand equivalent specifications. • Factory Certification – Production facilities in developing countries undergo third-party audits to uphold our standards for social responsibility and to guarantee practices are in place to deliver quality products. • Rigorous Testing & Inspection – All products are engineer-tested for quality in leading independent labs. Inspectors pull samples from the production line to confirm that products are manufactured to our exact specifications before they ship to our warehouses. • Continuous Monitoring – Throughout a product's lifecycle, inspectors pull samples for follow-up lab testing to certify that the product still meets our specifications. MONITORING PRODUCT QUALITY On the rare occasion that a product fails to meet a Member's satisfaction, we offer fast and easy resolution methods: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Purchasers can return any item using our no-hassle online returns process or by contacting Customer Service. • We arrange driver pickup for all product returns at no cost to participating Members. We thoroughly analyze damaged or defective items and ensure our manufacturers address the underlying quality issue. Your Staples Account Manager will share corrective actions and report on progress during regular business reviews.

81	Describe your ability to address member concerns related to packaging, including product markings, safety, warnings, waste reduction, packaging toxicity, recycling and/or re-use, etc.	PRODUCT CERTIFICATIONS & ECO-LABELING Within our core product assortment, we have identified thousands of items that meet third-party standards and certifications. This is a significant subset of our total assortment of nearly 15,000 products with environmental features, which includes products with recycled content or other design features like solar powered, rechargeable and refillable. The certifications and standards we track include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • AP certified non-toxic • Bluesign certified clothing product • BPI compostable • Cradle to Cradle certified • EcoLogo certified • ENERGY STAR qualified • EPA Comprehensive Procurement Guidelines • EPA Design for the Environment (DfE) for Pesticides registered • EPA Safer Choice registered • EPA WaterSense certified • EPEAT qualified • EWG verified • Fair Trade certified • Food Alliance certified • Forest Stewardship Council (FSC) certified • GREENGUARD certified • Green Seal certified • Indoor Advantage certified • Level certified • Made by a Certified B Corporation • Made Safe certified • PMA non-toxic • Rainforest Alliance certified • Roundtable on Sustainable Palm Oil (RSPO) certified • Sustainable Forestry Initiative (SFI) certified • USDA Certified Biobased Product • USDA Organic We are continually improving our ability to capture and track products with environmental certifications in our systems, as well as increase the number of products that meet credible third-party environmental certifications. PACKAGING OPTIMIZATION To help reduce waste at Members' facilities, Staples has engineered our order fulfillment process to minimize packaging and shipping materials on supply deliveries. Simultaneously, we ensure that all deliveries are properly protected in order to arrive to you intact. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • SmartSize™ – Staples has rolled out award-winning technology to the majority of our U.S. distribution centers that tailors box sizes to the exact size of the order, reducing use of corrugate and air pillows. To further reduce the environmental impact of our delivery process, we use boxes made from 35% to 100% recycled material. This approach to packaging results in an annual carbon footprint reduction of more than 30,200 tons, equivalent to 120,000 trees. • Box Logic – Our warehouse management system uses a series of algorithms that automatically choose the smallest delivery box from eight standard sizes, based on the combined dimensions of items in the order, reducing packaging waste. • Wholesaler Initiatives – As part of our fulfillment process, Staples utilizes three national wholesalers to support our product requirements. We work diligently with these suppliers to confirm they are reducing shipping materials for our customers. The products shipped by our wholesalers undergo similar sizing analysis by their computer systems. Reducing packaging waste is important to our commitment to help the environment. In addition to the internal initiatives above, we're actively working with customers to minimize packaging waste by reducing the frequency of small orders through order consolidation. These initiatives have reduced packaging and shipping materials by up to 20% for some customers. PACKAGE PROTECTION Staples has invested in air pillow dunnage technology to safeguard the product we ship. These air pillows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Are designed to provide maximum protection with a minimum use of material, reducing the amount of packaging required • Can be re-used • Can be deflated prior to disposal, reducing original volume by over 90% • Can be recycled when given to your delivery driver or sent back when making a return • May be returned for recycling to local Sealed Air sites by calling the Sealed Air phone number on the cushion or may be recycled commercially as #4 plastic • Provide high BTU energy contents in municipal incineration

83	Describe your capabilities or limitations related to ordering and/or deliveries (minimum order requirements, order consolidation, expedited shipping/delivery, etc.)	According to industry research, employees making purchases outside a procurement program can increase operating costs by anywhere from 25% to 45%. Reducing maverick spend can dramatically impact the effectiveness of your procurement program. Staples uses multiple strategies to keep program compliance high and costs low. MINIMUM ORDER SIZE Unless otherwise mutually agreed to by Staples and a Sourcewell participating Member, Sourcewell and its Members shall have a minimum order size of $35.00 per order. ORDER CONSOLIDATION: REDUCING SMALL, INEFFICIENT ORDERS Industry statistics show the average cost for processing a single order transaction can be as high as hundreds of dollars depending on the organization and payment processing systems. Placing small, frequent orders incurs these costs with each order, which can be significantly reduced by order consolidation. We'll educate your end users to adopt more efficient behaviors, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Ordering bi-weekly or monthly, instead of weekly or daily • Coordinating ordering with other departments • Determining frequently ordered items and ordering enough for a week • Anticipating projects that may require more supplies than usual and consolidating these supplies within regularly scheduled orders Benefits of order consolidation include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Reduced order processing costs • Fewer deliveries and invoices to process • Less packaging, label and invoicing paper waste • CO2 savings from fewer truck deliveries INCREASING MEMBERS' ONLINE ORDERS The most efficient way for end users to order from Staples is through our e-commerce site or their e-procurement system. BACKGROUND: (CONT'D)

County's Board of Supervisors approved the Power Purchase Agreement [Non-New Tax Credit Project Sites] with Main Street Power Company, Inc. ("Agreement") for the installation of photovoltaic panels at 13 County-owned sites, including 1750 Oak Park Boulevard, and the sale of all electricity produced by the panels to the County. The Agreement was subsequently assigned to MFP CO II, LLC. The Agreement has a term of 20 years. The Agreement includes a Termination Option during the ninth year, which enables the County to evaluate the benefits of ownership. The County has the option to purchase the photovoltaic panels at fair market value, or at a pre-determined rate per watt, as identified in Exhibit 1A, Termination Price, of the Agreement. The Agreement is in its ninth year allowing for a buy-out of 95,763 kilowatts at a rate of $3.44/kilowatts for a total buy-out price of $329,428.00 for the 1750 Oak Park Blvd. site.

The County is the owner of real property located at 1750 Oak Park Blvd., Pleasant Hill (Property), consisting of approximately 4.8 acres of land improved with a County-owned building formerly operated as the Oak Park Blvd. Library (Library). The Library officially closed on June 3, 2020 at 6pm.

On July 14, 2020, the County's Board of Supervisors authorized the sale of the Property. The County is in the process of clearing the Property for sale to a prospective buyer to build a single-family residential development. In order to move forward with that process, the existing Library will need to be demolished. Before the Library can be demolished, the County needs to exercise its Termination Option under the Agreement and take ownership of the solar facilities at the Library. The Amendment makes changes to the power purchase agreement to remove the 1750 Oak Park Blvd. solar facilities from the Agreement, buy out MFP's rights under the agreement as to those facilities, and transfer title to the facilities to the County by a bill of sale, for payment to MFP in the amount of $329,428. The Agreement will remain effective as to all other solar facilities.

The Public Works Director recommends approval of the amendment to ensure that the Oak Park project moves forward.

CONSEQUENCE OF NEGATIVE ACTION:

Without approval from the Board of Supervisors, the County will not be able to move forward with the sale of the 1750 Oak Park Blvd. property or demolition of the former Oak Park Blvd. Library.

APPROVE and AUTHORIZE the Health Services Director, or designee, to execute on behalf of the County Contract #74-341-99(5) with Hugo Gonzales Therapy, Inc., a corporation, in an amount not to exceed $324,000, to provide Medi-Cal specialty mental health services for the period from July 1, 2020 through June 30, 2022.

FISCAL IMPACT:

This Contract is funded by 50% Federal Medi-Cal and 50% State Mental Health Realignment. (No rate increase)

BACKGROUND:

On January 14, 1997, the Board of Supervisors adopted Resolution #97/17, authorizing the Health Services Director to contract with the State Department of Mental Health, (now known as the Department of Health Care Services) to assume responsibility for Medi-Cal specialty mental health services. Responsibility for outpatient specialty mental health services involves contracts with individual, group and organizational providers to deliver these services.

On June 12, 2018, the Board of Supervisors approved Contract #74-341-99(4), with Hugo Gonzales, MFT, for the provision of Medi-Cal specialty mental health services, for the period from July 1, 2018 through June 30, 2020.

FISCAL IMPACT:

100% funding is included in the Hospital Enterprise Fund I Budget.

BACKGROUND:

CCRMC is satisfied with Cardinal Health Pharmacy Services, LLC as a vendor and wish to continue our working relationship with this company. Cardinal Health Pharmacy Services, LLC, provides three different purchasing contracts: WAC (Wholesaler Acquisition Cost) accounts (Inpatient 34-18446;), Vizient for the hospital (110459), as well as the Public Health System contract for 340B (federal-ceiling pricing for disproportionate share facilities) for ambulatory care. BACKGROUND: (CONT'D)

Furthermore, Contra Costa Health Plan uses Cardinal Health as their source to provide medications for their patients through 340B plan via contract pharmacies (i.e., Walgreens). Having Cardinal as our wholesaler maximizes the cost savings for CCRMC and Clinics. There is about 40-50% increase in drug cost, annually.

CONSEQUENCE OF NEGATIVE ACTION:

If this Purchase Order is not approved, CCRMC Pharmacy, as well as all Ambulatory Care Pharmacies within CCRMC will not be able to receive drugs from our wholesaler and the result would be a much higher cost of pharmaceuticals.

BACKGROUND:

The Health Services Department Information Technology unit utilizes PagerDuty on-call management software across its enterprise wide service desk, for all internal alert services, including on-call system rotation, incident response, and triage alerts. without a change to the contract payment limit. The contracts partially are funded with State “2011 Realignment” dollars. In the final State adopted budget the 2011 Realignment Funds were reduced by $7.9 million annually. The Department has identified $4 million in one-time non-recurring revenue that will finance the six month period July 1, 2020 through December 31, 2020. It is the Department’s intent to meet with these CBO’s over the next six months to develop a new value-based contract structured on performance, deliverables and available funding.

BACKGROUND:

COVID-19 is having continued negative impact on contracted providers’ ability to deliver necessary behavioral health services to Contra Costa County youth who are Medi-Cal beneficiaries eligible for entitlement services. Shelter-in-place orders have required a transition from in-person services, to remote delivery of care through use of tele-health. Since many behavioral health services to youth are school-based, the current suspension of in-person classes continues to require more outreach and engagement of children and their families in the community. While the transition to tele-health occurred fairly rapidly there are continued challenges to operations of these non-profit organizations that provide critical services to vulnerable residents of Contra Costa County. The on-going social distancing requirements to prevent disease transmission are essential but do make delivery of critical services extremely challenging and at times not possible.

On April 28, 2020, the Board of Supervisors approved increased per minute billing rates for certain CBO’s due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Approval of these Amendments will allow the rate increases to continue through December 31, 2020 to provide cash flow and budget predictability to the CBO’s.

CONSEQUENCE OF NEGATIVE ACTION:

If these Amendment Agreements are not approved the residents of Contra Costa County may experience reduced or discontinued behavioral health services.

STAND TOGETHER CONTRA COSTA

A Project Status Report Submitted to the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors July 21, 2020

I. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

A. PROJECT OVERVIEW

Since March 2018, Stand Together Contra Costa continues an innovative partnership between Contra Costa County, philanthropy, and community-based organizations to ensure that all people in Contra Costa County, regardless of citizenship or immigration status, are afforded the rights established by the United States Constitution and are protected from actions or policies that result in disparate, discriminatory, or unlawful treatment. In the face of continuous threats posed by the federal government's discriminatory and anti-immigrant policies and actions, Stand Together Contra Costa represents the commitment of Contra Costa County's elected officials, nonprofit organizations, faith leaders, funding partners, and community leaders to collectively demonstrate extraordinary support to the immigrant community. The members of this community are our neighbors, teachers, students, friends, family, coworkers, supervisors, leaders, health professionals, first responders, dreamers, and hard-working people who make our Contra Costa County unique, diverse, and vibrant. They are not a separate community, but they are us! We are pleased to submit this report to highlight the accomplishments of this important project.

As you know, Stand Together Contra Costa provides no-cost rapid-response support, civil deportation defense legal services and clinics, immigrant rights education and training, and direct-service support for immigrant individuals and families in Contra Costa County. As a public-private initiative managed by the Office of the Public Defender in partnership with nonprofit organizations and community members, this year completes its pilot period and third year of operation, ending on June 30, 2020. We now enter our fourth year starting July 1, 2020, and significant changes have impacted how the project will function and be funded going forward.

Catholic Charities of the East Bay continues as lead agency of the coalition of five nonprofit agencies and is the project's primary community-based partner. The remaining coalition agencies include Monument Impact, Bay Area Community Resources, Jewish Family and Community Services East Bay, and the Immigration Institute of the Bay Area (formerly International Institute of the Bay Area).

After receiving the approved proposal on September 19, 2017, the Board of Supervisors voted to accept the recommendation of the Finance Committee and to commit $500,000 in County funds for FY 17/18, with continuing commitments in FY 18/19 and FY 19/20, contingent on ongoing contributions by external funders. These contributions have been received and/or committed and the project continues with philanthropic and County AB109 funding into its fourth year, FY 20/21.

II. KEY COMPONENTS

A. COMMUNITY VERIFICATION AND RESPONSE

The backbone of Stand Together Contra Costa is the Rapid Response Hotline, which is staffed 24 hours a day, seven days a week to provide a single point of contact for people who witness or are targeted by federal Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) actions undertaken in our community.

Hotline staff verify ICE activity or dispel rumors, dispatch legal observers, provide accompaniment to family members to gather information to support legal defense for a person detained by ICE, and coordinate with the project's deportation-defense attorneys for individuals in bond and removal proceedings.

However, Hotline usage has gone down significantly since the COVID-19 pandemic began. Early in the pandemic, U.S. immigration authorities announced that they would temporarily halt enforcement across the United States, except for efforts to deport foreign nationals who have committed crimes or who pose a threat to public safety. As a result, enforcement in the community has decreased, and it is reflected in the low numbers of Hotline calls.

Nevertheless, one of the community members of the Stand Together Contra Costa Steering Committee reminded all of us that despite low numbers, having the Hotline available provides reassurance to a community that is constantly living in the shadows and in fear. This is only exacerbated by the pandemic. Thus, integrating our legal services with a hotline will remain an integral mechanism to ensure utilization of our immigration rapid response and legal removal defense services.

"Thanks for connecting my husband and I to an attorney close to us in El Sobrante, CA. After paying a Notary Public in San Francisco so much money to help with our case, she only made it worse, and we're out of a lot of money we had to borrow to pay her. The attorneys you referred us too were knowledgeable and patient with our financial situation. I feel more comfortable knowing that they have a good reputation in town and have been working with us. Thank you". – Hotline Caller (Translated to English from Spanish)

B. LEGAL SERVICES (CLINICS, CONSULTATIONS, AND REMOVAL-DEFENSE REPRESENTATION)

Stand Together Contra Costa conducts no-cost legal clinics in safe and familiar community settings to provide immigrants and their families with individualized legal consultations and structured and customized referrals.

"My wife and I have no words to express our gratitude to STCC for saving our and our children's lives. I was attacked and threatened with death if I returned to Mexico. We thank God that Helio was placed in our path to help my family and I live safely in the United States!" -STCC Client

Individuals detained by ICE are eligible to receive no-cost legal representation in pursuing bond or release, and to receive legal representation in removal defense and applications for relief before the Executive Office of Immigration Review (immigration court).

Before the COVID-19 pandemic began and Contra Costa County Health Officials declared a shelter-in-place there were many community events scheduled that would have afforded access to immigration legal consultations. Because of the shelter-in-place, these events moved to an online format, which proved to be challenging.

It is important to be mindful of the fact that there were zero free immigration removal defense services available in Contra Costa county three years ago. Because of the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors' clear commitment to immigrant families in our community by funding these crucial services, there is now capacity in the county for ongoing free removal defense services provided by the Office of the Public Defender as well as through three of the leading non-profit agencies in the County – Catholic Charities East Bay, Jewish Family Community Services East Bay, and the Immigration Institute of the East Bay. We are very proud of this accomplishment and will continue to provide excellent no-cost immigration representation to current and future clients in need of immigration removal defense legal services.

C. CAPACITY-BUILDING, EDUCATION, AND OUTREACH

Stand Together Contra Costa continued to provide a wide array of no-cost informational presentations, public forums, direct-service workshops (such as Clean Slate and Public Charge), and leadership development opportunities, along with public communications about immigration-related issues to expand knowledge, dispel myths, and enhance both individual and collective capacity. We continue our efforts to promote and execute our county's Census Complete Count 2020 strategy and strongly feel that our community engagement efforts during the past three years have paid off in successful census education and engagement with immigrant families in Contra Costa County. We are proud to have built improved trust with immigrant families on behalf of the County through our responsive and flexible community education and outreach efforts.

The fourth year of Stand Together Contra Costa will focus heavily on sustaining and improving the immigration removal defense services of the project with an emphasis on creating and fostering new relationships with community-based organizations given the loss of our funded Community Engagement Specialists. Despite the many challenges of the pandemic, our legal team will continue to provide excellent legal representation to immigrant families in Contra Costa who are facing deportation and separation from their families.

D. SERVICES IN THE AGE OF COVID-19

In March 2020, when the County Health Officer issued an Order directing all individuals to shelter in place, this included our project suspending all upcoming community immigration forums

"Thank you for helping me find resources for myself and my family. I'm a day worker and couldn't find work after the shelter in place. I didn't know how I was going to feed my family or if we even had options. I spoke to you guys and you helped us apply for food stamps. You even gave us a list to pick up food from the Food Bank so our benefits would stretch. 1000 Thank yous." - Hotline Caller (Translated to English from Spanish) and consultation events to comply with the prohibition of all public and private gatherings of any number of people occurring outside a single household or living unit. However, Stand Together Contra Costa remained committed to serving the community during this pandemic. To do this, we had to be innovative and pivot the way we provide the services to using social media, online tools, and other creative solutions.

Some of the activities we provided included: outreach to the immigrant community using social media platforms such as Facebook, Instagram and Twitter. We shared information on Census as well as information and resources regarding COVID-19. The Community Engagement Team continued to offer virtual workshops for topics including Cal-Fresh, Census 2020, Family Preparedness Plan, Know Your Rights, Public Charge and Unemployment. The community was also reminded that they could call the Hotline at any time for information and assistance with any of these topics.

Additionally, we planned and held a telephone consultation day where callers could speak to an immigration specialist regarding their issue and discuss options for resolution. We had five clients released from custody due to COVID-19 concerns (as ordered by a Federal District Judge after a lawsuit was filed). Our partner agencies (Bay Area Community Resources, Jewish Family & Community Services and Monument Impact) assisted families that were struggling with finances, food and finding work.

III. PROGRESS IN YEAR 3 (JULY 1, 2019 – JUNE 30, 2020)

i. Information and Dispatch

- Maintained the 24/7 Hotline (phone and data system): 925-900-5151
- Fielded 427 calls. The chart below shows the call volume per month:

- The numbers reflect a decrease in the volume of calls, especially since enforcement activities have lessened as a result of the pandemic. Nevertheless, the Hotline remains a critical lifeline for members of our community, reassuring them that the help is there when needed.
- For Year 4, we have plans to reduce costs and improve efficiency by exploring collaboration with other networks to ensure that the Rapid Response hotline services remain available to Contra Costa residents. We plan to phase out the direct staffing of dispatch shifts and are awaiting news about whether an emerging east bay immigrant hotline (proposed by Centro Legal de la Raza and the Alameda County Immigrant Legal and Education Partnership) could potentially provide consolidated services to Contra Costa County immigrant families without being staffed by STCC-funded partners.

ii. Governance and Communications

- Maintained website: <https://standtogethercontracosta.org>, with a repository of videos, downloadable documents in multiple languages, along with a calendar of upcoming events
- Maintained social media pages including:
 - Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/StandTogetherContraCosta>
 - Instagram: <https://www.instagram.com/standtogethercontracosta/>
 - Twitter: <https://twitter.com/StandTogetherCC>
- Designed, printed, and distributed thousands of bilingual Know Your Rights “green” cards
- Produced Know Your Rights documents in Arabic, English, Persian, Punjabi, Spanish, traditional Chinese, Vietnamese, and Urdu
- Convened regular Steering Committee governance meetings to steward program through pilot phase, including three members of the community as leader from the Local Leadership Councils representing West, Central and East
- Concluded Steering Committee governance meetings through pilot phase

iii. Education, Leadership Development, and Capacity-Building

- Conducted 64 workshops and presentations, including Know Your Rights workshops, informational presentations about immigration and the program, educating 2,222 people in immigration rights, services and information
- Supported all three Local Leadership Councils in all three geographic regions of the County, leading monthly meetings and actively participating in Steering Committee functions
- Once the health orders were initiated, we were considered an essential service allowing our partner agencies to continue the work remotely

iv. Outreach

- Established a single point of contact with 19 schools within multiple County school districts (elementary, high school, and community colleges) and six faith-based organizations, provided information, resources, links to additional information, and collaborated to host events
 - In addition, provided informational materials to all 36 Catholic parishes in Contra Costa County, and
 - Provided informational materials to Muslim mosques, Jewish temples, and ecumenical faith-based organizations in Contra Costa County
- Continued in the development of a comprehensive plan with community college district to increase information and direct services for their students and families

- Provided information about Stand Together Contra Costa, including but not limited to the distribution of flyers and cards, to over 2,000 community members at various outreach events in community organizations, faith-based locations, and schools. The chart below shows the breakdown of outreach efforts in the geographic regions of the County:

- In addition to the above outreach, our team participated in several media events on Univision and Telemundo, with an estimated 100,000 viewers during the local news broadcasts.
- The chart to the left also illustrates the challenges we have faced given the recent shelter-in-place orders, resulting in our cancelling of all events from March 2020 to the present. We have had to pivot to find ways to still be able to meet the need by using social media and online tools to achieve this deliverable.

v. Legal Services and Consultation

- Conducted 1,189 immigration consultations
- Completed 139 intakes for legal representation on the Hotline
- Represented/representing 128 cases in bond and removal proceeding
- As a result of COVID-19 and shelter in place orders we could no longer provide in-person events to provide free legal consultations. In order to ensure that these critical opportunities for accurate legal assistance would continue during the pandemic, our Community Engagement and Legal Teams worked together to hold a free legal clinic event via our Hotline so that we could still connect with the community and provide free legal consultations via telephone.

“I want to thank STCC for helping me not be deported to my home country where I would surely be tortured and killed.” -STCC Client

IV. EMERGING LESSONS

A. THE NEED FOR STAND TOGETHER CONTRA COSTA IS REAL.

In July 2019, we received 149 calls on the Hotline. In the months following we noticed a decline in the number of calls being received. Although we confirmed continuing ICE arrests in Contra Costa through our legal team, the hotline activity for reporting suspected active ICE arrests was low; yet the community continued to call the Hotline to ask for help navigating to other services, such as how to apply for public benefits, requests for immigration legal services for those not-detained, and accompaniment support for families, such as accompanying to appointments or advocacy with government agencies. Our program’s commitment to language access and our culturally responsive approach to services has established our hotline as a trusted resource among immigrant families throughout Contra Costa and has revealed the real need for enhanced and holistic service navigation services that are accessible and trusted by immigrant families in our community. These requests encouraged our project leaders to look at a possible pivot of our use of dispatchers on the Hotline from having them solely report and record ICE activity, to consider functioning in a community service navigator role.

In the most recent months, even with reduced reports of ICE activity, we see a steady call volume because people need to feel reassured that the service is still there. We are here to continue to provide rapid, responsive, reliable, trustworthy, and culturally appropriate services to an underrepresented and vulnerable population while building the county’s capacity to recognize and respond to the needs of our county’s immensely vital immigrant families.

In addition, given the ongoing horrifying policies and actions being executed by the federal government – tearing families apart with no regard for their safety or reunification, even in an ongoing global pandemic – Stand Together Contra Costa has served as a beacon of hope for the tens of thousands of immigrant residents who are inextricably woven into the fabric of our County.

B. PUBLIC/PRIVATE PARTNERSHIP IS POWERFUL. PUBLIC MANAGEMENT IS VALUABLE.

Per the plan presented to and approved by the Board of Supervisors, the Office of the Public Defender serves as the administrative authority and manager for Stand Together Contra Costa. In the time since the Board's approval of the plan, the value of locating this initiative inside the County's administrative infrastructure has been unmistakable.

Stand Together Contra Costa is a complex undertaking: Born of grassroots advocacy, it is funded by both the public sector and philanthropic entities, authorized by the County's leadership, administratively managed by the Public Defender's Office, conducted in integral partnership with community-based organizations, and stewarded by government representatives and community advocates alike.

It is certainly not easy to design, launch, or manage such a complex structure; having fewer moving parts makes a machine easier to run. But the success of Stand Together Contra Costa is a product of the commitment, capacity, and connections brought to the project by its many constituent members. By embedding management of this complex structure into the institutional framework intrinsic to a public department, the County Board of Supervisors offered the project a level of legitimacy, rigor, visibility, impact, and accountability that might otherwise have taken far longer to achieve.

C. COLLECTIVE STEWARDSHIP BRINGS VOICES TO THE TABLE.

Stand Together Contra Costa is a testament to the power of dedication, partnership, and inclusion, embodied in the project's Steering Committee of representative leaders who volunteer their time to support this work.

The Steering Committee meets regularly and provides stewardship, critical inquiry, and collective wisdom to explore what's working, what needs adjustment, and what it takes to accomplish the project's important and ambitious mission. We have all three Local Leadership Councils (West, Central, East) actively participating in the Steering Committee meetings. Translation services are provided at every meeting, and for the past several months we have consistently been meeting at the Family Justice Center offices in Richmond and Concord. This unique approach of providing both a physical meeting space and using technology to link the two offices during the meeting, especially during the shelter-in-place, facilitates access to those community members who may be travelling from farther parts of the County, specifically East County. Before the pandemic, we would have also utilized the Antioch office of the Family Justice Center to afford community members access to that office as well. In the meantime, all of our meetings will remain virtual.

Members of the Local Leadership Councils who have attended the Steering Committee meetings have shared that they feel empowered and that their voices have been heard. In one session where a discussion was held to determine whether we should continue a 24/7 Hotline given that the call volume was going down, the Local Leadership Council members strongly supported maintaining a 24/7 Hotline. It reassures the community, one member said, to know that they can call at any time and speak to a live person. And given the current uncertainty of threats of ICE activity, it is more important that we maintain a 24/7 Hotline, but perhaps explore opportunities for collaboration to more efficiently maintain this critical service. Our Local Leadership Councils and their participation in our steering committee have demonstrated that centering community through a commitment to collective stewardship truly improves the quality and responsiveness of innovative county programs like Stand Together Contra Costa.

D. LOOKING AHEAD TO YEAR FOUR: ADJUSTMENTS FOR FUTURE SUSTAINABILITY.

In reviewing Year 1-3, the Steering Committee and project leaders have identified several opportunities for adjustment:

- i. Legal Staffing: Having access to quality legal representation is a cornerstone of due process and is critical to ensuring that the constitutional rights of Contra Costa's immigrant families are protected, regardless of their ability to afford an attorney. As mentioned earlier, only three years ago there were zero free legal immigration removal defense services in Contra Costa County. Through Stand Together

Contra Costa, there is now capacity in the County for free removal defense services provided by the Office of the Public Defender as well as by three of the leading non-profit agencies in the County – Catholic Charities East Bay, Jewish Family Community Services East Bay, and the Immigration Institute of the East Bay. All agencies have hired competent, caring and compassionate attorneys and have built an infrastructure that is conducive to the long term sustainability of this work.

In Year 4, we intend on fully staffing the legal services team by pursuing a one-to-one staffing ratio of attorney to legal assistant, that will provide critical support to the busy deportation defense attorneys on the Team and will continue to support the high quality of our overall service provision flow by holding the vast majority of the administrative work for our hundreds of legal consultations.

ii. Community Engagement:

- Partner with a wider array of CBO partners in order to facilitate improved outreach and community engagement with immigrant families throughout Contra Costa County, with a focus on establishing new collaborations with East County and South County organizations serving immigrant families.
- Determine improved digital and virtual tools and strategies for community outreach given COVID-19 pandemic by strengthening our social media footprint, maintaining contact with constituents via monthly newsletters and periodic social media and email updates and by continuing legal presentations on topics requested by immigrant residents.

iii. Support Staffing/Hotline Coverage: The staffed, 24/7 rapid-response Hotline is a cornerstone of Stand Together Contra Costa, serving as the hub for information, verification, and service dispatch. Yet staffing such a line 24 hours a day and seven days a week through both peak periods and slow times is challenging in terms of both cost and shift-coverage. Given this fact, the Steering Committee last year directed the project leads to explore options for ensuring adequate and appropriate coverage while reducing both cost and staff burden. To this end, the project leads explored options to partner with another network, the Alameda County Immigrant Legal & Education Partnership (ACILEP). ACILEP, led by Centro Legal de la Raza, absorbed the evening and weekend shifts. Conversations are ongoing to determine if ACILEP will support the Hotline fully, thus consolidating the immigrant hotline services throughout the East Bay. This type of inter-regional planning and resource-sharing can enhance collective capacity while providing useful leverage to each of the partner agencies. In Year 4, we will continue to strengthen the relationship with ACILEP to ensure Contra Costa County residents continue to have access to essential immigration hotline services.

"I originally spoke to Ms. Adriana when I called the hotline. She was so nice and helpful. She connected me with a nice attorney that said he would be helping my son that was detained while on his way to work. It has been nothing but blessings with all the resources she gave my daughter in law and myself. Thank you. – Hotline Caller (Translated to English from Spanish)

V. BUDGET

Sources	FY17-18 (six months)	FY18-19	FY19-20	FY20-21 Projected
Nonprofit Philanthropies	$85,000	$500,000	$675,000	$351,195
Contra Costa County (AB109)	$500,000	$500,000	$500,000	$500,000
Total sources	$585,000	$1,000,000	$1,175,000	$851,195

For its fourth term (July 1, 2020-June 30, 2021), Stand Together Contra Costa is operating on a total budget projection of $851,195. Of this, the Office of the Public Defender, as the project’s administrative manager, would retain $444,014 to cover the costs for one full-time Program Manager (Administrative Services Assistant III) and one full-time Senior Attorney/Legal Coordinator (Deputy Public Defender III), and a set of operational items, including the Hotline infrastructure, website design, contract supervision, legal services coordination, translation services, and communications.

The balance of the project's fourth year budget – $407,181 – serves to underwrite contracts with Catholic Charities of the East Bay, Immigration Institute of the Bay Area, and Jewish Family & Community Services East Bay, for the provision of removal defense and immigration legal services. This will provide for two full-time Removal Defense Attorneys, two Legal Assistants, including supervision and a set of operational items. Due to the drastic reduction in available funding, Stand Together Contra Costa will no longer be able to fund community engagement and dispatch staffing, meaning we will no longer be able to fund the staffing costs of the four Community Engagement Specialists and dispatchers at our partner CBOs. We are grateful for the

"My family will always trust and be grateful for the work done by Stand Together. With your help, we won our asylum case in 2020, and our lives changed forever. We will never forget that you always remember us and support us. I'm thankful with all of my heart for your constant help." - STCC Client incredible work of our community engagement partners and Stand Together Contra Costa will forever be indebted to them for truly making this a program that is dedicated to being community-centered. Although we will no longer be able to fund community engagement work due to a steep decline in philanthropic contributions, Bay Area Community Resources and Monument Impact will continue to do the important work of community engagement and public education and we will continue to collaborate on bringing culturally-responsive immigrant legal defense services to the community in trusted and innovative settings.

VI. FINAL THOUGHTS: WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

Contra Costa County has accomplished an extraordinary collective achievement. Given the intensifying measures being deployed by the federal administration, marked by anti-immigrant rhetoric, confusion, reversals, and national debate, the existence of Stand Together Contra Costa is even more important than ever before. Immigrant families in Contra Costa need access to timely and accurate information about this constantly shifting landscape and access to critical legal due process services should they be at risk of deportation.

As we enter Year 4 of this collective endeavor, we are deeply committed to excellence, transparency, and ongoing partnership between the county and the county's grassroots coalitions, nonprofit and faith-based partners, public agencies, and elected leaders. It is with gratitude, humility, and unwavering dedication that we submit to the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors this report on the project's third year.

"I am very thankful for everything you did for us. We had to leave Nicaragua because my wife, daughter and I could no longer be safe, and we arrived here not knowing what was going to happen. The help you provided us was beyond anything we expected, and we are forever grateful for you helping us win asylum and start a new life in the United States." -STCC Client

We look forward to continuing to provide no-cost immigration legal services to immigrant families in Contra Costa County and will continue serving as a key point of contact between Contra Costa County and the thousands of immigrant families in our community. We have built trusted relationships throughout the County and will continue to provide excellent immigration legal services as well as innovative and responsive community engagement partnerships. We hope to continue to build on the many successes of our pilot phase and to continue to serve the community through providing excellent no-cost immigration legal services and community education through Stand Together Contra Costa.

Subject: Amendment to Emergency Occupancy Agreement for Courtyard by Marriott in Richmond

RECOMMENDATION(S):

APPROVE an amendment, subject to approval by the County Administrator and approval as to form by County Counsel, of the Emergency Occupancy Agreement dated April 15, 2020, between the County and 3150 Garrity Way, DE, LLC to add a purchase option that would give the County the right to purchase the motel.

AUTHORIZE the County Administrator, or designee, to execute the amendment.

FISCAL IMPACT:

The amendment will add a purchase option that would give the County the right to purchase the motel. If the County exercises the purchase option, the purchase price will be paid by the State of California, through the State's Project Roomkey program. It is anticipated that, if the County does become the owner of the property, maintenance and operating expenses will be 100% General Fund, unless paid for through an as-yet unidentified Federal or State program.

BACKGROUND:

The County has been participating in Project Roomkey since early April 2020, when the County Health Officer determined that congregate shelters needed to be emptied to reduce the risk of the spread of COVID-19. The County currently has 602 rooms available at various locations for homeless individuals who are at high risk for COVID-19 or are positive for the virus.

BACKGROUND: (CONT'D)

Potential Purchase of Motel

It is anticipated that the State may soon be providing additional funds for counties who are participating in Project Roomkey to purchase hotels for long-term housing, in recognition of the fact that it may not be safe for individuals to go back to congregate living in the foreseeable future. The California State Association of Counties (CSAC) reports that counties that have purchase options in existing agreements will be given priority to receive money from the State to purchase hotels if the county and the hotel owners have interest.

The proposed amendment would give the County an option to purchase the property, exercisable with written notice to the owner. This board order does not seek authority to exercise the purchase option. If staff determines it would be beneficial to purchase the property after an appraisal, staff will seek authority to exercise the option through a subsequent board order. At that time, staff will provide the Board with information about the benefits of acquiring the property and the County's plan for providing services to homeless individuals at the facility.

CONSEQUENCE OF NEGATIVE ACTION:

If the amendment is not approved, the County may not be eligible for funds to purchase the facility through Project Roomkey.

BACKGROUND:

The purpose of this agreement is to provide Planned Parenthood Shasta Diablo, Inc. (dba Planned Parenthood Northern California) and family medicine residents with the opportunity to integrate academic knowledge with applied skills at progressively higher levels of performance and responsibility. Supervised fieldwork experience for residents is considered to be an integral part of both educational and professional preparation. Planned Parenthood Shasta Diablo, Inc. (dba Planned Parenthood Northern California) can provide the training to County's Family Medicine Residency Program, while at the same time, benefitting from the residents services to patients.

On March 28, 2017, the Board of Supervisors approved Interagency Agreement #76-548 with Planned Parenthood Shasta Diablo, Inc. (dba Planned Parenthood Northern California) for the period from July 1, 2016 through June 30, 2021, for the provision of clinical training to residents in the County's Family Medicine Residency Program.

The Department and the Contractor have renegotiated the Contract terms to allow the Contractor to continue to provide clinical training to residents in the County's Family Medicine Residency Program. Therefore, in accordance with General Conditions Paragraph 5. (Termination and Cancellation) of the Contract, the Department and Contractor have agreed to cancel Contract #76-548 and enter into a new Contract.

Approval of Interagency Agreement #76-548-2 will allow the Contractor to continue to provide clinical training to residents in the County's Family Medicine Residency Program through June 30, 2025. This Agreement includes mutual indemnification to hold harmless both parties for any claims arising out of the performance of this Contract.

CONSEQUENCE OF NEGATIVE ACTION:

If this contract is not approved, the residents will not receive supervised fieldwork instruction experience at Planned Parenthood Northern California clinics.

ACCEPT the Small Business Enterprise, Outreach, and Local Bid Preference Programs Report, reflecting departmental program data for the period July 1 - December 31, 2019, as prepared by the Public Works Department.

FISCAL IMPACT:

None. This is an informational report.

BACKGROUND: (CONT'D)

Small Business Enterprise, as defined by the California Government Code, Section 14837, Chapter 3.5 must be:

- Independently owned and operated business, which is not dominant in its field of operation
- Principal office of which is located in California
- Officers of which are domiciled in California, and which together with affiliates, has 100 or fewer employees
- Average annual gross receipts of fourteen million dollars ($15,000,000) or less over the previous three tax years, or a manufacturer with 100 or fewer employees.

Local Bid Preference Program. On August 10, 2004, the Board of Supervisors referred to the Internal Operations Committee (IOC) the creation of a policy to grant a five percent preference to Contra Costa County vendors on all sealed bids or proposals, except with respect to those contracts which state law requires to be granted to the lowest bidder, and review of an ordinance to be drafted by County Counsel to enact this policy. The 2005 IOC proposed a new ordinance to the Board of Supervisors, and the Board adopted the local bid preference ordinance to support small local business and stimulate the local economy at no additional cost to the County. The ordinance provides that if the low bid in a commodities purchase is not a local vendor, any responsive local vendor who submitted a bid over $25,000 that was within 5% percent of the lowest bid has the option to submit a new bid. The local vendor will be awarded if the new bid is in an amount less than or equal to the lowest responsive bid, allowing the County to favor the local vendor but not at the expense of obtaining the lowest offered price.

The ordinance defines a local vendor as any business that has its headquarters, distribution point, or locally-owned franchise located within the county for at least six months immediately prior to the issuance of the request for bids, and holds a valid business license by a jurisdiction in Contra Costa County.

Reporting Requirements

It is the responsibility of each department to track and compile the data on purchasing and outreach activities so that a countywide report can be provided to the Board of Supervisors. It is the responsibility of the Purchasing Services Manager to comply with and report on the Local Bid Preference Program. Since adoption, the IOC has continued to monitor the effects of these programs through semi-annual reports, currently prepared and presented by the Purchasing Services Manager. The last report received by the Board of Supervisors was for the period of January 1 through June 30, 2019. The attached report, constituting the reporting period of July 1 through December 31, 2019, was received and accepted by the Internal Operations Committee on July 13, 2020.

for July-December 2019

RECOMMENDATION:

ACCEPT the SBE, Outreach, and Local Programs Report, reflecting departmental program data for the period: July 1 through December 31, 2019.

BACKGROUND:

Contra Costa County values the contributions of small business in the County and developed programs to assist in the solicitation and awarding of contracts. The Board of Supervisors adopted these programs to enable small and local businesses to compete for a share of the County's purchasing transactions.

The Board of Supervisors has set a goal of awarding at least 50% of eligible product and service dollars to small businesses. The Small Business Enterprise (SBE) Program applies to: (1) county-funded construction contracts of $100,000 or less; (2) purchasing transactions of $100,000 or less; and (3) professional/personal service contracts of $100,000 or less.

- Average annual gross receipts of fifteen million dollars ($15,000,000) or less over the previous three tax years, or a manufacturer with 100 or fewer employees.

Reporting Requirements

It is the responsibility of each department to track and compile the data on these purchasing activities so a countywide report can be provided to the Board of Supervisors. The Board receives reports in six-month increments, with the last report submitted to the Board for the period ending June 2019. Attachment A constitutes the report due for the time period of July 1- December 31, 2019.

Summary Findings

The table below summarizes the attached department activity on a countywide basis.

July - December 2019

ACTIVITY TYPE:	Total # of ALL Contracts	Total # of SBE Contracts	SBE Percent of Total	Total Dollar Value of ALL Contracts	Total Dollar Value of SBE Contracts	SBE Percent of Total
Purchasing Transactions	1,306	374	28.6%	$28,103,063	$5,951,423	21.2%

This information shows the County is directing a large volume of qualifying activity to SBE firms, however the activity for professional/personal services accounts for only 43.9% of the goal. While the activity for purchasing transactions did not exceed the 50% goal, the dollar value awarded to SBE businesses exceeded $5.9 million for the period. No construction contracts were reported.

It is worth noting that the SBE participation goals of surrounding agencies are typically in the 20-25% range. By that measure, Contra Costa County's reported activity is above that threshold for professional/personal services and in line with the range for Purchasing transactions.

The Probation Department is commended for exceeding their goals in both professional services contracts and purchasing transactions by exceeding their objective and awarding 66.4% of the goal in professional services contracts, and 57.0% in purchasing transactions.

Department/Activity	Total # of ALL Contracts	Total # of SBE Contracts	SBE Percent of Total	Total Dollar Value of ALL Contracts	Total Dollar Value of SBE Contracts	SBE Percent of Total
PROBATION
Professional/Personal Services	23	11	47.8%	$233,954	$155,421	66.4%
Purchasing Transactions	41	20	48.8%	$295,239	$168,345	57.0%

E-Outreach Report

In order to encourage the use of small, local, and disadvantaged businesses, the County's E-Outreach Program requires bids and Request for Proposals of $10,000 or more to be solicited online. For this period there were 18 bids totaling $5,292,648 that fell within the parameters of the program.

In addition, the data specific to electronic solicitations is developed and provided by the Purchasing Division of the Public Works Department, and reflects outreach to small, women, minority-owned, local, disabled veteran, and disadvantaged business enterprises. During this reporting period, 18 bids were conducted using the BidSync e-outreach site. Notifications were sent to 252,274 businesses of which 32.6% are considered a small, local, or disadvantaged business enterprise.

E-Outreach
July 1, 2019 – December 31, 2019

Number of Solicitations	18
Total Notifications	252,274
Dollar Value	$ 5,292,648

SBE - Small Business Enterprise	41,891	16.7%

DVBE - Disabled Veteran Business Enterprise	285	0.1%
DBE – Disadvantaged Business Enterprise	9,164	3.6%
Total	81,861	32.6%

Local Business Preference

For opportunities exceeding $25,000, the Local Business Preference Program allows for local businesses to submit a new offer if within 5% of the lowest bidder. There were no instances of the Bid Preference being utilized for this reporting period.

Dollar Value Awarded to Local and Bay Area Businesses

The dollar value of Purchase Orders issued for the period was $29 million. The dollar value awarded to Contra Costa County businesses was $3.6 million. The value awarded to other Bay Area businesses was 12.8% or $3.7 million. This represents a significant contribution to the local economy.

Contra Costa County	$3,610,268	12.4%
Other Bay Area Counties	$3,732,915	12.8%
Other (Non Bay Area)	$21,751,286	74.8%
Total	$29,094,469	100%

Conclusion

The County demonstrates continued commitment to achieving the 50% goal for participation by SBE firms in contract and purchasing activity. While the data for some departments is below this threshold, departments are showing greater interest in increasing the percentage of awarded contracts. Instruction is being provided on the search features of the purchasing system, which identifies businesses in the small, local, women, minority, veteran and disadvantaged business categories.

pursuant to Fish and Game Code section 13100, and are budgeted in the Fish and Game Fund (110200). As of June 11, 2020, the Fund had an available balance of $228,493.

BACKGROUND:

On November 22, 2010, the IOC received a status report from Department of Conservation and Development (DCD) regarding the allocation of propagation funds by the Fish and Wildlife Committee (FWC). The IOC accepted the report along with the recommended modifications to improve the grant process in the future. The modifications included (1) updating the FWC Conflict of Interest Code, which was accomplished, and; (2) having the IOC conduct a preliminary review of annual FWC grant recommendations prior to Board of Supervisors review, which is now a standing referral to the IOC.

Attached are two separate recommendations of the Fish and Wildlife Committee to fund two projects totaling $27,023. These recommendations are supplemental to the 15 projects approved by the Board of Supervisors in May 2020 that totaled $85,891. The Internal Operations Committee reviewed and approved the proposed allocations on July 13.

SUBJECT: Out-of-Cycle Grant Funding Recommendation from the Contra Costa County Fish and Wildlife Committee

The Contra Costa County Fish and Wildlife Committee (FWC) requests that the Internal Operations Committee (IO) consider an out-of-cycle Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund (Fund) grant request in the amount of $17,199.15 from the Carquinez Regional Environmental Education Center (CREEC) for funding to improve CREEC's greenhouse and grounds to increase safety, cleanliness, and efficiency for classrooms to visit, learn, and work with native plants. The Committee is recommending partial funding in the amount of $8,522.59.

The FWC is requesting that the IO Committee consider the funding recommendation and make their own recommendation for consideration by the full Board of Supervisors (Board). This memo provides background on the grant program, explains the review process performed by the FWC and documents the FWC's reasons for recommending partial grant funding for the project.

I. Background

Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund

The Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund was established in accordance with the California Fish and Game Code (Code) 13100 as a repository for fines collected for certain violations of the Code and other regulations related to fish and game. The most common fines are small ($25-$150) and are processed through the four Superior Courts in Contra Costa County. The fines typically stem from hunting or fishing violations (e.g. not possessing a valid license), and illegal dumping. Occasionally there are larger fines that result from larger violations, including failure to obtain appropriate permits for activities such as streambed alteration. A portion of the various fines are deposited into the Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund. As of June 11, 2020, the Fund had an available balance of $228,493.12.

Summary of Request

CREEC recently approved an MOU with CCRCO to strengthen their partnership and to complement and increase CREEC's impact by expanding the quality of the environmental education that takes place at CREEC's facilities. The biggest obstacle to implementing their new programs is the poor condition of CREEC's facilities. CREEC seeks funding to improve their greenhouse and grounds to increase safety, cleanliness, and efficiency in order to be welcoming and productive for classrooms to visit, learn, and work with native plants.

CREEC, in coordination with CCRCO, applied and submitted a grant application for this project in the normal annual grant cycle and have shown evidence that it was sent in a timely manner to meet the submittal deadline. Unfortunately the grant application was not received. Staff suggested that they apply for an out-of-cycle grant request to enable the Fish and Wildlife Committee to consider it for out-of-cycle grant funding.

II. Reason for Recommendation/Background

Since 1996, the Fish and Wildlife Committee (FWC) has implemented a structured process for reviewing funding requests. The intent of this structured review process was to replace case-by-case decision-making with a grant process that enables comparative and efficient review of applications.

Occasionally, the Committee receives requests for funds outside of the regular grant cycle. These proposals must meet all the regular requirements of applications as well as justify why the funding request should be considered outside the regular cycle.

On May 21, 1997, the FWC approved the following criteria for reviewing grant requests outside the normal grant review cycle:

The majority of projects will be reviewed simultaneously once per year. Projects can be reviewed individually, outside the annual review cycle if:

- the project is a FWC-initiated project;
- delaying review of the project until the annual review cycle would cause substantial harm to the fish and wildlife resources of the County;
- the project cannot be performed at all unless funding is received from the Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund sooner than would be possible under the annual review cycle; or
- the project has substantial matching funds which will expire unless funding is received from the Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund sooner than would be possible under the annual review cycle.

The Fish and Wildlife Committee discussed the CREEC out-of-cycle grant application at their June 17, 2020 meeting. The Committee members asked questions of the project representatives that were present and provided advice regarding some of the costs listed in CREEC's itemized budget. In particular, the Committee recommends that CREEC obtain wood chips/mulch for the grounds for free instead of paying for it. In consideration of the current COVID-19 pandemic, the Committee wishes to support increasing the health and safety features of the grounds at CREEC so that they can bring more students on field trips and expand their programs. Now that CREEC will be obtaining wood chips/mulch for free, the Committee is recommending partial funding of the original grant request in the amount of $8,522.59.

Members in attendance and voting on these items were: Clark Dawson, Roni Gehlke, Susan Heckly, Kathleen Jennings, Brett Morris, Daniel Pellegrini, Heather Rosmarin and Jeff Skinner. Nicole Kozicki, the At-large Alternate, was in attendance and contributed to the discussion of the grant proposal.

The FWC unanimously approved the following recommendation:

- 1) Appropriate $8,522.59 to CREEC for supplies to improve their greenhouse and grounds to increase safety, cleanliness and efficiency so CREEC is able to bring more students on field trips and expand their programs.
- 2) Further, the FWC also recommended that within two years* of grant funding approval, or within one month of project completion, whichever comes sooner, recipient must submit a final project report which includes invoices and receipts documenting how funds were spent and the results of the project. Details will be outlined in the grant award packet if funding is approved.

[8 ayes/0 noes]

Ayes: Clark Dawson, Roni Gehlke, Susan Heckly, Kathleen Jennings, Brett Morris, Daniel Pellegrini, Heather Rosmarin, Jeff Skinner; Noes: None; Absent: Judy Bendix; Abstain: None

Staff recommends that the grant awardee may request modifications to the budget allocations described in their grant application in writing and those requests may be approved by the Fish and Wildlife Committee or the Department of Conservation and Development Director or his designee.

*Ordinarily, grant recipients are required to submit a final project report within one year of project grant application approval. On May 12, 2020 the Board of Supervisors approved an automatic additional year for 2020 grant recipients to complete their projects due to the uncertainty of the duration of the County Health Officer Order (Order) to reduce the rate of transmission of Novel Coronavirus Disease 2019 (“COVID-19”).

Dear Ms. Parkes,

The Carquinez Regional Environmental Education Center (CREEC), in coordination with the Contra Costa Resource Conservation District (CCRCD), are respectfully submitting this application as an out-of-cycle grant request. The application was originally submitted in time for the normal 2020 grant cycle, but unfortunately it was not received by the Fish and Wildlife Committee.

In light of the recent events related to COVID, we envision our proposal to fall under the category B – “The project cannot be performed at all unless funding is received from the Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund sooner than would be possible under the annual review cycle.”

The programming at CREEC continues in small groups with the appropriate social distancing and safety measures. Yet with COVID, increasing the health and safety features of the grounds at CREEC is now more relevant than ever. Our application seeks $17,199.15 for upgrading the facility to a level that allows CREEC to bring more students on field trips and expand the after school and weekend volunteer student programming where parents and guardians can feel safe bringing their students to learn about their local watersheds.

It is for these reasons that we are requesting Fish and Wildlife Propagation Funds sooner than would be possible under the annual review cycle. Feel free to email Chris Lim at clim@ccrcc.org and Susanna van Greunen at rouxnavg@yahoo.com questions pertaining to this application. We will make ourselves available to attend your next meeting/Zoom conference to answer any additional questions. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Susanna van Greunen
Board President

PROJECT DESCRIPTION

HOW THIS PROJECT WILL BENEFIT THE FISH AND WILDLIFE OF CONTRA COSTA COUNTY

There is a magical moment that occurs in school gardens when young students have that “Aha!” realization. A nearly visible light bulb goes on when students connect the science concepts taught in the classroom, physical work in the garden, and their role in helping conserve watersheds and the species we share them with.

The Carquinez Regional Environmental Education Center (CREEC) is a nonprofit based on the Carquinez Strait in Crockett, CA whose mission is to help local youth restore the shores of the Carquinez Strait so the birds, plants, and animals that make this a special place can thrive alongside the recreational needs of residents and visitors. Currently, CREEC’s programs achieve this by working with local students recruited to help maintain CREEC’s greenhouse, the surrounding grounds, and their extensive collection of native plants. In exchange for a small stipend, the students work on Wednesdays after school and on Saturday mornings.

CREEC recently approved an MOU with the Contra Costa Resource Conservation District (CCRCD) to strengthen their partnership and to complement and increase CREEC’s impact by expanding the quality of the environmental education that takes place at CREEC’s facilities. We intend to grow our programming to include in-class sessions at local schools with field trips to CREEC. Our curricula are aligned with the Next Generation Science Standards and consist of multiple cohesive sessions that complement school curricula.

CREEC and the CCRCD are developing two new environmental education programs—one focused on aquaponics and another focused on native plants and animals. The biggest obstacle to implementing these innovative new programs is the poor condition of CREEC’s facilities. While the grounds can accommodate a handful of students at a given time, they need to be upgraded to accommodate larger groups of students and to attract funders interested in experiential environmental education. The requested funding would improve the safety, cleanliness, and efficiency of the CREEC facilities, transforming CREEC’s greenhouse and grounds into a welcoming, productive place for large school groups to visit, learn, and work with native plants.

We plan to hold several community workdays throughout the year to make these important upgrades—e.g., to clean the greenhouse, to mulch the grounds, to install new safety and hygiene features. These workdays will increase CREEC’s publicity and provide an opportunity to hold additional plant sales to benefit CREEC’s programming.

Beyond benefitting the native plants and the multitudes of animals and insects, including pollinators, that inhabit or visit CREEC, these facility improvements will open the door for environmental education programs to set students on a path toward living sustainable lifestyles. The newly-developed educational programs will help create an environmentally-literate generation that understands that everyday choices effect the health of the planet. The first step toward achieving this goal is improving the facilities at CREEC so that we can develop long-lasting environmental education programming in partnership with local classrooms and will eventually attract additional funding through grants and like-minded foundations, corporations, and individuals.

HOW THIS PROJECT MEETS THE REQUIREMENTS OF SECTION 13103

STATEMENT DESCRIBING CREEC, BOARD OF DIRECTORS

CREEC is a nonprofit organization that has been teaching conservation to disadvantaged youth and creating environmental stewards in the communities that line the Carquinez Strait for 24 years. CREEC's mission is to help local youth restore the shores of the Carquinez Strait so the birds, plants, and animals that make this a special place can thrive alongside the recreational needs of residents and visitors. CREEC does this by running an after-school environmental education program for children and by holding events such as tree plantings and trash cleanups.

STATEMENT DESCRIBING CREEC QUALIFICATIONS

CREEC is best suited to oversee this program because the activities will be occurring on its property. The organization has existed on lean budgets throughout its existence and is now envisioning a future with more programming and community engagement. The all-volunteer Board of Directors is committed to the organization's mission and making the most of their unique position on the Carquinez Strait and long-lasting community ties. With additional support from its partners, including the CCRCD, CREEC is on a pathway to increasing organizational capacity. We anticipate the growth of CREEC's programming will necessitate hiring paid staff in the future, which would enable CREEC to become more sustainable and well-known in the future.

INDIVIDUALS RESPONSIBLE FOR PERFORMING PROJECT AND OVERSEEING PROJECT

Susanna Van Greunen is a Technical Product Manager with Expedia Mobile App and have many years of project management experience. Susanna lives in this little gem of a town, Crockett next to the Carquinez Strait with a couple of goats who think they are pets but have a job, a bunch of chickens, a few rescued parrots, two dogs and her son. She also intends to add a couple of beehives to her fruit and veggie garden. She is President of the CREEC Board and have an ardent love for nature and community.

Lisa Damerel is a Watershed Conservation Coordinator with the CCRCD and is the support staff for CREEC. Lisa has a BA in English from the University of California at Berkeley and a horticulture certificate from Diablo Valley College. She works closely with CREEC to help increase their organizational capacity and support their activities.

Chris Lim is the CCRCD's Executive Director and will help oversee this project. Chris has nearly 20 years of experience in the environmental field and has worked in all three sectors, nonprofits, private, and government. He has extensive experience with curriculum development and working with underserved youth. He manages programs with special insight due to his Masters of Nonprofit Administration from the University of San Francisco and undergraduate degree in Integrative Biology with an emphasis in Marine Biology and Oceanography from the University of California at Berkeley.

Dear Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund Grant Applicants:

The Contra Costa County Fish and Wildlife Committee is pleased to announce that completed funding applications are now being accepted for consideration for the Contra Costa County Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund (Fund). All application materials and guidelines are attached. Proposals must be received by 5:00 p.m. on Monday, January 6, 2020 (a postmark of January 6, 2020, does not satisfy the submission deadline). Proposals may be emailed or mailed. Any applications that are received after the due date or without a signature will not be considered. The recommendations of the Fish and Wildlife Committee will be forwarded to the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors, which maintains final decision-making authority for expenditures from the Fund.

The Contra Costa County Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund is entirely supported by fine revenues resulting from violations of the Fish and Game Code and Title 14 of the California Code of Regulations in Contra Costa County (County). Projects awarded from the Fund must benefit the fish and wildlife resources of the County and must meet the requirements of Section 13103 of the Fish and Game Code (attached). If your project is eligible under Section 13103 (d), (h), (i), or (m) please send a copy of your draft proposal to Maureen Parkes at maureen.parkes@dcd.cccounty.us by November 1, 2019. Staff will coordinate with the California Department of Fish and Wildlife to confirm the project's eligibility to receive funds. See Instructions for more details. All applications that satisfy the requirements listed in the funding application instructions will be considered.

- improving habitat
- scientific research
- public education
- threatened and endangered species
- resolving human/wildlife interaction issues

In addition to the above areas of interest, the Fish and Wildlife Committee wishes to fund one or more projects that increase collaboration with law enforcement agencies and community cultural organizations on enforcement issues and education focusing on communities that may be unaware of local fish and game laws. Projects that provide multilingual signage and educational materials are encouraged.

The Fish and Wildlife Committee awards grants to non-profit organizations, schools and government agencies. The Committee generally does not recommend funding for operating costs and overhead, such as staff salaries, benefits or utilities. If an hourly rate is listed, costs need to be itemized separately (see grant guidelines for more details). The Committee generally gives preference to funding material expenses (e.g. purchase of equipment and materials). Organizations, schools and government agencies that have received previous Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund grants should have a positive track record of completing projects and submitting final reports in an efficient, timely and clear manner.

The Committee expects to recommend awards to several applicants. However, it is possible that a particularly excellent proposal will be recommended to receive a large portion of the total available funds. During the 2019 grant cycle a total of $67,267 was awarded to 10 projects. The awards ranged from $1,025 to $21,580.00. Successful applicants may anticipate receiving notification of funding awards by the late spring or early summer of 2020.

The grant award funds will be disbursed on a cost reimbursement basis.* (See below for exceptions.) Within a year of grant funding approval, or within one month of project completion, whichever comes sooner, recipients must submit a final project report which includes invoices and receipts documenting how funds were spent and the results of the project. Fish and Wildlife Propagation fund grants will be disbursed after receipt and approval of the final project report. Details will be outlined in the grant packet to all successful applicants.

Exception For Non-Profit Organizations That Can Demonstrate Financial Hardship: Private, non-profit entities that can demonstrate that providing Fish and Wildlife Propagation grant funding on a cost reimbursement basis will create a financial hardship and be detrimental to the operation of the program will be eligible to receive up to 1/2 of the grant amount after the grant is awarded. The remaining amount of the grant will be disbursed after the entity has submitted information including invoices and receipts documenting how the initial disbursement was spent. Within a year of initial notification of the grant funding award (i.e. spring or summer of 2021), or within one month of project completion, whichever comes sooner, the entity will be required to submit information including invoices and receipts documenting how the second disbursement was spent, and provide a final project report documenting the results of the project.

Exception For Small Projects Under $1,000: Grant funding may be disbursed to private, non-profit entities prior to the beginning of the project if the award is under $1,000 and the entity has provided documentation that the project could only be initiated with advance funding. Within a year of grant funding, or within one month of project completion, whichever comes sooner, recipients must submit a final project report which includes invoices and receipts documenting how funds were spent and the results of the project.

The Committee appreciates your interest in this opportunity to improve the fish and wildlife resources in Contra Costa County. Should you have any questions about the Fish and Wildlife Committee or this funding program, please contact me at 925-674-7831 or maureen.parkes@dcd.cccounty.us.

SUBJECT: Out-of-Cycle Grant Funding Recommendation from the Contra Costa County Fish and Wildlife Committee

The Contra Costa County Fish and Wildlife Committee (FWC) requests that the Internal Operations Committee (IO) consider an out-of-cycle Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund (Fund) grant request from the Contra Costa Resource Conservation District (CCRCD) and the Walnut Creek Watershed Council (WCWC) for $18,500 to revegetate creeks with 50,000 California native plant plugs as part of a larger project to combat Arundo donax in Contra Costa County.

The FWC is requesting that the IO Committee consider the funding recommendation and make their own recommendation for consideration by the full Board of Supervisors (Board). This memo provides background on the grant program, explains the review process performed by the FWC and documents the FWC's reasons for recommending grant funding for the project.

I. Background

Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund

The Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund was established in accordance with the California Fish and Game Code (Code) 13100 as a repository for fines collected for certain violations of the Code and other regulations related to fish and game. The most common fines are small ($25-$150) and are processed through the four Superior Courts in Contra Costa County. The fines typically stem from hunting or fishing violations (e.g. not possessing a valid license), and illegal dumping. Occasionally there are larger fines that result from larger violations, including failure to obtain appropriate permits for activities such as streambed alteration. A portion of the various fines are deposited into the Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund. As of June 11, 2020, the Fund had an available balance of $228,493.12.

Summary of Request

The Regional Water Quality Control Board allocated $120,000 in mitigation funding to WCWC to continue its Arundo donax (an invasive plant) removal and replacement work. To best leverage this mitigation funding into essential contractor work to complete work on steep slopes, CCRC and WCWC applied for a grant from the Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund in the amount of $18,500 to cover the cost of 50,000 California native plant plugs to be used to revegetate the 2020 Arundo removal sites. Regulatory agencies, including the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, have approved the 2020 mitigation work, so CCRC and WCWC are proceeding with the 2020 projects. Now that they have the Army Corps' final approval, the regulatory agencies expect the projects to be completed in 2020.

CCRC/WCWC applied and submitted a grant application for this project in the normal annual grant cycle and have shown evidence that it was sent in a timely manner to meet the submittal deadline. Unfortunately the grant application was not received. Staff suggested that they apply for an out-of-cycle grant request so that the Fish and Wildlife Committee could consider it for out-of-cycle grant funding.

II. Reason for Recommendation/Background

Since 1996, the Fish and Wildlife Committee (FWC) has implemented a structured process for reviewing funding requests. The intent of this structured review process was to replace case-by-case decision-making with a grant process that enables comparative and efficient review of applications.

Occasionally, the Committee receives requests for funds outside of the regular grant cycle. These proposals must meet all the regular requirements of applications as well as justify why the funding request should be considered outside the regular cycle.

On May 21, 1997, the FWC approved the following criteria for reviewing grant requests outside the normal grant review cycle:

The majority of projects will be reviewed simultaneously once per year. Projects can be reviewed individually, outside the annual review cycle if:

- the project is a FWC-initiated project;
- delaying review of the project until the annual review cycle would cause substantial harm to the fish and wildlife resources of the County;
- the project cannot be performed at all unless funding is received from the Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund sooner than would be possible under the annual review cycle; or
- the project has substantial matching funds which will expire unless funding is received from the Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund sooner than would be possible under the annual review cycle.

The Fish and Wildlife Committee discussed the CCRCD/WCWC out-of-cycle grant application at their June 17, 2020 meeting. In order for CCRCD and WCWC to utilize the Regional Water Quality Control Board mitigation funding for essential personnel and contractor costs to revegetate difficult planting areas, along with the expectation of the regulatory agencies that the project be completed in 2020, the FWC recommended approval of the out-of-cycle grant application so that Fish and Wildlife Propagation Funds can be used for the revegetation of the 2020 Arundo donax removal sites.

Members in attendance and voting on these items were: Clark Dawson, Roni Gehlke, Susan Heckly, Kathleen Jennings, Brett Morris, Daniel Pellegrini, Heather Rosmarin and Jeff Skinner. Nicole Kozicki, the At-large Alternate, was in attendance and contributed to the discussion of the grant proposal. The FWC unanimously approved the following recommendations:

- 1) Appropriate $18,500 to Contra Costa Resource Conservation District and Walnut Creek Watershed Council for 50,000 California native plant plugs to revegetate creek banks after Arundo donax removal.
- 2) Further, the FWC also recommended that within two years* of grant funding approval, or within one month of project completion, whichever comes sooner, recipient must submit a final project report which includes invoices and receipts documenting how funds were spent and the results of the project. Details will be outlined in the grant award packet if funding is approved.

Ayes: Clark Dawson, Roni Gehlke, Susan Heckly, Kathleen Jennings, Brett Morris, Daniel Pellegrini, Heather Rosmarin, Jeff Skinner; Noes: None; Absent: Judy Bendix; Abstain: None

Staff recommends that the grant awardee may request modifications to the budget allocations described in their grant application in writing and those requests may be approved by the Fish and Wildlife Committee or the Department of Conservation and Development Director or his designee.

*Ordinarily, grant recipients are required to submit a final project report within one year of project grant application approval. On May 12, 2020 the Board of Supervisors approved an automatic additional year for 2020 grant recipients to complete their projects due to the uncertainty of the duration of the County Health Officer Order (Order) to reduce the rate of transmission of Novel Coronavirus Disease 2019 (“COVID-19”).

May 27, 2020

Dear Ms. Parkes,

The Contra Costa Resource Conservation District (CCRCD) and the Walnut Creek Watershed Council (WCWC) are respectfully submitting this application as an out-of-cycle grant request. The application was originally submitted in time for the normal 2020 grant cycle, but unfortunately it was not received by the Fish and Wildlife Committee.

As the application states, the Regional Water Quality Control Board (RWQCB) has allocated $120,000 in mitigation funding to the WCWC to continue its Arundo donax removal and replacement work. To best leverage this mitigation funding into essential contractor work to complete challenging work on steep slopes, the CCRCD and the WCWC are applying for Fish and Wildlife Propagation Funds to cover only the cost of the plants to be used for revegetation of the 2020 Arundo removal sites. Funding for all contractor tasks would come from the RWQCB-approved funds.

We had planned for volunteers to plant about half of the plants, but it now appears that more of the work will have to be done by contractors due to the size of the sites and public health concerns. Since the mitigation work will involve more costs than anticipated, funding for the plants is even more important now. We hope you will help us provide essential habitat for fish and wildlife in Lafayette and Walnut Creek.

Regulatory agencies, including the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, have approved our plan for the 2020 mitigation work, so we are proceeding with the 2020 projects. Now that we have the Army Corps' final approval, the regulatory agencies clearly expect the projects to be completed this year (2020), with five years of monitoring reports to follow.

It is for these reasons that we are requesting Fish and Wildlife Propagation Funds sooner than would be possible under the annual review cycle. Feel free to email Bob Simmons at robertsimmons@astound.net with questions pertaining to this application. We will make ourselves available to attend your next meeting/Zoom conference to answer any additional questions. Thank you for your consideration.

2. PROJECT DESCRIPTION

How This Project Will Benefit the Fish and Wildlife of Contra Costa County

Arundo donax (giant reed or giant cane) is an invasive plant that primarily grows along creeks. It can grow four inches a day and up to a total height of thirty feet! Arundo consumes prodigious amounts of water and spreads aggressively—these qualities make it easy for Arundo to outcompete CA native plants for resources and space. The plant provides little food or habitat for insects, birds, and other wildlife. Additionally, Arundo's encroachment on waterways can lead to flooding, and the plant poses a fire hazard—both of which can also destroy valuable riparian wildlife habitat. When Arundo is removed, native vegetation has more space and resources to flourish, and in turn, provides wildlife with food and shelter. Removal of Arundo also means that more water remains in the waterways and that trees can shade the waterways—having more, cool water available is beneficial to salmonids and other anadromous fish. The Contra Costa Resource Conservation District (CCRCD) and the Walnut Creek Watershed Council (WCWC) are jointly applying for $18,500 from the FWC to cover the cost of the 50,000 CA native plant plugs needed to revegetate Arundo removal sites.

In 2018, a WCWC volunteer started mapping Arundo stands. Since then, WCWC volunteers have identified and mapped nearly 300 stands of Arundo in the Walnut Creek Watershed. (The map can be viewed at <https://www.wcwatershed.org/arundo-map.html>.) The WCWC, in partnership with the CCRCD, The Restoration Trust, and the Contra Costa Flood Control District (FCD), resolved to remove Arundo stands because it is a critical step in restoring precious riparian wildlife habitat in central Contra Costa County. In 2019, the WCWC formed the Arundo Removal and Replacement Team (ARRT). The ARRT focuses on the removal of invasive plants—particularly Arundo. With $44,000 directed to the WCWC by the Regional Water Quality Control Board (RWQCB), the WCWC approved four habitat restoration projects in 2019—one in each of three sub-watersheds (San Ramon, Grayson, and Las Trampas) and one in the main stem of Walnut Creek. The ARRT has removed the Arundo from all four sites, and volunteers are planting native grasses, sedges, and rushes at each site, under the direction of The Restoration Trust. The volunteer planting day for one of the sites (San Ramon Creek) has taken place, and the volunteer planting days for the remaining sites are 1/4/20 (Walnut Creek), 1/11/20 (Grayson Creek), and 1/12/20 (Lafayette Creek). The WCWC is spending a total of $9,600 on native plant plugs for these four sites.

The RWQCB has approved $120,000 in mitigation funding to the WCWC to continue its Arundo removal and replacement work. With this funding, the ARRT will be able to perform more habitat restoration projects and has obtained an estimate of $18,500 for the native plant plugs needed for revegetation of the 2020 Arundo removal sites. To best leverage the mitigation funding into essential personnel and contractor costs, the CCRCD and the WCWC are applying for these funds to cover only the cost of the plants. The plan is to have four to five volunteer planting days, aiming to engage a total of 125 volunteers. The additional and difficult planting will be done by contractors. It is estimated that half of the 50,000 plant plugs will be planted by volunteers, and the other half will be planted by contractors. Funding for all contractor tasks would come from the RWQCB-approved funds.

The CA native plants the WCWC plans to purchase with grant funds are Baltic rush (Juncus balticus), Santa Barbara sedge (Carex barbarae), and creeping wildrye (Leymus triticoides). These species were selected because they are particularly well suited for riparian restoration and offer multiple benefits for wildlife. Baltic rush fixes atmospheric nitrogen and provides good cover and food for wildlife. Santa Barbara sedge is an excellent soil stabilizer and provides nesting and brooding habitat for waterfowl. Creeping wildrye provides outstanding nesting habitat for waterfowl and upland game birds. These three plants are also rhizomatous perennials, meaning they can spread throughout the planting sites and gradually outcompete the non-native plants. Revegetating the creeks with these native plants will make it more difficult for Arundo and other invasive plants to reestablish themselves.

The Restoration Trust and the ARRT will monitor all Arundo removal/native planting sites and will produce monitoring reports (which can be made available to the FWC, if desired). The sites will be marked with interpretive signage that would recognize the FWC as a sponsor, if grant funds are awarded.

How This Project Meets the Requirements of Section 13103

This project meets California Fish and Game Code Section 13103 (e).

6. STATEMENT DESCRIBING THE APPLYING ORGANIZATIONS

The CCRCD is a non-regulatory special district of the state of California. The CCRCD’s mission is to facilitate the conservation of natural resources in Contra Costa County. The CCRCD accomplishes this mission by partnering with farmers, ranchers, nonprofit organizations, private businesses, and local, state, and federal agencies. The organization works throughout Contra Costa County and has championed projects including the Pinole Fish Passage Improvement Project, livestock pond restorations, developing carbon farming plans, coordinating the Contra Costa Watershed Forum, and supporting grassroots creek/watershed groups.

CCRCD Board of Directors

Walter Pease – Board Treasurer, Retired City of Pittsburg Public Works

Bethallyn Black – Horticulture Professor at DVC

Lorena Castillo – Communications and Marketing Director, Groundwork Richmond

Renee Fernandez-Lipp – Manager of Governance, Vegetation Management Program, Pacific Gas & Electric

The WCWC is a voluntary stakeholder group that was started in 2011. It has a Chair (Bob Simmons) and a Vice-Chair (Igor Skaredoff), and the policy direction is provided by an Executive Committee. This Committee consists of a representative from each of four “Friends” groups: Friends of the Creeks, Friends of San Ramon Creek, Friends of Pleasant Hill Creeks, and the Lafayette Creeks Committee; a representative from the CCRCD; a representative from the FCD, and a representative from the City of Walnut Creek. Interested members of the public may also participate.

7. ORGANIZATION QUALIFICATIONS

The CCRCD is well suited to oversee and serve as the fiscal agent for this program. The CCRCD has been providing natural-resources-related assistance to Contra Costa County since 1941. For decades, the district has played an integral role in protecting all watersheds and their inhabitants within the County. The CCRCD has a knack for consistently pushing projects forward while keeping partners engaged. The CCRCD has worked with a multitude of partners, including funders, over the organization’s history to make programs come to fruition.

8. INDIVIDUALS RESPONSIBLE FOR PERFORMING AND OVERSEEING THE PROJECT

Chris Lim is the Executive Director of the CCRCD and is responsible for project oversight. Chris has over 15 years of experience in the environmental field working in and partnering with all its sectors, including nonprofit, public, private, and special districts. He is focused on the enhancement of our watersheds, through restoration and its connection to people. He has a BA in Integrative Biology with an emphasis in Marine Biology and Oceanography and a minor in Geography from the University of California at Berkeley and a Masters of Nonprofit Administration from the University of San Francisco.

Lisa Damerel is a Watershed Conservation Coordinator at the CCRCD and is the staff support for the ARRT. Lisa has a BA in English from the University of California at Berkeley and a horticulture certificate from Diablo Valley College. She works closely with the ARRT to plan and perform outreach for Arundo removal and native planting events.

Bob Simmons is the chair of the WCWC and provides general oversight of the activities of the WCWC and the ARRT.

John Zentner is a plant ecologist, Chairman of the Board for The Restoration Trust, and Chairman of the ARRT. John has three decades of experience in natural landscape ecology, wetland restoration, sustainable development, land use regulations, and permitting. John completed degrees at the University of California at Santa Barbara and the University of Oregon as well as post-graduate training at the University of Oslo. He is committed to community-based restoration and education.

9. PROJECT PERMITTING

Arundo removal and replacement work within FCD channels is permitted under the FCD’s channel maintenance Streambed Alteration Agreement (SAA). The FCD’s SAA permits removal of noxious species (including Arundo) and minor restoration actions that do not require mechanized equipment. Arundo removal and replacement work at sites that are not in FCD channels is covered under the SAA completed by an ARRT member in 2018. The CA Department of Fish and Wildlife (CDFW) has verified that this SAA covers all the known Arundo sites in the Walnut Creek Watershed, as long as the CDFW is notified before work commences at any site. All relevant agencies will be contacted to ensure any additional, necessary permits are granted before work is performed.

Dear Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund Grant Applicants:

The Contra Costa County Fish and Wildlife Committee is pleased to announce that completed funding applications are now being accepted for consideration for the Contra Costa County Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund (Fund). All application materials and guidelines are attached. Proposals must be received by 5:00 p.m. on Monday, January 6, 2020 (a postmark of January 6, 2020, does not satisfy the submission deadline). Proposals may be emailed or mailed. Any applications that are received after the due date or without a signature will not be considered. The recommendations of the Fish and Wildlife Committee will be forwarded to the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors, which maintains final decision-making authority for expenditures from the Fund.

The Contra Costa County Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund is entirely supported by fine revenues resulting from violations of the Fish and Game Code and Title 14 of the California Code of Regulations in Contra Costa County (County). Projects awarded from the Fund must benefit the fish and wildlife resources of the County and must meet the requirements of Section 13103 of the Fish and Game Code (attached). If your project is eligible under Section 13103 (d), (h), (i), or (m) please send a copy of your draft proposal to Maureen Parkes at maureen.parkes@dcd.cccounty.us by November 1, 2019. Staff will coordinate with the California Department of Fish and Wildlife to confirm the project's eligibility to receive funds. See Instructions for more details. All applications that satisfy the requirements listed in the funding application instructions will be considered.

The Fish and Wildlife Committee strongly encourages applications related to:

- improving habitat
- scientific research
- public education
- threatened and endangered species
- resolving human/wildlife interaction issues

In addition to the above areas of interest, the Fish and Wildlife Committee wishes to fund one or more projects that increase collaboration with law enforcement agencies and community cultural organizations on enforcement issues and education focusing on communities that may be unaware of local fish and game laws. Projects that provide multilingual signage and educational materials are encouraged.

The Fish and Wildlife Committee awards grants to non-profit organizations, schools and government agencies. The Committee generally does not recommend funding for operating costs and overhead, such as staff salaries, benefits or utilities. If an hourly rate is listed, costs need to be itemized separately (see grant guidelines for more details). The Committee generally gives preference to funding material expenses (e.g. purchase of equipment and materials). Organizations, schools and government agencies that have received previous Fish and Wildlife Propagation Fund grants should have a positive track record of completing projects and submitting final reports in an efficient, timely and clear manner.

The Committee expects to recommend awards to several applicants. However, it is possible that a particularly excellent proposal will be recommended to receive a large portion of the total available funds. During the 2019 grant cycle a total of $67,267 was awarded to 10 projects. The awards ranged from $1,025 to $21,580.00. Successful applicants may anticipate receiving notification of funding awards by the late spring or early summer of 2020.

The grant award funds will be disbursed on a cost reimbursement basis.* (See below for exceptions.) Within a year of grant funding approval, or within one month of project completion, whichever comes sooner, recipients must submit a final project report which includes invoices and receipts documenting how funds were spent and the results of the project. Fish and Wildlife Propagation fund grants will be disbursed after receipt and approval of the final project report. Details will be outlined in the grant packet to all successful applicants.

Exception For Non-Profit Organizations That Can Demonstrate Financial Hardship: Private, non-profit entities that can demonstrate that providing Fish and Wildlife Propagation grant funding on a cost reimbursement basis will create a financial hardship and be detrimental to the operation of the program will be eligible to receive up to 1/2 of the grant amount after the grant is awarded. The remaining amount of the grant will be disbursed after the entity has submitted information including invoices and receipts documenting how the initial disbursement was spent. Within a year of initial notification of the grant funding award (i.e. spring or summer of 2021), or within one month of project completion, whichever comes sooner, the entity will be required to submit information including invoices and receipts documenting how the second disbursement was spent, and provide a final project report documenting the results of the project.

Exception For Small Projects Under $1,000: Grant funding may be disbursed to private, non-profit entities prior to the beginning of the project if the award is under $1,000 and the entity has provided documentation that the project could only be initiated with advance funding. Within a year of grant funding, or within one month of project completion, whichever comes sooner, recipients must submit a final project report which includes invoices and receipts documenting how funds were spent and the results of the project.

The Committee appreciates your interest in this opportunity to improve the fish and wildlife resources in Contra Costa County. Should you have any questions about the Fish and Wildlife Committee or this funding program, please contact me at 925-674-7831 or maureen.parkes@dcd.cccounty.us.

Sincerely,

Maureen Parkes
Fish and Wildlife Committee Staff

RECOMMENDATION(S):

ADOPT Resolution 2020/205 confirming Final Report for CSA EM-1 (Emergency Medical Services) and setting assessments to be collected with the Fiscal Year 2020-21 property taxes

FISCAL IMPACT:

No General Fund impact. Proposed FY 2020-21 assessments for CSA EM-1 total $4,893,915.

BACKGROUND:

On June 16, 2020 the Board of Supervisors held a public hearing on the Tentative Report for CSA EM-1 and adopted Resolution No. 2019/163 declaring the Board's intent to levy assessments set forth in that report. Pursuant to Ordinance Code Section 1012-2.612, the attached Final Report for CSA EM-1 updates the Tentative Report based solely upon changes in ownership, changes of address, subdivision of existing parcels, and changes in the class of use of parcels.

Revenues from the CSA EM-1 assessments are used to provide an enhanced countywide emergency medical service system as approved by the voters with the passage of Measure H in November 1988.

BACKGROUND: (CONT'D)

Enhanced EMS services include (1) increased paramedic coverage; (2) added emergency medical training and equipment for firefighters; and (3) an improved EMS communications system.

The basic assessment rate proposed for Zone B, comprising all the area of Contra Costa County except for San Ramon Valley, is $10.00 per single-family residence or benefit unit. The rate proposed for Zone A (San Ramon Valley), which does not include paramedic subsidy, is $3.94. These rates are unchanged from the prior year.

CONSEQUENCE OF NEGATIVE ACTION:

Failure to set the CSA EM-1 assessment rate prior to September 14, 2020 may result in the EM-1 assessments not being included in the property tax bills.

County Service Area EM-1 (Zones A and B)

Final Report

Fiscal Year 2020-21

County Service Area EM-1 has been established to provide enhanced emergency medical services as a miscellaneous extended service within two designated zones:

Zone A: Those parcels located within the territory of the San Ramon Valley Fire Protection District.

Zone B: Those parcels located within Contra Costa County, but not within Zone A, above.

ASSESSMENTS will be levied on each parcel based upon a formula using the following factors:

BENEFIT UNIT: A number of BENEFIT UNITS has been assigned to each parcel based upon the Assessor's Use Code classification. For example, a single-family residence (Use Code 11) is assigned one BENEFIT UNIT. Parcels with other Use Code classifications are assigned a number of BENEFIT UNITS based upon the relative benefit from the miscellaneous extended services provided under CSA EM-1. Exhibit A is a Table of BENEFIT UNITS showing the number of BENEFIT UNITS assigned parcels for each Use Code classification.

RATE: The RATE is the dollar amount of the ASSESSMENT levied per BENEFIT UNIT. Separate RATES have been established for each zone based upon the miscellaneous extended services to be provided within that zone.

The formula for calculating the ASSESSMENT on each parcel is as follows:

ASSESSMENT = BENEFIT UNITS x RATE

Zone A

The RATE that has been established for Zone A is:

$3.94 per BENEFIT UNIT

Exhibit B is the "Zone A - Table of Assessments," showing the ASSESSMENT established for each parcel according to its USE CODE. A description of each parcel and the USE CODE number assigned thereto is contained in Exhibit C.

The total ASSESSMENTS for Zone A are $236,074.95 based upon 51,354 ASSESSED PARCELS.

Zone B

The RATE that has been established for Zone B is:

$10.00 per BENEFIT UNIT

Exhibit D is the "Zone B - Table of Assessments," showing the ASSESSMENT established for each parcel according to its USE CODE. A description of each parcel and the USE CODE number of assigned thereto is contained in Exhibit E.

The total ASSESSMENTS for Zone B are $4,657,840.00 based upon 297,208 ASSESSED PARCELS.
