BACKGROUND:

Background: On October 5, 2015, the Flood Control District provided $750,000 for the initial deposit to the State Treasurer for litigation titled Contra Costa County Flood Control and Water Conservation District v. Gary A. Eames, et al., Case No C15-02052 (Eames Case) – a condemnation action to acquire property for the West Antioch Creek Channel Improvement project in Drainage Area 55. On June 11, 2019, judgement was entered in the Eames case at which time the Flood Control District paid up to $920,000 from the District fund 250500 and up to $480,000 from Drainage Area 55 funds to pay additional $1,100,000. The total settlement and litigation costs totaled $1,850,000, including the deposit. Monies in Fund No. 250500 are not restricted to a particular drainage area and can be used for any Flood Control District expenditures. The original deposit of $750,000 was paid from Drainage Area 55 fund 257900 and this action is to release the deposit.

CONSEQUENCE OF NEGATIVE ACTION:

If this Appropriation and Revenue Adjustment is not approved, the settlement has not been fulfilled and the Flood Control District will be exposed to additional liabilities.
